PROBLEM PLACE? — This rustic looking house with shingled roof, secluded amid its own greenery has become the focus of a neighborhood conflict in Strawberry. The house and its sunny, landscaped yard on Reed Boulevard have become a home for six youthful wards of the court and they stand accused by some neighbors of delinquent behavior and adding to the crime rate. At issue is the state program of returning to the community youngsters who would otherwise be institutionalized. (Independent-Journal photo)

Shake-Up Pondered By Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon continued today a personal investigation into the Watergate bugging "to determine what happened, how it happened and why it happened," the White House said. A staff shake-up is expected shortly.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said under hour-long questioning by reporters this afternoon: "The status of the White House staff remains the same. No resignations have been requested and none have been submitted."

But informed sources said some top aides including H.R. Haldeman, chief of the White House staff, likely would be leaving soon in the aftermath of allegations that they either may have known about the bugging plot or tried to cover it up.

For the present, Ziegler said, "the President is not going to state anything that would prejudice the rights of any individual —in fairness to them and the judicial process."

Ziegler said Nixon had not conferred with anyone about the possibility of handling a staff reorganization.

Unidentified sources on Capitol Hill were quoted by the Washington Post as saying former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had told some associates he had been asked to take over the top White House administrative post and "straighten up the mess" left by the Watergate affair. The bid was said to have come from Nixon.

The White House said today that no job offer had been made to Laird, who was believed to be one of several men under consideration by Nixon to reorganize the staff.

The President met again this morning at the White House with John J. Wilson, a Washington attorney who was hired last week by both Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's chief domestic adviser. A White House spokesman did not say why Nixon conferred with Wilson.

Sources said they expected Haldeman, who has incurred more enemies than friends in this job, to turn in his resignation as a result of the Watergate case.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, however, played down any significance in the fact that Haldeman no longer presides at early morning meetings with top presidential staffers. The practice was abandoned a couple of weeks ago.

Ziegler insisted "no resignations" have been submitted to the President. He said there "is no change" in the status of the staff. He has refused to say whether resignations were requested by Nixon.

Meantime, columnist Jack Anderson said today that White House legal counsel John W. Dean gave federal prosecutors information two weeks ago that both Haldeman and Erlichman knew of efforts to cover up the Watergate bugging.

Dean "made accusations" against the two top assistants to President Nixon after being confronted by Ehrlichman with allegations that Dean knew of the bugging and then tried to cover it up, Anderson wrote in his column.

Principal Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl J. Silbert, who prosecuted seven men previously indicted in the case, refused a request by Dean for immunity from prosecution, Anderson said.

Anderson said that Dean also

Courthouse Square Will Be Restudied

Council Will Eye Other Possibilities For Area

The San Rafael City Council, in a surprise move encouraged by its newest member, said last night it wants to take a new look at plans for development of Courthouse Square.

Although proposed construction of dual office buildings and a parking garage on the downtown site cleared city agencies months ago, Councilman Jack G. Nixon convinced his colleagues that the issue should be reopened in the light of criticism of the project during his campaign and in view of the city's redevelopment potential.

Nixon, elected to the council April 10 on a conservationist platform, was seated last night.

At his request, the council unanimously decided to ask the McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento, developer of the square, if it would consider changing the design of a box-like eight-story building planned for the site and perhaps eliminating a parking garage in order to provide more open space on the property.

While it was acknowledged there is no guarantee that McKeon will agree to review of its plans, the council asked the firm's representatives to attend the May 7 council session for discussion of the matter.

Charles J. Linthicum, senior city planner, told the council a building permit is to be issued to McKeon within two weeks, enabling start of construction.

Nixon, raising the issue at the end of a special council meeting called primarily on another matter, said he had become concerned over repeated citizen criticism of the development at campaign appearances.

His motive is "not to deny the project," the new councilman said, but merely to explore the possibility of "another hearing" on McKeon's plans. Not only did Nixon envision possible changes in the high-rise office building but perhaps removal of the parking garage through use of the redevelopment program aimed largely at the downtown area.

Nixon suggested relocation of the garage to another downtown site, using redevelopment funds. And he raised the possibility that the office building, attacked in some quarters for unstylish design, might be altered and moved in order to preserve the view of Mission San Rafael Arcangel.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, while noting the city has no legal right to reopen the matter, said he didn't see why "we can't work it out. . .if it's to our benefit and theirs."

Councilmen Lawrence F. Mulryan and John A. Miskimen also found Nixon's plan "worth a try," while Councilman Fred E. Jensen expressed no opinion.

The council approved plans for the development, including a companion two-story office structure to the larger building, last October. Spanish-style architecture is to prevail in the development, with bronze aluminum facing and glass used in the office buildings.

Strawberry Group Home Protested

By GEORGE NEVIN

A Strawberry group home for disturbed, abused or unwanted children has come under attack by some residents who say "hard-core juvenile delinquents" living there are responsible for a wave of petty crime in the quiet neighborhood.

Some neighbors of the group home, called Foxborough West, have called a meeting for tonight to air complaints that incidents involving petty thefts, vandalism and harassment of animals can be traced to the four boys and two girls at the house.

Other neighbors disagree. They say they wouldn't have invited Foxborough West into the neighborhood but want to see it stay now that it's there.

The public meeting, set for 8 o'clock at the Strawberry Community Building, was announced in a handbill distributed to residents living near the group home at 138 Reed Boulevard.

Lt. Robert M. Gaddini, head of the Marin City sheriff's substation, acknowledges that complaints have risen in the neighborhood since Foxborough West moved in, but this "doesn't necessarily indicate an increase in the crime rate." Many juvenile offenses, such as curfew violations and being beyond parental control, aren't really crimes, he said.

The increase in citations "indicates the juveniles need some sort of attention or the person in control of them needs some sort of attention," he said.

James A. Chiccarella, 39, executive director and president of Foxborough West Inc., the private corporation which runs the group home and two others in Sacramento County, acknowledged some of the home's residents have been cited but said no citation has been issued in the past three weeks.

Most of the home residents — who range in age from 10 to 15, including three 11-year-olds — are from middle class homes and many, if still at home, would be committing the same acts and receiving the same citations as at Foxborough West, he said. The problem merely is more noticeable because the six are under one roof.

Chiccarella, a behavioral psychologist, said what he terms "inappropriate behavior" — anything from acts which would bring a juvenile citation to being argumentative or unruly — always is high when a group home first is established, then tapers off as time goes on.

This is because tradition gradually builds up at the home, and the children slowly learn not to violate the pattern of acceptable behavior.

Chiccarella said he does not try to protect the children from the consequences of their acts, since shielding only encourages them to avoid responsibility. "We tell the sheriff's department to do its job and cite them if they need citing," he said.

As for the youths being "hard-core delinquents," Chiccarella disagrees. "Only two of them could be considered delinquent at all, and no judge would send a confirmed delinquent to a group home such as ours," he said.

Some group home residents are there because they come from broken homes, or are victims of child abuse and have been made wards of the court; or have had parents who are

Bridge District Will Give Impact Report On Parking

By DAVID DIETZ

A Golden Gate Bridge District representative, offering perhaps the only good news of the evening, assured the San Rafael City Council last night the agency will provide an environmental impact report on its plans for an enlarged bus parking facility on Jacoby Street.

The bad news was a report from Public Works Director Norris S. Rawles that the district's big commute buses have caused at least $125,000 damage to city streets and remarks by Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner on the reportedly poor state of relations between the city and the agency.

The developments arose at a special meeting of the council called at the request of Councilman Fred E. Jensen to the distress of Mayor C. Paul Bettini, who is also a director of the bridge district.

"I'm sorry you waited for me," said Bettini, entering the delayed session some 10 minutes late. "I didn't expect to be here since I wasn't ever called."

"If I've offended your dignity, I'm sorry," said Jensen tersely, explaining he asked for the session because of the district's failure to notify the council of its proposal to add 15 acres to its East San Rafael bus base.

The expansion would enable the agency to park up to 300 buses on the site, now accommodating 120 buses on 10 acres.

Jensen fretted over the impact of the enlarged fleet on nearby streets, including Bellam Boulevard, as well as on plans to upgrade the area's appearance through an assessment district.

"Jacoby from Bellam to the transit district yard must be 1,000 potholes and the heavy buses have been doing it," he said.

While it was pointed out that under state legislation, the district has no obligation to comply with local planning regulations, Bettini said it is the agency's intention to cooperate fully with the city officials.

And district engineer Robert Shields said the agency would meet requirements for an environmental study on the propriety of the planned expansion. Asked by Councilman Jack G. Nixon about the district's

Housing Authority's Chairman Steps Down

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The chairman of the Marin County Housing Authority resigned his chairmanship last night after leveling undisclosed charges in closed session against Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd. (Another housing authority story, page 32.)

Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., appointed chairman in February, said after the meeting his step down was prompted "by strong policy differences and sharp personality conflicts with Mr. Shepherd."

He said the differences and conflicts, which he declined to reveal, "indicated it was desirable for the board to have someone as chairman who could work effectively with the executive director."

Ehrlich, who will remain as a board member, was succeeded to the post by Irving Perlman, elected on a unanimous vote.

Ehrlich's charges against Shepherd were contained in a confidential memorandum circulated among board members and Shepherd. Its contents were not disclosed to the public.

Earlier in the evening, a spokesman for the Marin City Council presented the board with a list of citizens' charges against Shepherd, calling for his ouster.

Nesbit Crutchfield, vice chairman of the council, which represents public housing tenants in the community, said more than 200 Marin City residents, most of whom reside in the public housing, signed the document containing the charges.

In general, he said, the charges allege that the executive director has been derelict in his duties and responsibilities, permitted the deterioration of public housing units, subsidized tenants not meeting statutory requirements and scheduled board meetings outside Marin City.

"Residents' complaints have been uncorrected and unresponded to," he told the board, adding the executive director showed a "lack of sensitivity to the people of Marin City."

Shepherd, who sat quietly as the charges were read, declined to respond saying he would do so in writing at the board's May 16 meeting.

He declined to accept the document containing the signatures of the protesters. To do so might lead to later charges of retaliation against those in public housing, some of whom may be under eviction proceeding now, he said.

The list was turned over to Perlman at the end of the session.

Shepherd's administration of some portions of the housing authority program are under investigation by the Marin County Grand Jury.

Last month, county supervisors requested the grand jury action after two leased housing program homes were found standing vacant and deteriorating in Santa Venetia despite a growing waiting list.

Supervisors later asked the grand jury to investigate reports that some public housing units in the high-rise apartments in Marin City also were vacant.

Robert Lee, head of the authority's leased housing program, said one of the homes in Santa Venetia had been returned to its owner and the other should be soon.

New Health Service Regulations Are Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration announced today final regulations on federally financed welfare services that drastically reduce federal participation in day care, mentally retarded and other social services for welfare recipients.

Most of the new federal regulations take effect July 1.

"Today I am announcing our final regulations governing social services, a series of programs developed to get families off the welfare rolls and on to the job rolls and keep them there," Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare told a news conference.

The final rules represented minor concessions to critics of administration proposals first published Feb. 16 for services to children, poor families, the aged, handicapped and other needy persons.

Weinberger denied that the original proposal would have reduced the amount of day care programs available to needy families.

"These regulations will provide more, and not less, child day care for these families," Weinberger said.

"These regulations will not force any low income family back onto welfare because of child day care expenses," he added in response to another frequent charge from critics of the proposal.

Weinberger said the regulations "carry out both the intent of the Congress and the directions of the President that federally supported social service programs shall be focused directly on those most in need."

One concession to critics will be a sliding fee schedule for

Bolinas Lagoon Plans Approved By State Group

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marin County's plan for Bolinas Lagoon was approved today by the State Lands Commission, thus making permanent the state's grant of the lagoon to the county.

The vote to accept the staff's recommendation for approval was 2-0, with the third commissioner, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, absent.

The favorable vote by commissioners Verne Orr, state finance director, and Houston Flournoy, state controller, means that the county can preserve the lagoon largely in its present state and need not "substantially improve" it.

Behr Steers Senate To Forming A Drake Panel

SACRAMENTO (AP) — After a two-minute history lecture from Sen. Peter Behr, the California Senate today approved creation of a Joint Committee on Sir Francis Drake to help commemorate the English navigator's circumnavigation of the globe 400 years ago.

The 23-3 vote sent the resolution by Assemblyman William Bagley, R-San Rafael, back to the Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments.

The committee will spend no state money, said Behr, R-San Rafael.

California is involved in the international commemoration of Drake's feat because he landed on the Marin County coast during the journey, Behr said.

Behr launched his impromptu history lecture on Drake's exploits after Sen. James Q. Wedworth of Hawthorne, an opponent of the resolution, asked Behr to tell about how Drake captured slaves and looted cities.

In reply, Behr said Drake's career in some respects was similar to that of American naval hero John Paul Jones. But his talk was cut off by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, who was presiding.

"This sounds more like it's part of History 8-A at the University of California than the Senate." Way said.

The resolution is ACR 35.

Export Increase Cuts U.S. Trade Deficit In March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States in March came the closest in 18 months to chalking up a foreign trade surplus, the Commerce Department reported today.

Bolstered by a sharp increase in exports and a decline in imports of foreign-made goods, the U.S. trade deficit narrowed to $53 million last month from $476.2 million in February.

It was the best foreign trade month for the United States since September, 1971, when the nation recorded a $265 million surplus. The trade balance has been in deficit every month since then, meaning that the value of imports has exceeded exports.

Shake-Up Pondered By Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon continued today a personal investigation into the Watergate bugging "to determine what happened, how it happened and why it happened," the White House said. A staff shake-up is expected shortly.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said under hour-long questioning by reporters this afternoon: "The status of the White House staff remains the same. No resignations have been requested and none have been submitted."

But informed sources said some top aides including H.R. Haldeman, chief of the White House staff, likely would be leaving soon in the aftermath of allegations that they either may have known about the bugging plot or tried to cover it up.

The bid was said to have come from Nixon.

The White House said today that no job offer had been made to Laird, who was believed to be one of several men under consideration by Nixon to reorganize the staff.

The President met again this morning at the White House with John J. Wilson, a Washington attorney who was hired last week by both Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's chief domestic adviser. A White House spokesman did not say why Nixon conferred with Wilson.

Sources said they expected Haldeman, who has incurred more enemies than friends in this job, to turn in his resignation as a result of the Watergate case.

SACRAMENTO — Marin County's plan for Bolinas Lagoon was approved today by the State Lands Commission, thus making permanent the state's grant of the lagoon to the county.

The vote to accept the staff's recommendation for approval was 2-0, with the third commissioner, Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, absent.

The favorable vote by commissioners Verne Orr, state finance director, and Houston Flournoy, state controller, means that the county can preserve the lagoon largely in its present state and need not "substantially improve" it.

Behr Steers Senate To Forming A Drake Panel

SACRAMENTO (AP) — After a two-minute history lecture from Sen. Peter Behr, the California Senate today approved creation of a Joint Committee on Sir Francis Drake to help commemorate the English navigator's circumnavigation of the globe 400 years ago.

The 23-3 vote sent the resolution by Assemblyman William Bagley, R-San Rafael, back to the Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments.

The committee will spend no state money, said Behr, R-San Rafael.

California is involved in the international commemoration of Drake's feat because he landed on the Marin County coast during the journey, Behr said.

Behr launched his impromptu history lecture on Drake's exploits after Sen. James Q. Wedworth of Hawthorne, an opponent of the resolution, asked Behr to tell about how Drake captured slaves and looted cities.

In reply, Behr said Drake's career in some respects was similar to that of American naval hero John Paul Jones. But his talk was cut off by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, who was presiding.

"This sounds more like it's part of History 8-A at the University of California than the Senate," Way said.

The resolution is ACR 35.

Export Increase Cuts U.S. Trade Deficit In March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States in March came the closest in 18 months to chalking up a foreign trade surplus, the Commerce Department reported today.

Bolstered by a sharp increase in exports and a decline in imports of foreign-made goods, the U.S. trade deficit narrowed to $53 million last month from $476.2 million in February.

It was the best foreign trade month for the United States since September, 1971, when the nation recorded a $265 million surplus. The trade balance has been in deficit every month since then, meaning that the value of imports has exceeded exports.

PRETTY LUCKY — Most Mississippi Delta farmland homes haven't been as lucky as this one near Valley Park, Miss. The large levee, almost as high as the roof, has been keeping out backwater. The levee was likely to get a new test today as flashflooding from the swollen river was reported in the area.

Mississippi Continues To Eat Land

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Shattered levees, sandbag shortages and heavy rains brought new worries today to communities battling to tame Mississippi River floodwaters now at their highest level in more than two centuries.

The only good news for flood workers was that because of levee breaks between Quincy, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo., crests will arrive 36 to 48 hours later than predicted.

The National Weather Service reported floodwaters covered portions of 14 states through the middle and lower Mississippi Valley, the southeastern Plains, the eastern Gulf coast and the south Atlantic coast.

But the mighty Mississippi rolled up the greatest toll of property damage as it pounded against permanent and makeshift flood walls from Dubuque, Iowa, to Reserve, La.

Six deaths have been blamed on the floods and thousands have been driven from their homes. Damage estimates reached hundreds of millions of dollars—an estimated $150 million in Louisiana alone and $25 million in Illinois since last weekend.

National Guardsmen, students, Coast Guard reserves and volunteers of all types struggling to bulwark Mississippi levees in the Midwest were running out of sandbags. Heavy rains poured down on the lower Mississippi Valley, triggering flash floods in Mississippi and Alabama.

Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker asked President Nixon to declare the state a major disaster area.

Grafton, Ill. where the flood swollen Illinois River joins the Mississippi, was 80 per cent under water and authorities said the town was to be totally evacuated. Grafton's emergency call for 3,000 more sandbags went unfulfilled because none were available. Army engineers at St. Louis said it had already supplied 1.2 million sandbags to floodbattered towns along the river.

The historic cobblestone levee in downtown St. Louis was inundated and floating restaurants and other river bank tourist attractions were out of business during the emergency.

Downstream, Morgan City, La., was declared an emergency area although a built-up levee was holding floodwaters out of the heart of the city.

Higher Meat Prices Seen From Cattle Growth Stimulant Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department officials warn the banning of a growth stimulant for cattle and sheep that is known to cause cancer will lead to increased food prices.

Economists who work for Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz put the meat price increase at up to 4.5 cents per pound. Cattlemen said they thought the retail price effect would be 8 cents more per pound.

Agriculture Department spokesmen said there also would be a new pinch on the overall livestock-poultry feed supply, because it will take more grain to feed livestock without the growth stimulant.

The controversial stimulant is DES, a synthetic female hormone long known to cause cancer. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) banned the hormone as a livestock feed additive Jan. 1. It completed the process Wednesday by announcing a ban effective Friday on use of DES pellets implanted in the ears of cattle and sheep.

Acting FDA Commissioner Sherwin Gardner insisted that because several substitute growth-promoting chemicals are available, the DES ban "need not disrupt the nation's meat supply (or) cause an increase in meat prices." But Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, conceding the ban was necessary under an anti-cancer law, said it will "result in increased food cost to the consumer and involves a product which has been used for more efficient food production for 20 years with no known instance of harm to humans."

A cattle industry spokesman added the ban could raise beef prices up to 8 cents a pound by forcing cattlemen who operate without chemical stimulants to use more bushels of high-priced feed for each pound gained by a steer. Other Agriculture Department officials warned the increased drain on corn needed to replace the lost "boost" effect of DES could be serious in a year when there are worries that bad weather will hold down corn acreage.

Department officials agreed that several hormone and hormone-like chemicals remain available to boost cattle and sheep growth. But these products "may" be more costly than DES, the Department said.

Japanese Strike Looms One Of Nation's Worst

TOKYO (UPI) — Thousands of transportation and communication workers began a 72-hour strike today that union and government officials warned could become the gravest in postwar Japan.

National railway motormen stopped passenger trains and freight cars in major cities outside Tokyo, postal clerks in main post offices stayed away from work and telephone operators and maintenance workers struck in Tokyo and other big cities.

Motormen in the Tokyo area stayed on the job to discourage the kind of rioting that shook the city Tuesday night, when thousands of commuters smashed train windows, beat up station personnel, looted ticket offices and burned an entire train.

Railway officials said services in major cities were paralyzed by the strike today. Although commuter trains kept running in Tokyo, all long distance trains were stopped.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Arms Talks

GENEVA (UPI) — The 25-nation disarmament conference broke up for a six-week spring recess today with China and France still ignoring an invitation to join the negotiations.

Western, Communist and neutral participants expressed hope that the Chinese and French, as nuclear powers, would take part but there was no response.

The United States, Soviet Union and Britain, the other nuclear nations, have participated since the conference began in 1962.

Test Protest

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI) — Prime Minister Norman Kirk said today New Zealand would send a navy frigate to the French nuclear test zone in the South Pacific as a "last resort" to halt atomic blasts in the atmosphere.

"We are going to follow through what we have said we will do and what is open to us to do," Kirk said as he returned from an eight-day Pacific tour.

The French nuclear test zone, used first in 1968, is at the Muroroa atoll, 800 miles southeast of Tahiti. France continues its testing program and justifies it on grounds that it has not signed the nuclear test ban treaty prohibiting atmospheric tests of nuclear weapons.

Cattle Losses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last winter's storms and a series of spring rainstorms and floods may have cut potential 1973 beef production by about 1 per cent, a cattle industry spokesman said today.

W. C. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association (ANCA), said in an interview he thinks total beef production this year now may run about 2 per cent above 1972. But the gain might have reached about 3 per cent if cattlemen had escaped the heavy weather losses of the past six months, he said.

Irish Truce

BELFAST (UPI) — Army officers said today that growing violence in Londonderry makes a limited truce proclaimed there by te extremist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army meaningless.

Despite a seven-day truce in Roman Catholic areas that began Monday, a mob of teenagers Wednesday terrorized a Catholic housewife and peace activist, youth gangs barricaded streets and snipers fired three times on British troops.

"The record of violence shows little evidence of the Provisionals' so-called ceasefire," an army spokesman said. "The truce is clearly a mockery."

AWOL Soldiers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new study shows that volunteer soldiers are more likely to go AWOL than draftees and predicts this may spell trouble for the all-volunteer Army.

The study also found no relationship between soldiers who hated the Army and soldiers who went over the hill. "AWOL and non-AWOL soldiers did not differ in their attitude toward the Army," the study concluded.

The study, made available today, was made by the Human Resources Research Organization of Alexandria, Va., which won an Army contract to try to find some way to predict potential AWOLs so they could be given special attention to head off any plans for going over the hill.

Space Rehearsal

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Engineers put the Skylab space station through a countdown rehearsal today. A second countdown drill will start tonight on the lab's ferry ship in the final push toward their launchings May 14 and 15.

The exercise for the Skylab and its big two-stage Saturn 5 rocket, a 234-foot assembly, began last night and is aiming toward a mock blastoff next Wednesday.

Bomb Tonnage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There were 39,539 tons of bombs dropped on Indochina during March, Pentagon figures showed today. Most of the explosives fell on Cambodia.

Defense Department officials said the March tonnage included bombs dropped in South Vietnam by Saigon's air force, but they said the Vietnam bombing represented only a small portion of the total.

The bombing of Camobida last month was at a higher rate than the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last December. Figures showed the daily rate in March was 1,275 tons, compared to 1,264 tons per day dropped on North Vietnam during the December campaign.

Trade Talks

WARSAW (UPI) — The head of a seven-man Senate delegation touring Eastern Europe said yesterday that expansion of trade between the United States and Communist countries must await the solving of "technical problems."

"The atmosphere, the intentions and the drive are on both sides," said Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind. "But trade is not based on atmosphere. The problem is how to implement significant trade deals."

Hartke and six other members of the Senate Commerce committee met yesterday with Polish Communist party secretary Edward Gierek and said later that Poland was anxious to expand trade with the United States.

Chamber Will Dedicate New Spending Clock

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce will dedicate Friday its new "federal spending clock" which dramatizes the rate at which the federal government spends money.

The electronic device, which will be placed in the lobby of the chamber's Washington building, has rapidly changing digital figures across the top which indicate how much money the government has spent since the beginning of the fiscal year.

A dial on the face indicates how fast the government is spending $10,000—the average annual income of a typical american family.

The dial makes a complete revolution every 1.26 seconds. A light on the clock flashes every 12.6 seconds to indicate how long it takes the government to spend $100,000.

Space Shuttle Fund Attacked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today that Congress should reject the administration's fiscal 1974 request for $475 million to develop the space shuttle.

Proxmire, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee which oversees all space spending, said the shuttle was "totally out of keeping with our current national priorities.

"We simply cannot afford the folly of a space extravaganza at the present time," he said. "Our other needs are too compelling."

Two Parachute Jumpers Killed

TEMPE, Airz. (UPI) — Two skydivers from a college parachute club died Wednesday when they smacked into each other at 2,500 feet and drifted beneath their open chutes onto the campus, where one body crashed into a parked car and the other landed in a tree.

The dead were Karl Swenson and Adrian Moffet, both 20, members of the Sun Devil Sport Parachute Club at Arizona State University.

They were part of a 10-man group of jumpers putting on a demonstration over the campus.

Missing Hiker Is Found Dead In Yosemite

YOSEMITE (UPI) — A lone hiker missing since the weekend in Yosemite National Park was found dead off the John Muir Trail where he apparently slipped and fell down an icy boulder strewn slope yesterday.

Park officials said Robert Michael Travis, 26, Castro Valley, apparently ignored warning signs and tried to cross an ice avalanche covering a portion of the trail near Nevada Falls.

The body was discovered by a ground team of rangers.

Information officer Sue Edelstein said it was the same spot where three hikers were injured April 8 and where a 21-year-old Santa Rosa youth, Robert Baxter, slipped and lay injured for a week before he was rescued last January.

Eight Accused Of Running Worldwide Drug Operation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Eight men, including a Marin resident once known as the "King of LSD" have been indicted on federal charges of running a worldwide scheme of manufacturing and selling hallucinogenic drugs.

The federal Grand Jury Wednesday said LSD plants were operated here and in Windsor, Calif., St. Louis and Fenton, Mo., and in Belgium.

The main clients, according to federal narcotics agents, were Timothy Leary's Brotherhood of Eternal Love of Southern California and the Hell's Angels motorcycle club of Northern California.

Among the indicted was Augustus Owsley Stanley III, 37, listing his address as Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, who in the 1960s was known as the "King of LSD." He was charged with failing to file income tax returns for 1967 and 1968. The government said he owed taxes of $142,276.

U.S. Attorney James L. Browning Jr. said Stanley's income was from the sale of the drugs. But, the prosecutor said, he was not connected with distributing the acid.

The indictment said the conspiracy lasted from 1967 through January of this year.

Federal agents traveled extensively in the United States during the investigation and also went to Paris, Afghanistan, Costa Rica, Mexico City, Belgium and Honduras.

AUGUSTUS O. STANLEY III
LSD conspiracy?

Three of the suspects, including Stanley, were accused of evading $364,939 in taxes. Officials said Stanley, then living in Orinda, was convicted of manufacturing LSD in 1969 and spent 2 ½ years in a federal prison. Last December he was freed on parole.

Another tax offender was identified as Nicholas Sand, 31, a chemist now in jail in St. Louis for opium possession. He was accused of evading $181,000 for 1968 and 1969. The third one was Robert T. Scully, 28, an electronics technician from Mendocino County, Calif. He was accused of evading $41,848 in taxes for 1969.

The other five defendants were identified as David Leight Mantells, 33, whose whereabouts were unknown; Lester Friedman, 44, a chemistry professor at Case Western University in Cleveland, Ohio; Ronald Hadley Stark, 35, New York City; Charles Druce, London, England; Michael B. Randall, 29, address unknown.

The indictment said Sand in July 1968 met with Leary, now serving a term in state prison, in Idlewild, Calif., to deliver LSD tablets.

It also said Sand, Mantells and John T. Tracy, now dead and a former Hell's Angel leader, met and agreed to sell acid to the renegade motorcycle club on a continuing basis.

Not indicted but listed by the Grand Jury as co-conspirators were Peter S. Buchanan, a San Francisco lawyer; John R. Griggs, now dead; John D. Tracy, also deceased; William M. Hitchcock, Tucson, Ariz.; Charles G. Rumsey Jr., Meetessee, Wyo.; and Todd Sorenson, an American who formerly lived in Belgium.

Fluoridation Of Marin Water Wins State Board's Approval

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Board of Health Wednesday gave Marin County permission to flouridate its water system despite bitter opposition from a citizens' group and doubt voiced by some local physicians.

By an 8-0 margin, the board upheld Marin County voters, who gave initial approval to the measure in last November's election.

Board member Virginia Ellis said the panel was "bound to uphold" the will of the voters. Addressing herself to opponents of flouridation, she declared the burden was on them to return home and "educate the members of the community."

The measure was carried over from last month's board meeting for want of opinions from Marin County doctors and a report on engineering methods to be used in adding the tooth-decay preventive to the county's water.

Wednesday, Board Chairman Dr. F. Harold Johnson reported receiving a petition supporting flouridation which was signed by 163 local physicians.

However, the petition was challenged by Dr. Elmer Weeden, president of the Marin County Medical Society.

He explained the medical society was unable to take a position either way on the issue because of "inconclusive medical evidence at this time on either side" about the health effects of adding flouride.

He contended the medical society's findings were well thought out and carefully studied as opposed to the petition signed in "hallways" by doctors at the "urging of their friends."

Another witness, Wynn Westover, president of the Marin County Flouride Study Committee, asserted there was not "one shred of evidence" before the board on the effects of flouridated water under present conditions.

He called the issue "political" and said it was promoted by dentists. He declared that allowing Marin County a flouridation permit would "dignify their (dentists') faith healing, as it were."

Other witnesses also contended the board should dig deeper for the possible harmful effects of adding flouride to water when, they said, the amount of the chemical was increasing in normal diets.

Johnson, however, said it was not necessary to "reprove" a scientific theory once it was accepted and said information before the board "shows there is a need for flouride" in Marin County.

Student Scores Well In Lottery

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — An 18-year-old high school student has held a winning state lottery ticket four times in the last four months, winning a total of $50,600.

Tax Commissioner Norman Gallman said Monday the lucky ticket buyer was Randy Portner, a senior at Rome, N.Y., High School, who won twice in January—one $500 prize and one $50. In March, he won $50,000 and then last week he won again for $50.

Gallman noted that nearly 4 million lottery tickets are sold each week, making the chances of repeat winning rather rare.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, April 26, the 116th day of 1973 with 249 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

American naturalist John James Audubon was born April 26, 1785.

On this day in history:

In 1607, the first British colonists to establish a permanent settlement in America landed at Cape Henry, Va.

In 1865, federal troops shot and killed John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Abraham Lincoln, near Port Royal, Va., despite orders to capture him alive.

In 1944, the government took over the Chicago headquarters of Montgomery Ward & Co. after management defied a ruling of the National Labor Relations Board.

In 1954, a nationwide test of the Salk anti-polio vaccine began in parts of 45 states.

A thought for the day: American philosopher Irwin Edman said, "The gift of gaiety may itself be the greatest good fortune, and the most serious step toward maturity."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, significant air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Dissolution Own Decision

Violet Vayne was a rich and merry widow of 73, whose ideas — mostly romantic — were considerably younger than her years. Some of her catty contemporaries whispered that Violet was getting a bit senile. They were speechless when Violet fell madly in love with and married a 39-year-old bus boy, Harvey Higalo.

Her two married children flipped. "Mama has really lost her marbles," Marianne told her brother Charley.

"She sure has," Charley said. "And what's more important, this clown Higalo will get all her bread, and you and I will end up with nothing. She needs a keeper."

"You're right, brother. She needs a conservator — and we'd better see that she gets one."

Charley and Marianne argued, pleaded, and cried until Violet agreed to let one of them be legally appointed conservator of her estate. Marianne was appointed. She promptly brought suit, as conservator, to annul or dissolve her mother's marriage. Harvey won.

"Only the spouses themselves can be parties to a dissolution," the appeal court said. "A guardian can act to preserve the ward's property, or to look after her health and well-being. But not to dissolve a marriage. That must be done personally."

The law has a lot to say about marriage as well as the property rights involved in marriage. Let's say Geraldine is ill and powerless to write her own will. Her guardian knows that Emerson, the husband from whom she is separated, is a no-good bum and that Geraldine wouldn't want him to have a dime. May the guardian write Geraldine's will so that Emerson gets nothing? No. If Geraldine cannot write her will herself, no one can write it for her.

Or suppose Edna sees her husband Joe, a construction man, only when he's between jobs. She discovers that since their marriage, he's taken a second wife without bothering to divorce her. He and his new wife have acquired their own home, savings, and considerable property. Confronted, Joe drops dead of shock. Since Edna is his legal widow, is she entitled to all the property? No. The law says the innocent second wife has rights similar to community property. At most, Edna can only claim Joe's interest. The second half of his estate acquired after the second marriage would go to his "second" family.

WELFARE

subsidized day care that will allow some near-poor families, earning more than the proposed rules would have allowed, to buy child care services, top officials in (HEW) told UPI.

Other changes from the proposal will continue some aid for mentally retarded children that would have been eliminated; allow states to continue using, "with certain safeguards," private donated funds as part of the local matching funds necessary to get federal aid, and liberalize slightly the income levels persons must have to be eligible for services.

The administration contends that the tighter rules are necessary to curb spending abuses and direct the services to the neediest persons, mostly those on welfare, rather than to potential or former welfare recipients who have been eligible for services under existing rules. Federal matching funds for social services are provided on the basis of $3 for each state and local dollar.

alcoholics or mentally disordered, or simply were beyond the control of parents or could not function in school.

"If a child is classed as a true delinquent, he usually is placed with the California Youth Authority," he said.

The group home is "the wave of the future," said Chiccarella, and the number is multiplying statewide because of the growing need for facilities and the increasingly popular notion that disturbed children should be treated in their home counties, not sent to large institutions. Four of the Foxborough West children are from Marin families, two from San Francisco.

"Closed institutions (one alternative to group homes) have been unsuccessful and the governor is fast closing them down, because they tend to warehouse children instead of treating them," said Chiccarella.

Art German, information officer for the state Youth Authority, confirmed that three institutions have been closed down in the past three years but this is because fewer youths are being committed and will not result in dumping large numbers of young offenders into group homes such as Foxborough West.

German chastised those residents who object to group homes. "If we're going to get anywhere with rehabilitation we need the support of the community. We've had little trouble in and around group homes. Those kids already feel rejected enough without a lot of disapproval by residents," he said.

Among those invited to tonight's meeting are Lieutenant Gaddini and representatives of Marin's welfare agency and district attorney's office.

Skiing Reported Good, Very Good

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ski resorts still operating in the Northern and Central California mountains report good to very good snow conditions today.

The weatherman says it should be fair through Friday in the mountains, with occasional high cloudiness.

Snow depths and conditions, as reported by the California State Automobile Association at 10 a.m.:

Highway 88: Silver Basin, 8 feet, good, spring conditions.

Highway 4: Bear Valley, 4-10 feet, very good to excellent, spring conditions, open through Saturday, then closed for the season.

Highway 395: Mammoth Mountain, open daily.

Backgammon Tourney Set

A backgammon tournament will be held during the Marin Grecian Festival May 5 and 6 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael, according to Martha R. Cambouris, festival publicist.

Backgammon, or tavli in Greek, has been a traditional Greek game of mental agility and chance, dating to about 3,000 years before the birth of Christ.

Persons interested in entering the contest may contact the Festival Backgammon Tournament, P.O. Box 4332, San Rafael, 94903.

Hike On Low Fat Milk Due

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Minimum consumer prices for low fat and skim milk will be increased May 1 because of recent changes in federal support prices for butter and nonfat dry milk.

State Food and Agriculture Director C.B. Christensen Monday announced the low fat milk price will increase by one-half cent per gallon while the skim milk price will rise by one cent per gallon. However, the price of half-and-half cream will be reduced by one cent per pint.

There will be no change in the price of regular homogenized milk.

Chinese Newsmen Will Visit U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Society of Newspaper Editors announced Wednesday that 20 journalists from China will tour the United States for three weeks beginning May 15.

The Chinese delegation will be led by Chu Mu-chih, director of Hsinhua, the Chinese news agency. The group also will include editors from the People's Daily and Kuang Ming Daily, both of Peking, and editors from Shanghai and Canton.

The group is scheduled to visit New York, Boston, Washington, Chicago, Denver and Honolulu. Their tour follows a visit to China last fall by members from ASNE.

No Pay Hike

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The attorney general's office says retired black teachers in Kentucky can't be paid higher retirement benefits to make up for past inequities in their pay.

POWER OUT; EXCUSE FOR BEING LATE

Marinwood residents late for school and work yesterday really did have an excuse — there was an early morning power failure affecting about 2,000 customers in the area, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. officials said.

Power went out at 1:05 a.m. and was restored to all but five customers by 1:45 a.m. The last five had electricity again at 4:45 a.m., a spokesman said.

The failure was due to a broken line which may have been nicked with a bullet, the spokesman said.

NIXON

made accusations about former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and Jeb S. Magruder, the director and deputy director of the 1972 Nixon re-election organization, and that Magruder was called in by the prosecutors and told of Dean's charges.

"This broke down Magruder who also confessed his role in the conspiracy."

Anderson did not identify the source of his information.

He today stopped use of testimony given to the Watergate grand jury after saying the prosecutors convinced him the publication of the secret material was hampering their investigation. Anderson has refased to divulge his source for the verbatim transcripts of the testimony and federal judges ordered an investigation of the leak.

The grand jury resumed deliberations today under the greatly tightened security that has existed since news accounts of some of the secret testimony. This was believed to be the first full session of the panel in several days. Dean was expected to testify shortly.

In today's column, Anderson said Dean went to the prosecutors April 14 after he "put together some documents he had been saving, which indicated both H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman had knowledge of the Watergate cover-up."

Anderson said Dean's action came a day after Ehrlichman confronted Dean with "information that (1) Dean had advance knowledge of the Watergate bugging; (2) Dean had ordered Hunt (E. Howard Hunt, who subsequently pleaded guilty as a conspirator) out of the country; and (3) Dean had authorized payments to the Watergate conspirators to keep their ed to testify shortly.

Nixon originally assigned Dean to investigate whether any White House aides had a part in the Watergate plot. Anderson said that by mid-March, "the President's faith in Dean began to waver" and he instructed him to go to Camp David and prepare a written report on his investigation.

"After a few days at the presidential retreat, Dean reported back to the President that he simply couldn't write a report," Anderson wrote. "Angrily, Mr. Nixon took Dean off the Watergate case."

Nixon announced last week he was conducting a fresh, personal investigation of the matter. Informed sources said today he was still "sorting out" the impact of the scandal and moving toward a major staff overhaul.

The sources said Haldeman, among others, is expected to leave.

Melvin R. Laird, former defense secretary, has been mentioned along with former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and Secretary of State William P. Rogers as possible men to whom Nixon might turn to reorganize the staff. The Washington Post said Laird already had declined the task, however.

The White House said no job offer was made to Laird.

Other Watergate-related developments:

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew expressed "full confidence" in Nixon while discounting second-hand reports picturing him as "appalled" by administration handling of the matter.

—Republican Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said "the taint of this scandal threatens to engulf not only Mr. Nixon but also the institution of the presidency."

—The 1936 Republican presidential nominee, Alfred M. Landon, said Mitchell, by acknowledging that he heard of bugging plans and not moving to make sure they did not take place, had "lowered the ethical standards of his high position and his profession by his conduct, betraying the confidence of the President of the United States." Landon made the statement in an article for the New York Times.

BUSES

course of action in the event the report proves "extremely negative," Shields said he was certain bridge directors wouldn't permit going ahead without "significant changes."

Rawles, in a memorandum to City Mgr. William S. Bielser, said the "heavy and constant loading" of district buses on commute and local runs had caused $100,000 damage to Del Ganado Road and Duran Drive in the Terra Linda area and $25,000 damage to Sonoma Street in the Canal area.

None of the thoroughfares was designed for such heavy loads, he said, noting the damaged portions will have to be reconstructed entirely. Other streets are similarly threatened, he added.

If the city doesn't want the buses to run on certain streets, Bettini pointed out, it can ask either the Marin Transit District, which contracts with the bridge agency for local service, or the bridge district itself to stop it.

Rawles called for remedial street work as soon as possible, though noting a tight capital improvements budget.

In his report, also in the form of a memo to Bielser, Hotchner said he thinks an environmental impact report is required for present construction work under way at the bus yard, although one never was submitted. The council asked for a report from City Atty. Fred C. Robbins on the matter.

Beyond that, Hotchner said he has been concerned from the outset over the impact on Bellam traffic by district buses, but "I was instructed by the then city manager (James McCown) to keep my mouth shut since he felt it would be economically advantageous to the city that this facility be located here."

Bettini said he believes his colleagues on the bridge board have been considerate of San Rafael's concerns. "If you ask for more contact," he said, "I'm sure they'll do it."

Nixon noted that while the district planned purchase of the 15 additional acres soon, the property wouldn't be used until the extra buses arrived later in the decade.

Cheaper To Buy

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Merchants may not sell home winemaking kits to anyone not holding a valid vintner's license, the attorney general's office says. Such license cost $500 a year.

Title Insurance Explained.

Since the days of the Spaniards, all California land was originally owned, controlled and recorded by some governmental body. As these lands were gradually transferred to private ownership, and property in turn changed hands over the years, certain encumbrances were sometimes involved.

This is where a title search becomes important. A title search investigates all county records relative to a piece of property, and can turn up any obscure claims that might exist, such as liens, easements, or unpaid taxes. Title Insurance is the buyer's guarantee that this title search is complete and accurate.

Your member Realtor office of the Marin County Board of Realtors can help you with any questions about Title Insurance. And if you're selling a home, place it on Multiple Listing. The more than 1,000 salesmen from the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors will be selling it for you. Your Real Estate Professionals.

Today is Thursday, April 26, the 116th day of 1973 with 249 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

American naturalist John James Audubon was born April 26, 1785.

On this day in history:

In 1607, the first British colonists to establish a permanent settlement in America landed at Cape Henry, Va.

In 1865, federal troops shot and killed John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Abraham Lincoln, near Port Royal, Va., despite orders to capture him alive.

In 1944, the government took over the Chicago headquarters of Montgomery Ward & Co. after management defied a ruling of the National Labor Relations Board.

In 1954, a nationwide test of the Salk anti-polio vaccine began in parts of 45 states.

A thought for the day: American philosopher Irwin Edman said, "The gift of gaiety may itself be the greatest good fortune, and the most serious step toward maturity."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, significant air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Dissolution Own Decision

Violet Vayne was a rich and merry widow of 73, whose ideas — mostly romantic — were considerably younger than her years. Some of her catty contemporaries whispered that Violet was getting a bit senile. They were speechless when Violet fell madly in love with and married a 39-year-old bus boy, Harvey Higalo.

Her two married children flipped. "Mama has really lost her marbles," Marianne told her brother Charley.

"You're right, brother. She needs a conservator — and we'd better see that she gets one."

Charley and Marianne argued, pleaded, and cried until Violet agreed to let one of them be legally appointed conservator of her estate. Marianne was appointed. She promptly brought suit, as conservator, to annul or dissolve her mother's marriage. Harvey won.

"Only the spouses themselves can be parties to a dissolution," the appeal court said. "A guardian can act to preserve the ward's property, or to look after her health and well-being. But not to dissolve a marriage. That must be done personally."

The law has a lot to say about marriage as well as the property rights involved in marriage. Let's say Geraldine is ill and powerless to write her own will. Her guardian knows that Emerson, the husband from whom she is separated, is a no-good bum and that Geraldine wouldn't want him to have a dime. May the guardian write Geraldine's will so that Emerson gets nothing? No. If Geraldine cannot write her will herself, no one can write it for her.

Or suppose Edna sees her husband Joe, a construction man, only when he's between jobs. She discovers that since their marriage, he's taken a second wife without bothering to divorce her. He and his new wife have acquired their own home, savings, and considerable property. Confronted, Joe drops dead of shock. Since Edna is his legal widow, is she entitled to all the property? No. The law says the innocent second wife has rights similar to community property. At most, Edna can only claim Joe's interest. The second half of his estate acquired after the second marriage would go to his "second" family.

WELFARE

subsidized day care that will allow some near-poor families, earning more than the proposed rules would have allowed, to buy child care services, top officials in (HEW) told UPI.

Other changes from the proposal will continue some aid for mentally retarded children that would have been eliminated; allow states to continue using, "with certain safeguards," private donated funds as part of the local matching funds necessary to get federal aid, and liberalize slightly the income levels persons must have to be eligible for services.

The administration contends that the tighter rules are necessary to curb spending abuses and direct the services to the neediest persons, mostly those on welfare, rather than to potential or former welfare recipients who have been eligible for services under existing rules. Federal matching funds for social services are provided on the basis of $3 for each state and local dollar.

alcoholics or mentally disordered, or simply were beyond the control of parents or could not function in school.

"If a child is classed as a true delinquent, he usually is placed with the California Youth Authority," he said.

The group home is "the wave of the future," said Chiccarella, and the number is multiplying statewide because of the growing need for facilities and the increasingly popular notion that disturbed children should be treated in their home counties, not sent to large institutions. Four of the Foxborough West children are from Marin families, two from San Francisco.

"Closed institutions (one alternative to group homes) have been unsuccessful and the governor is fast closing them down, because they tend to warehouse children instead of treating them," said Chiccarella.

Art German, information officer for the state Youth Authority, confirmed that three institutions have been closed down in the past three years but this is because fewer youths are being committed and will not result in dumping large numbers of young offenders into group homes such as Foxborough West.

German chastised those residents who object to group homes. "If we're going to get anywhere with rehabilitation we need the support of the community. We've had little trouble in and around group homes. Those kids already feel rejected enough without a lot of disapproval by residents," he said.

Among those invited to tonight's meeting are Lieutenant Gaddini and representatives of Marin's welfare agency and district attorney's office.

Skiing Reported Good, Very Good

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ski resorts still operating in the Northern and Central California mountains report good to very good snow conditions today.

The weatherman says it should be fair through Friday in the mountains, with occasional high cloudiness.

Snow depths and conditions, as reported by the California State Automobile Association at 10 a.m.:

Highway 88: Silver Basin, 8 feet, good, spring conditions.

Highway 4: Bear Valley, 4-10 feet, very good to excellent, spring conditions, open through Saturday, then closed for the season.

Highway 395: Mammoth Mountain, open daily.

Backgammon Tourney Set

A backgammon tournament will be held during the Marin Grecian Festival May 5 and 6 at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael, according to Martha R. Cambouris, festival publicist.

Backgammon, or tavli in Greek, has been a traditional Greek game of mental agility and chance, dating to about 3,000 years before the birth of Christ.

Persons interested in entering the contest may contact the Festival Backgammon Tournament, P.O. Box 4332, San Rafael, 94903.

Hike On Low Fat Milk Due

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Minimum consumer prices for low fat and skim milk will be increased May 1 because of recent changes in federal support prices for butter and nonfat dry milk.

State Food and Agriculture Director C.B. Christensen Monday announced the low fat milk price will increase by one-half cent per gallon while the skim milk price will rise by one cent per gallon. However, the price of half-and-half cream will be reduced by one cent per pint.

There will be no change in the price of regular homogenized milk.

Chinese Newsmen Will Visit U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Society of Newspaper Editors announced Wednesday that 20 journalists from China will tour the United States for three weeks beginning May 15.

The Chinese delegation will be led by Chu Mu-chih, director of Hsinhua, the Chinese news agency. The group also will include editors from the People's Daily and Kuang Ming Daily, both of Peking, and editors from Shanghai and Canton.

The group is scheduled to visit New York, Boston, Washington, Chicago, Denver and Honolulu. Their tour follows a visit to China last fall by members from ASNE.

No Pay Hike

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The attorney general's office says retired black teachers in Kentucky can't be paid higher retirement benefits to make up for past inequities in their pay.

POWER OUT; EXCUSE FOR BEING LATE

Marinwood residents late for school and work yesterday really did have an excuse — there was an early morning power failure affecting about 2,000 customers in the area, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. officials said.

Power went out at 1:05 a.m. and was restored to all but five customers by 1:45 a.m. The last five had electricity again at 4:45 a.m., a spokesman said.

The failure was due to a broken line which may have been nicked with a bullet, the spokesman said.

made accusations about former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and Jeb S. Magruder, the director and deputy director of the 1972 Nixon re-election organization, and that Magruder was called in by the prosecutors and told of Dean's charges.

"This broke down Magruder who also confessed his role in the conspiracy."

Anderson did not identify the source of his information.

He today stopped use of testimony given to the Watergate grand jury after saying the prosecutors convinced him the publication of the secret material was hampering their investigation. Anderson has refased to divulge his source for the verbatim transcripts of the testimony and federal judges ordered an investigation of the leak.

The grand jury resumed deliberations today under the greatly tightened security that has existed since news accounts of some of the secret testimony. This was believed to be the first full session of the panel in several days. Dean was expected to testify shortly.

In today's column, Anderson said Dean went to the prosecutors April 14 after he "put together some documents he had been saving, which indicated both H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman had knowledge of the Watergate cover-up."

Anderson said Dean's action came a day after Ehrlichman confronted Dean with "information that (1) Dean had advance knowledge of the Watergate bugging; (2) Dean had ordered Hunt (E. Howard Hunt, who subsequently pleaded guilty as a conspirator) out of the country; and (3) Dean had authorized payments to the Watergate conspirators to keep their ed to testify shortly.

Nixon originally assigned Dean to investigate whether any White House aides had a part in the Watergate plot. Anderson said that by mid-March, "the President's faith in Dean began to waver" and he instructed him to go to Camp David and prepare a written report on his investigation.

"After a few days at the presidential retreat, Dean reported back to the President that he simply couldn't write a report," Anderson wrote. "Angrily, Mr. Nixon took Dean off the Watergate case."

Nixon announced last week he was conducting a fresh, personal investigation of the matter. Informed sources said today he was still "sorting out" the impact of the scandal and moving toward a major staff overhaul.

The sources said Haldeman, among others, is expected to leave.

Melvin R. Laird, former defense secretary, has been mentioned along with former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and Secretary of State William P. Rogers as possible men to whom Nixon might turn to reorganize the staff. The Washington Post said Laird already had declined the task, however.

The White House said no job offer was made to Laird.

Other Watergate-related developments:

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew expressed "full confidence" in Nixon while discounting second-hand reports picturing him as "appalled" by administration handling of the matter.

—Republican Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said "the taint of this scandal threatens to engulf not only Mr. Nixon but also the institution of the presidency."

—The 1936 Republican presidential nominee, Alfred M. Landon, said Mitchell, by acknowledging that he heard of bugging plans and not moving to make sure they did not take place, had "lowered the ethical standards of his high position and his profession by his conduct, betraying the confidence of the President of the United States." Landon made the statement in an article for the New York Times.

course of action in the event the report proves "extremely negative," Shields said he was certain bridge directors wouldn't permit going ahead without "significant changes."

Rawles, in a memorandum to City Mgr. William S. Bielser, said the "heavy and constant loading" of district buses on commute and local runs had caused $100,000 damage to Del Ganado Road and Duran Drive in the Terra Linda area and $25,000 damage to Sonoma Street in the Canal area.

None of the thoroughfares was designed for such heavy loads, he said, noting the damaged portions will have to be reconstructed entirely. Other streets are similarly threatened, he added.

If the city doesn't want the buses to run on certain streets, Bettini pointed out, it can ask either the Marin Transit District, which contracts with the bridge agency for local service, or the bridge district itself to stop it.

Rawles called for remedial street work as soon as possible, though noting a tight capital improvements budget.

In his report, also in the form of a memo to Bielser, Hotchner said he thinks an environmental impact report is required for present construction work under way at the bus yard, although one never was submitted. The council asked for a report from City Atty. Fred C. Robbins on the matter.

Beyond that, Hotchner said he has been concerned from the outset over the impact on Bellam traffic by district buses, but "I was instructed by the then city manager (James McCown) to keep my mouth shut since he felt it would be economically advantageous to the city that this facility be located here."

Bettini said he believes his colleagues on the bridge board have been considerate of San Rafael's concerns. "If you ask for more contact," he said, "I'm sure they'll do it."

Nixon noted that while the district planned purchase of the 15 additional acres soon, the property wouldn't be used until the extra buses arrived later in the decade.

Cheaper To Buy

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Merchants may not sell home winemaking kits to anyone not holding a valid vintner's license, the attorney general's office says. Such license cost $500 a year.

Title Insurance Explained.

Since the days of the Spaniards, all California land was originally owned, controlled and recorded by some governmental body. As these lands were gradually transferred to private ownership, and property in turn changed hands over the years, certain encumbrances were sometimes involved.

This is where a title search becomes important. A title search investigates all county records relative to a piece of property, and can turn up any obscure claims that might exist, such as liens, easements, or unpaid taxes. Title Insurance is the buyer's guarantee that this title search is complete and accurate.

Your member Realtor office of the Marin County Board of Realtors can help you with any questions about Title Insurance. And if you're selling a home, place it on Multiple Listing. The more than 1,000 salesmen from the member offices of the Marin County Board of Realtors will be selling it for you. Your Real Estate Professionals.

More Stabbings At Quentin; Officials Studying Solutions

Inmate violence flared for the second straight day yesterday at San Quentin, and prison officials said a staff crackdown may have to be considered.

Two inmates were stabbed in separate attacks yesterday, bringing to 21 the number of nonfatal assaults at the prison this year.

That represented an increase of 190 per cent over the same period last year, when only four attacks occurred.

"The only thing I can really attribute it to is the fact we're getting a more violent offender in the institution now," prison information officer Lee DeBord said. "Between 60 and 60 per cent of the inmates are serving time for violent offenses."

Gregory Van Norman, 25, stabbed at 8:10 p.m. in the honor block, was reported in satisfactory condition today at the prison hospital with chest, back, arm and throat wounds.

The other victim, convicted rapist Peter Martinez of Los Angeles County, was knifed in the chest and once in the stomach about 2:15 p.m. in the laundry. He was said to be in satisfactory condition.

No motive was given for the attack on Van Norman, and no suspect seized. The inmate is a convicted burglar who was returned to prison last year on a parole violation in Santa Cruz County.

Martinez is said to belong to a group called the "Mexican Mafia" and apparently was stabbed because of a "disagreement" within the clique, DeBord said. One inmate was in custody for the attack and another sought.

Martinez also was a parole violator, having been returned to San Quentin in 1971 after almost a year on the outside.

On Tuesday, six convicts who are members of a group known as the "Aryan Brotherhood," a Nazi-like white supremist organization, were injured in a recreation yard brawl.

"Most of the assaults we've had have been personal squabbles between two guys or as a result of some problem within the cliques," DeBord said. "Some of these things have happened right in front of the staff."

Some sort of crackdown "may have to be considered if this continues," he said. "But short of just locking up the institution and keeping it that way, there's no guarantee that you can't stop these kinds of things."

Library Board To Study A Branch In Terra Linda

Establishment of a branch of the San Rafael Library in the Terra Linda annexation will be discussed at a special meeting of the library board May 23 at 8 p.m. in the Terra Linda Recreation Center.

The special meeting was set at a board meeting last night in the library, at which trustees agreed that the recreation center and Oleander Park appear the two most suitable sites for the proposed branch.

Feelings of Terra Linda residents regarding these sites, and regarding the desire for a branch library, will be sought at the May 22 meeting, said James H. Mayer, board chairman. He and other trustees expressed hope for a large turnout of residents of the annexation area.

The board moved its regular May meeting to May 14 at the library. Preliminary plans for expansion of the building to provide adequate areas for research and junior departments, meeting rooms, and facilities for serving as headquarters of a branch operation, are to be presented at that meeting by Andrews James Ring III of Enomoto and Ring, architects.

Rogers To Visit Latin Nations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Starting early in May, Secretary of State William P. Rogers will visit as many as 10 nations in Latin America.

The State Department announced plans for the tour Wednesday. Spokesmen said Rogers was expected to visit Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela, Peru, Bolivia, Brazil and Argentina as well as one Central American country and another one in the English-speaking Caribbean. Rogers is expected to spend about 18 days on the journey.

Rock Star Faces Marijuana Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rock singer Sylvester Stewart, 30, Sly of the group "Sly and the Family Stones," was ordered by a municipal court judge Wednesday to stand trial for possessing three quarters of a pound of marijuana and slightly less than half an ounce of cocaine.

Scholarship To Catholic High Senior

Michael J. Boland, a senior at Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield, has been named winner of a National Merit Scholarship.

Boland, 18, will attend the University of San Francisco, planning a career in law.

The youth's high school honors include a place on the honor roll and admission to the California Scholarship Federation.

He has been active in intramural athletics, the drama department crew and on the staff of the Marin Catholic newspaper.

Boland also has been basketball and track coach for St. Patrick's elementary school in Larkspur, which he attended before Marin Catholic.

He is the son of Mrs. John Boland of 118 Yolo Street, Corte Madera.

COLOR NEGATIVE OR COLOR POSITIVE?

Many photographers find that the choice is not whether to shoot color, but what kind of color film to use. Color negative is great for most of your needs and gives you a negative to make prints or even a slide duplicate for your projector.

Positive films, for color slides, give you the same quality as the negative films but are available in far greater variety. There are positive films for daylight, artificial light, duplication, infrared, even extreme high speed.

The choice is really a creative one, limited only by your creative urges and the camera you are using. Keep in mind that the films available today were only a dream just a short time ago. Advances made in available light color, for instance, should be utilized with all the creativity you are capable of.

The possibilities for interesting pictures are unlimited. You can use duplicating film to photograph high contrast subjects, infrared to photograph your garden and find out where the yellow went, and high speed films for your black cat in the coal bin pictures. Whatever the film choice, the choice is now yours. And you'll be sure to find it, with everything photographic, at

Establishment of a branch of the San Rafael Library in the Terra Linda annexation will be discussed at a special meeting of the library board May 23 at 8 p.m. in the Terra Linda Recreation Center.

The special meeting was set at a board meeting last night in the library, at which trustees agreed that the recreation center and Oleander Park appear the two most suitable sites for the proposed branch.

Feelings of Terra Linda residents regarding these sites, and regarding the desire for a branch library, will be sought at the May 22 meeting, said James H. Mayer, board chairman. He and other trustees expressed hope for a large turnout of residents of the annexation area.

The board moved its regular May meeting to May 14 at the library. Preliminary plans for expansion of the building to provide adequate areas for research and junior departments, meeting rooms, and facilities for serving as headquarters of a branch operation, are to be presented at that meeting by Andrews James Ring III of Enomoto and Ring, architects.

Rogers To Visit Latin Nations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Starting early in May, Secretary of State William P. Rogers will visit as many as 10 nations in Latin America.

The State Department announced plans for the tour Wednesday. Spokesmen said Rogers was expected to visit Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela, Peru, Bolivia, Brazil and Argentina as well as one Central American country and another one in the English-speaking Caribbean. Rogers is expected to spend about 18 days on the journey.

Rock Star Faces Marijuana Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rock singer Sylvester Stewart, 30, Sly of the group "Sly and the Family Stones," was ordered by a municipal court judge Wednesday to stand trial for possessing three quarters of a pound of marijuana and slightly less than half an ounce of cocaine.

Stewart was arrested Feb. 2 at his home.

Scholarship To Catholic High Senior

Michael J. Boland, a senior at Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield, has been named winner of a National Merit Scholarship.

Boland, 18, will attend the University of San Francisco, planning a career in law.

The youth's high school honors include a place on the honor roll and admission to the California Scholarship Federation.

He has been active in intramural athletics, the drama department crew and on the staff of the Marin Catholic newspaper.

Boland also has been basketball and track coach for St. Patrick's elementary school in Larkspur, which he attended before Marin Catholic.

He is the son of Mrs. John Boland of 118 Yolo Street, Corte Madera.

Princess Named On Riding Team

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Anne apparently is all set to ride for Britain in the European equestrian championships Sept. 5-9 at Kiev in the Soviet Union.

The 22-year-old daughter of Queen Elizabeth II was included in an all womens' list of 10 possible candidates for the British team.

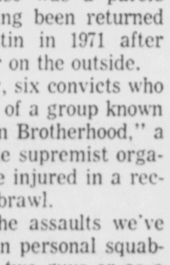
COLOR NEGATIVE OR COLOR POSITIVE?



Many photographers find that the choice is not whether to shoot color, but what kind of color film to use. Color negative is great for most of your needs and gives you a negative to make prints or even a slide duplicate for your projector.

Positive films, for color slides, give you the same quality as the negative films but are available in far greater variety. There are positive films for daylight, artificial light, duplication, infrared, even extreme high speed.

The choice is really a creative one, limited only by your creative urges and the camera you are using. Keep in mind that the films available today were only a dream just a short time ago. Advances made in available light color, for instance, should be utilized with all the creativity you are capable of.

The possibilities for interesting pictures are unlimited. You can use duplicating film to photograph high contrast subjects, infrared to photograph your garden and find out where the yellow went, and high speed films for your black cat in the coal bin pictures. Whatever the film choice, the choice is now yours. And you'll be sure to find it, with everything photographic, at

GAS PRESSURE RELIEVED

Smoke rose yesterday from an Amoco Production Co. well that was drilled near Williamsburg, Mich., to burn off gas and relieve underground pressure that has caused gas eruption in the ground around the town. The gas eruptions have forced the evacuation of 64 families and the area has been sealed off. (UPI Telephoto)

$3 Million Reed Budget Proposed

A $3,146,097 budget for next year has been proposed to Reed School District turstees. The figure is down $17,103 from this year's estimated budget of $3,-163,200.

The tax rate is expected to increase but the actual amount of property taxes paid by homeowners should go down, said Charles L. Condrotte, district business manager.

Trustees accepted the proposal Tuesday and set a special budget session for May 22.

The budget will require a tax rate of $3,718 per $100 assessed valuation, up 11.3 cents from the current rate of $3.605 per $100, Condrotte estimated.

The net effect on property taxes, however, should be a reduction, he said, because California's SB 90 increases the homeowners exemption from $750 to $1,750.

Condrotte had no figures on how much less property owners in the district would end up paying for Reed schools next year.

Although the total budget is down, the tax rate required to finance it is up mainly due to the fact that Reed this year dipped into its reserves to the tune of about $120,000, Condrotte said, but doesn't plan to do that next year, and so will need to obtain the money from some other source.

Local property taxes comprised $2,394,844 of this year's budget and are expected to amount to $2,563,790 next year, said Condrotte.

SB 90 limits spending in the district next year to the amount spent per pupil this year, plus $65 for inflation, and the tax rate may not exceed that needed to meet that spending rate.

The budget is based on 1,874 pupils, two more than the number of students who started school in Reed this year.

Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said the total includes step and track salary increases for employees, but no new raises. Teacher salaries total $1,332,-907, other employees will be paid $159,023, custodians' total $128,187 and maintenance men $30,224.

Giovanniello said his salary is pegged at $26,000, the same as this year.

Fixed charges, a category wich includes contributions to the employee retirement fund, benefits, workman's compensation and legal expenses are proposed for $224,654 compared to this year's $211,190.

The major decrease in the budget is for capital outlay. Giovanniello said $20,587 is budgeted for next year compared to $93,949 this year. A one-time federal project of $69,-000 for library expansion at Reedland Woods School will not be repeated and accounts for most of the drop, he said.

The Reed School District Board Also:

SUBSTITUTES — Received but took no action on a request by district substitute teachers to increase their pay from $26 per day, lowest in Marin, to $30.

INVENTORY — Appropriated $350 to update the district's inventory of equipment.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Put three principals, Edward Mosconi, Michael Meagher and Robert Gowan, in charge of summer school, to be held at four schools this year.

ORIENTATION — Set a special meeting for 9 a.m. Saturday at Reedland Woods School to welcome new trustee Robert K. Ockner, elected last week.

COURTS — Appointed trustees Leo Souza and Charles V. Patterson to meet with Tiburon city officials on a proposal to build two tennis courts at Del Mar School.

PERSONNEL — Granted a one-year leave of absence to Annalies Pesl kindergarten teacher at Tiburon School, and accepted the resignation of maintenance man John Park.

Tam Board Eyes Return Of Furniture

The Tamalpais High School District board decided last night to try to return enough furniture from the office of Tamalpais High School's educational leader Lawrence Sheppard to pay off the balance it still owes on the furnishings.

Edward J. Neumeier, administrative assistant, said the Tam district still owes $1,048 on a total of more than $5,000 for the refurbishing and furnishing of Sheppard's office.

The furniture, ordered without the board's knowledge, was a contributing factor when Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins was forced to resign in January this year.

Neumeier said trustees, meeting in closed session with Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, decided to offer the Allender Company of San Francisco a return of enough furniture to compensate for the outstanding $1,048. Fixed items in the refurbishing, such as fitted carpets, wallpaper and airconditioning, cannot be returned.

Council To Eye Appointments To Airport Unit

The Novato City Council will have a closed meeting at 9 p.m. today to consider appointments to a reactivated city airport committee.

The council had a closed session Monday on committee appointments and apparently failed to make any headway.

The committee, originally formed to study joint civilian-military use at Hamilton Air Force Base, is to be reactivated in view of the cutbacks at the base and the possibility of other uses at the base.

Rental Deposit Interest Asked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Renters required to pay the last month's rent in advance or any other security deposit would receive 5 per cent per annum interest on the amount under a bill introduced Tuesday in the Assembly.

Under the bill (AB1332) by Assemblyman Alex P. Garcia, D-Los Angeles, the tenant would not receive interest for the first 90 days and only landlords with four or more dwelling units would be affected.

Quentin Ferry Site Backers Win Delay

A committee of Golden Gate Bridge District directors meeting yesterday to hear a plea by conservationists to relocate the Central Marin ferry terminal from Larkspur to San Quentin Prison postponed the issue to another session on May 9.

Spokesmen for the Sierra Club and Marin Conservation League asked for the two-week delay so they can get a better look at prison lands. Their tour of the prison last week was limited to a narrow strip near the west gate and they want to see other property as well, they said.

They brushed aside objections by Warden Louis S. Nelson to any such public use of prison land.

The May 9 meeting of the transportation committee will be at 2 p.m. in toll plaza offices.

Yesterday's session cost $500 in directors' pay plus the undetermined cost of district staff and a half dozen consultants who attended the meeting.

The committee also had been scheduled to hear estimates by district staff on the cost of delaying further spending on planning the Larkspur terminal pending an environmental impact study. Acting chairman Edwin Fraser of Del Norte County, however, postponed this as well to May 9. Director Dean N. Meyer walked out of the meeting when Fraser gaveled down his request that the staff report be made.

Director Robert Gonzales, a San Francisco supervisor, said the conservationists are inconsistent to argue the district is spending money illegally on the Larkspur site before completion of an environmental impact study. The same argument can be made against the prison site, he said, which has not been subjected to such a study either, he said.

Lester Cohen of Sausalito, speaking for the Sierra Club, insisted that "under the right circumstances" the prison land could be made available for a terminal.

Such a use, however, would take legislation. The deadline to introduce 1973 bills in Sacramento is May 15. Bills introduced after that date, unless two thirds of each house waives the rules, will not be effective until early 1975. The first of the district's three new ferries is scheduled to arrive a year from June.

Jet Has Runway Trouble In Denver

DENVER (UPI) — A Frontier Airlines 737 jet with 48 passengers aboard slid off a runway at Stapleton International Airport Wednesday. None of the passengers was injured.

The plane, on route to St. Louis, was ordered back to the airport when a warning light indicated its hydraulic breaking system was malfunctioning. Frontier said the light blinked on 15 minutes after takeoff.

Housing Needed In Mid-July For Students

Thirty Japanese students who will need housing in Marin for a month this summer will be here from mid-July to mid-August, instead of mid-June to mid-July as reported last Friday by the sponsors.

The students are taking part in a program sponsored by Interstudy, a Swedish non profit corporation. The students, plus one teacher, will live in Marin and study English and American history.

Persons able to house one or more of the students may write Michael E. Kaufman at P.O. Box 198, Belvedere 94920, or telephone him. He lives at 256 Bay View Avenue, Belvedere.

United To Drop Capital Service

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — United Air Lines Wednesday announced plans to end its Sacramento to Los Angeles service effective June 1 because the three daily flights had been "highly uneconomical."

Regional Manager Tom Campbell said at the same time United would substitute larger aircraft on its eastbound flights from the capital.

Campbell said the Sacramento to Los Angeles market "is more than adequately served by our competitors" —Pacific Southwest Airlines, Air California and Western Airlines.

Rusk Is Serving In Chamber Post

ATLANTA (UPI) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk is the new chairman of the goals and policies board of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce's international council.

Rusk currently teaches international law at the University of Georgia, and was host for the council's organizational meeting recently. The council's aim is to make Atlanta a focal point of international business, commerce and education.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

10:35 a.m., Sausalito — Fire in bed of pickup truck owned by McPhail's Appliances of San Rafael while vehicle southbound on Waldo tunnel; caused by lighted cigarette thrown by passing motorist; $200 damage to truck and $1,400 damage to contents.

4:38 p.m., Mount Tamalpais — Illegal campfire on Nora trail; campfire put out by Marin County Fire Department.

6:27 p.m., San Anselmo — Smoke check at 13 Calumet Avenue turned out to be a barbecue.

Concern Over Drop In Immunization To Polio

ATLANTA (UPI) — Growing concern over the drop in polio immunization among children has been expressed by officials at the Center for Disease Control (CDC).

"We are very concerned by the fact that a large proportion of young children are not being immunized or are being inadequately immunized," Dr. John Witte, head of the immunization branch, said Wednesday.

Latest available figures show that less than 63 per cent of all children between the ages of 1 and 4 have been vaccinated against polio, the CDC said.

"We've been saying for several years that polio immunization levels aren't what they should be, and for the last year, we've been hollering really loud," Witte said.

The case load dropped spectacularly after the introduction of Salk vaccine in the middle 50s—from some 18,000 in 1954 to 19 in 1971, and so far, none have been reported this year.

Witte said the success of the anti-polio campaign had caused people to lose interest. "People haven't seen polio for 10 or 15 years, and they're not worried about it," he said.

The immunity level appears to be dropping fastest among children of middle and upper income families, Witte said, because the amounts of vaccine ordered for public programs for low income families has remained fairly constant while that used by private physicians has declined.

Business Scholars Announced

High School seniors from Novato have won three out of four full-tuition scholarships offered by Heald Business College in San Francisco.

The three are:

Jeanne Marie Bywater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Bywater of 11 Brassie Court, and Debra Ann Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell of 22 Truman Drive, both from Novato High School.

Lori Sue Winterboer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Winterboer of 66 Shields Lane, San Marin High School.

The fourth winner was from St. Paul's High School in San Francisco.

Teaching Class For First Aid Set

A course in teaching first aid will be offered by the Marin Chapter of the Red Cross from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. May 5 at the chapter's San Rafael office.

Participants must be at least 17 years old and hold a current Red Cross(7mlutimedia standard first aid certificate, according to Mrs. E. W. Strachan of the Marin chapter.

Concern Over Drop In Immunization To Polio

ATLANTA (UPI) — Growing concern over the drop in polio immunization among children has been expressed by officials at the Center for Disease Control (CDC).

"We are very concerned by the fact that a large proportion of young children are not being immunized or are being inadequately immunized," Dr. John Witte, head of the immunization branch, said Wednesday.

Latest available figures show that less than 63 per cent of all children between the ages of 1 and 4 have been vaccinated against polio, the CDC said.

"We've been saying for several years that polio immunization levels aren't what they should be, and for the last year, we've been hollering really loud," Witte said.

The case load dropped spectacularly after the introduction of Salk vaccine in the middle 50s—from some 18,000 in 1954 to 19 in 1971, and so far, none have been reported this year.

Witte said the success of the anti-polio campaign had caused people to lose interest. "People haven't seen polio for 10 or 15 years, and they're not worried about it," he said.

The immunity level appears to be dropping fastest among children of middle and upper income families, Witte said, because the amounts of vaccine ordered for public programs for low income families has remained fairly constant while that used by private physicians has declined.

Rusk Is Serving In Chamber Post

ATLANTA (UPI) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk is the new chairman of the goals and policies board of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce's international council.

Rusk currently teaches international law at the University of Georgia, and was host for the council's organizational meeting recently. The council's aim is to make Atlanta a focal point of international business, commerce and education.

United To Drop Capital Service

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — United Air Lines Wednesday announced plans to end its Sacramento to Los Angeles service effective June 1 because the three daily flights had been "highly uneconomical."

Regional Manager Tom Campbell said at the same time United would substitute larger aircraft on its eastbound flights from the capital.

Campbell said the Sacramento to Los Angeles market "is more than adequately served by our competitors" —Pacific Southwest Airlines, Air California and Western Airlines.

Business Scholars Announced

High School seniors from Novato have won three out of four full-tuition scholarships offered by Heald Business College in San Francisco.

The three are:

Jeanne Marie Bywater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Bywater of 11 Brassie Court, and Debra Ann Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell of 22 Truman Drive, both from Novato High School.

Lori Sue Winterboer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Winterboer of 66 Shields Lane, San Marin High School.

The fourth winner was from St. Paul's High School in San Francisco.

Teaching Class For First Aid Set

A course in teaching first aid will be offered by the Marin Chapter of the Red Cross from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. May 5 at the chapter's San Rafael office.

Participants must be at least 17 years old and hold a current Red Cross(7mlutimedia standard first aid certificate, according to Mrs. E. W. Strachan of the Marin chapter.

TRAGEDY OF WAR — The bodies of a Cambodian mother and her child lie amidst the rubble of their home after Communist gunners fired a barrage of rockets in and around the Phnom Penh Airport today. At least 21 persons were killed and another 62 wounded.

(UPI Telephoto)

21 Killed In Airbase Attack

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian Communist gunners attacked the Phnom Penh airport with rockets early today, killing 21 persons and wounding 62 others.

At the same time, the High Command said rebel troops had used toxic gas against government troops yesterday in fighting 21 miles below Phnom Penh.

Cambodian troops using navy landing ships made an amphibious assault against the Mekong River from Phnom Penh late today to try to ease the threat to the capital from the rebels who brought their offensive to within two miles of the heart of Phnom Penh. The rebels were reported in control of a threemile stretch of land opposite the capital.

Heavy ground fighting was reported in areas six, nine and 11 miles from Phnom Penh as the Communists slowly tried to close a noose on the city. The military situation was reported as "critical" in some of these outer defense areas.

U.S. fighter-bombers and B52s heavily bombed the Communist-held area yesterday and again this morning in the 50th consecutive day of such attacks while thousands of Phnom Penh residents watched from the river bank. The bombing ceased in the afternoon as about 180 government troops crossed the river from Phnom Penh and hundreds of refugees fled to the city in a fleet of sampans to escape the expected ground fighting.

Western diplomatic sources expressed concern during the day over the presence of rebels virtually within sight of Phnom Penh, although refugees said the infiltrators were in bands of as few as 10 men.

A high command spokesman said the Communist use of poison gas came Wednesday when they fired "toxic gas shells" at government forces at Koki Thom, on Highway 1 about 21 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Refugees said some of the Communist rebel troops opposite Phnom Penh were wearing green fatigue uniforms with red scarves and Ho Chi Minh sandals made from old automobile tires.

Story Times At Library Announced

There will be a story time period in the Children's Room of the San Rafael Public Library Saturday at 11 a.m. for youngsters age 7 years and older.

The next story time for younger children, from 4 to 7 years of age, will be Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. with storyteller Peggy Manuel.

Police Grab Suspected Bank Robber

A retired Air Force major was arrested in Rohnert Park yesterday on suspicion of bank robbery minutes after a silent burglar alarm sounded at the Bank of America.

Public Safety Director Robert Dennett said Richard Frank Molter, 43, was taken into custody at gunpoint as he walked out of the bank on Commerce Boulevard with $2,532 in a briefcase.

He was booked into Sonoma County Jail to be arraigned tomorrow in Central Sonoma Municipal Court.

Dennett said Molter went into the bank shortly after it opened and, wielding a pellet gun, handed typed directions to a teller. He said a bank officer was handed a leather briefcase and filled it with $2,532 from the teller stations.

Dennett said the note indicated a hostage would be taken, but that Molter left the bank alone when handed the filled briefcase. Dennett and two other Rohnert Park officers were waiting with guns drawn as Molter left the building.

Dennett said Molter retired from the Air Force in March 1972. His home is reportedly in the state of Washington, but he had been living temporarily at the visiting officers quarters at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Sullivan To Present A List Of Violations

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Assistant Undersecretary of State William L. Sullivan, arrived today from Washington with a dossier of Communist cease-fire violations he will present to the North Vietnamese Friday in preliminary talks leading to new consultations in mid-May between Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho.

The meeting, at a Hanoiowned villa in suburban Choisy-le-Roi, will bring together Sullivan and North Vietnam's Deputy Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach for the first time since the signing Jan. 27 of a peace treaty that was to have ended the war in South Vietnam.

By coincidence Friday is the last day within the 90-day deadline set by the Paris treaty for the Viet Cong and South Vietnamese to settle their differences. The two sides are deadlocked and a major effort Wednesday by Saigon to meet the deadline failed..

Sullivan flew in early today following a Washington announcement that the two men also will arrange for a Paris meeting in mid-May between Kissinger and Tho who negotiated the Jan. 27 peace treaty. He made no statement on arrival.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the Friday meeting was "not for the purpose of recrimination" over violations but to work out stricter adherence to the terms of the agreement.

It became apparent Wednesday they would not meet the deadline when the Viet Cong turned down a Saigon suggestion they sign a preliminary agreement on Friday.

Saigon To Move Ahead On Senatorial Election

SAIGON (UPI) — A government spokesman said today Saigon will go ahead with plans for senatorial elections Aug. 26 despite the Viet Cong rejection yesterday of a South Vietnamese proposal for internationally supervised general elections.

However, because of a hitch in South Vietnam's election laws, the Viet Cong would be unable to participate as a party in the Senate race.

Spokesman Pham Duong Hien said, "We have our own schedule for elections. We see no reason to postpone or delay them. I think we will go ahead."

In military action, the Saigon command accused the Communists of committing 97 more cease-fire violations in the 24 hours ending at noon today, for a total of 12,151 since the truce began.

In Paris yesterday at talks on South Vietnam's political future, the two sides presented proposals for troop cutbacks, restoration of civil liberties and general elections. Each rejected the other's plan and agreed only to meet again next week.

Under terms of the Jan. 27 Vietnam truce, Saturday is the deadline for setting up national elections. It is also the deadline for completion of the release of civilian prisoners, and Saigon and the Viet Cong agreed today on a timetable for freeing more than 500 prisoners from each side.

CATALYTIC CONVERTER CHECKED

Los Angeles County Supervisor Jim Hayes (left) and Ernest Starkman, vice president in charge of General Motors' environmental activities, yesterday examined a cut-away model of a catalytic emission converter of the type to be tested for 12 to 15 months on five Los Angeles County cars. Such field tests are to determine if the GM device can meet the emission standards set by the federal Environmental Protection Agency for 1974 model cars to be sold in California.

Tiburon Center Receives Grant For Training

The Marin Child Development Center of Tiburon has received an $11,800 grant from the San Francisco Foundation, completing funding to launch a paraprofessional training program at the center, according to Dr. Robert Dermott, president of center directors.

The program is designed to solve the shortage of paraprofessional workers in the county as well as at the Marin Child Development Center. Trainees will be taught to work as aides to therapist-teachers of children with emotional and neurological problems, said Dermott.

Trainee candidates will be screened by the Marin Volunteer Bureau in San Rafael.

The C.H. Cowell Fund and the William Babcock Memorial Endowment also have made pledges of $10,000 each to the program, Dermott said.

A New Animal Most Colorful

CHICAGO (UPI) — One of the world's "newest" animals is among the most colorful.

The okapi, which inhabits the Semliki forest of the Congo, was unknown to science until 1900, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, although the animals range to more than five feet tall at the shoulder.

The okapi has a plum colored body. The upper parts of the legs are irregularly striped black and white. The sides of the face are reddish. The shanks are white with black fetlock rings.

Some Advice For Judges On Pleas

DALLAS (UPI) — A Texas federal court judge says state judges should show more care in taking guilty pleas, in appointing counsel for defendants, and in handling procedural appeals at state levels.

U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice told an audience at Southern Methodist University the moves would help silence critics of today's long and often complex appeals procedures and cut the appeals load on federal dockets. Justice said most of the habeas corpus appeals filed with his court deal with alleged errors in guilty pleas taken by state court judges.

Reports Show Courts Doing Less Business

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The total volume of business in California courts showed a slight decrease in the fiscal year 1971-72 for the first time in seven years, the Judicial Council of California reported today.

In its annual report to the governor and legislature, the council said total filings in all state courts were 13.3 million, a drop of one-half per cent from 1970-71, but a 56 per cent increase over 1961-62.

A breakdown by courts showed a 2 per cent increase in State Supreme Court, a 2 per cent drop in the Courts of Appeal, a 1 per cent decline in Superior Courts, an equal number in Municipal Courts, and a 2 per cent increase in Justice Courts.

In response to a 1972 request by the state Senate, the council also reported on a study of the Courts of Appeal.

The council recommended that there be no increase in the number of Courts of Appeal or in the number of locations of such courts at this time.

The council indicated it would not request any additional Court of Appeal judgeships in 1973. However, the council did recommend that additional research attorneys be hired.

The council also reported that it "tentatively approves of the concept of arbitration as a useful mechanism to dispose of small personal injury cases in California's Superior Courts."

It said it was preparing recommendations for "statutory and rule changes needed to effectuate a successful arbitration program."

Reagan Disbands A Coastal Panel

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, expressing "mixed emotions," yesterday disbanded the California Advisory Commission on Marine and Coastal Resources.

The eight-year-old commission voluntarily asked for the termination because of voter approval of the coastal initiative last year which created new statewide and regional commissions.

Reagan, an opponent of the initiative, said the old 28-man commission "is to be commended. The people of the state should be thankful for the expert advice given on the complex problems of ocean and coastal management activities."

Burglary Victim Says Pot Taken

When Stanley Othelma of San Rafael arrived at his Marin Street residence at 11 p.m. last night to find his home had been burglarized, he promptly called police and gave a full account of the theft.

"At the above time and location, a suspect, unknown, forced entry into this residence and removed one color television set and one marijuana cigarette," San Rafael policeman David Johnson later reported.

Nod Given To Project In Sausalito

A commercial development for the Whiskey Springs project in Sausalito, including a 100-room hotel and restaurant, was endorsed last night by the city's Community Appearances Advisory Board.

The commercial area will be located adjacent to 113 residential units which developer Joseph Duffel plans to build on the southern half of the 13-acre American Distillery Company property in Northern Sausalito, according to Sandra Kelty, secretary to the department of public works.

The commercial project will include the hotel, a 150-seat restaurant, some professional office space and 85,000 square feet of commercial space.

Hood Chatham, of the San Francisco architectural firm of Chatham and Schulster, said a list of the types of commercial uses will be included when the plans goes to the city planning commission next Wednesday.

The residential portion of the development calls for 101 two and three-story condominiums, 12 duplex units and a swimming pool on the land, west of Bridgeway near Harbor Drive.

Conservationists Win A Victory In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly today passed a bill by Speaker Bob Moretti to add four environmentalists to the state Lands Commission, which controls off-shore oil drilling operations.

A similar measure by the Van Nuys Democrat was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan last year after opponents warned it would result in a "takeover" of the commission by conservationists.

The current three-member commission includes the lieutenant governor, state controller and state director of finance. Moretti said the three officials are "incredibly busy" and didn't have enough time to carry out their commission duties.

The bill (AB290) was sent to the Senate on a 59-1 vote without debate.

Moretti has criticized the commission for requesting a two-year delay in completing its land inventory and environmental protection plan. He said the commission's tardiness was hindering the legislature's efforts to protect state lands with special environmental qualities.

Trees Are Called Environment Bargain

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — "Trees are probably one of the biggest bargains in our environment," says Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for Texas A&M University's agricultural extension service.

Welch says trees reduce smog and purify the air by acting as dust and pollution filters and by releasing life-giving oxygen into the air. Trees also provide many bird and animal species with food and shelter.

Russians Claim Quakes Predicted

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Soviet scientists said Wednesday they have successfully predicted three moderate temblors in Asia with the use of sophisticated equipment.

The Russians gave that report in a meeting with their American counterparts at the United States Geological Survey's earthquake headquarters in Menlo Park.

Academician M.A. Sadovsky, leader of the three-man Russian team that visited the center said Soviet scientists were "very optimistic" that earthquake predictions will become a reliable tool in the near future.

Dean Martin Marries Again

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Dean Martin married his girlfriend of two years, Cathy Hawn, in a small ceremony Wednesday evening attended by close show business friends, the bride's small daughter and four of Martin's children.

"Best wedding I've ever been to," commented the easygoing singer afterwards.

Frank Sinatra was the best man.

It was the third marriage for Martin, 55, who separated from his wife of 22 years, Jeanne Biegger, in 1969, and the second for Miss Hawn, 25. Her 6-year-old daughter, Sasha, was the flower girl.

CATALYTIC CONVERTER CHECKED

Los Angeles County Supervisor Jim Hayes (left) and Ernest Starkman, vice president in charge of General Motors' environmental activities, yesterday examined a cut-away model of a catalytic emission converter of the type to be tested for 12 to 15 months on five Los Angeles County cars. Such field tests are to determine if the GM device can meet the emission standards set by the federal Environmental Protection Agency for 1974 model cars to be sold in California.

Tiburon Center Receives Grant For Training

The Marin Child Development Center of Tiburon has received an $11,800 grant from the San Francisco Foundation, completing funding to launch a paraprofessional training program at the center, according to Dr. Robert Dermott, president of center directors.

The program is designed to solve the shortage of paraprofessional workers in the county as well as at the Marin Child Development Center. Trainees will be taught to work as aides to therapist-teachers of children with emotional and neurological problems, said Dermott.

Trainee candidates will be screened by the Marin Volunteer Bureau in San Rafael.

The C.H. Cowell Fund and the William Babcock Memorial Endowment also have made pledges of $10,000 each to the program, Dermott said.

A New Animal Most Colorful

CHICAGO (UPI) — One of the world's "newest" animals is among the most colorful.

The okapi, which inhabits the Semliki forest of the Congo, was unknown to science until 1900, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, although the animals range to more than five feet tall at the shoulder.

The okapi has a plum colored body. The upper parts of the legs are irregularly striped black and white. The sides of the face are reddish. The shanks are white with black fetlock rings.

Some Advice For Judges On Pleas

DALLAS (UPI) — A Texas federal court judge says state judges should show more care in taking guilty pleas, in appointing counsel for defendants, and in handling procedural appeals at state levels.

U.S. District Court Judge William Wayne Justice told an audience at Southern Methodist University the moves would help silence critics of today's long and often complex appeals procedures and cut the appeals load on federal dockets. Justice said most of the habeas corpus appeals filed with his court deal with alleged errors in guilty pleas taken by state court judges.

Reports Show Courts Doing Less Business

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The total volume of business in California courts showed a slight decrease in the fiscal year 1971-72 for the first time in seven years, the Judicial Council of California reported today.

In its annual report to the governor and legislature, the council said total filings in all state courts were 13.3 million, a drop of one-half per cent from 1970-71, but a 56 per cent increase over 1961-62.

A breakdown by courts showed a 2 per cent increase in State Supreme Court, a 2 per cent drop in the Courts of Appeal, a 1 per cent decline in Superior Courts, an equal number in Municipal Courts, and a 2 per cent increase in Justice Courts.

In response to a 1972 request by the state Senate, the council also reported on a study of the Courts of Appeal.

The council recommended that there be no increase in the number of Courts of Appeal or in the number of locations of such courts at this time.

The council indicated it would not request any additional Court of Appeal judgeships in 1973. However, the council did recommend that additional research attorneys be hired.

The council also reported that it "tentatively approves of the concept of arbitration as a useful mechanism to dispose of small personal injury cases in California's Superior Courts."

It said it was preparing recommendations for "statutory and rule changes needed to effectuate a successful arbitration program."

Reagan Disbands A Coastal Panel

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, expressing "mixed emotions," yesterday disbanded the California Advisory Commission on Marine and Coastal Resources.

The eight-year-old commission voluntarily asked for the termination because of voter approval of the coastal initiative last year which created new statewide and regional commissions.

Reagan, an opponent of the initiative, said the old 28-man commission "is to be commended. The people of the state should be thankful for the expert advice given on the complex problems of ocean and coastal management activities."

Burglary Victim Says Pot Taken

When Stanley Othelma of San Rafael arrived at his Marin Street residence at 11 p.m. last night to find his home had been burglarized, he promptly called police and gave a full account of the theft.

"At the above time and location, a suspect, unknown, forced entry into this residence and removed one color television set and one marijuana cigarette," San Rafael policeman David Johnson later reported.

Nod Given To Project In Sausalito

A commercial development for the Whiskey Springs project in Sausalito, including a 100-room hotel and restaurant, was endorsed last night by the city's Community Appearances Advisory Board.

The commercial area will be located adjacent to 113 residential units which developer Joseph Duffel plans to build on the southern half of the 13-acre American Distillery Company property in Northern Sausalito, according to Sandra Kelty, secretary to the department of public works.

The commercial project will include the hotel, a 150-seat restaurant, some professional office space and 85,000 square feet of commercial space.

Hood Chatham, of the San Francisco architectural firm of Chatham and Schulster, said a list of the types of commercial uses will be included when the plans goes to the city planning commission next Wednesday.

The residential portion of the development calls for 101 two and three-story condominiums, 12 duplex units and a swimming pool on the land, west of Bridgeway near Harbor Drive.

Bolinas District Given Choice On Regulation Of Septic Tanks

To pioneer or to play it safe? These were the choices given directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District last night by George J. Silvestri Jr., deputy county counsel, in a lengthy legal opinion on a proposed ordinance regulating septic tanks and projects affecting drainage in the district.

The ordinance, said Silvestri, would be the first of its kind in the state and would almost certainly draw a lawsuit testing its legality if enacted by the district alone.

The knottiest legal problem, he said, is whether the state public utilities act gives utility districts power to regulate drainage affecting privately owned septic tanks as well as the recognized powers to control drainage affecting public facilities.

"However," he said, "although we (county counsel's office) cannot find a specific authority for it, we can't find a specific authority against it either, and we would not stand in your way."

A safer path, Silvestri suggested, would be to sign a joint powers agreement with the county. The district would then act under the county's recognized health and safety powers, although whether the directors could get "everything you want" in the new ordinance would be up to the board of supervisors.

After listening to Silvestri and discussing alternatives for two hours, the board was divided. Mark Ireland and Marguerite Harris said they reluctantly favor the joint powers agreement. Orville Shell and Gregory Hewlitt chose the go-it-alone route. Chairman William E. Niman voiced no opinion.

Supporting his conviction that the district does have power to enforce the ordinance Shell read a letter from the state Water Quality Control Board.

The letter stated that as part of conditions for certification of a grant, the district must submit a program for "surveillance of new and existing septic tank systems and correction of any future failure" and "adoption of all needed ordinances or regulations by the county and/or the district to provide the necessary authority to carry out the proper septic tank system control program."

Shell then moved and board voted unanimously to postpone action for one week "in order to see what reactions we get (from the board of supervisors) on requesting state legislation which clarifies the power of utility districts in relation to septic tanks."

Among other problems if the Bolinas district chooses to enact its own ordinance, Silvestri cited duplication of districts and county permits and fees for septic tanks, grading, fills and excavations which could constitute "preemption of county authority."

His suggestion for the joint powersagreement with the district acting under William Desmond, the county environmental health officer, was met by instant objections from the board and from members of the audience.

Among charges against Desmond were that he permitted perculation tests to be made in the dry season instead of during winter rains when the water table was high and that proper inspection of septic tank installations was not made.

"Desmond wants sewers on Bolinas Mesa. We want septic tanks, and we want to prove they can work" declared Hewlitt.

"All the joint powers agreement means," said Ireland "is that we would be a minor hurdle to be leap-frogged." He later said he favors the agreement "in utmost cynicism after hearing these words from over the hill."

The Bolinas Public Utilities District board also:

WATER — Heard a preliminary report on long-range water plans by William J. Oswald, professor of sanitary engineering at the University of California at Berkeley, and Lorne E. Swanson, engineer, that recommended alternatives were a combination of the existing Arroyo Honda Dams and a small upper dam on unpurchased land, or a dam on Pine Gulch Creek in Paradise Valley.

BEACH — Voted 4 to 1, with Harris opposing, to ask the county park and recreation department to close the parking lot at agate beach and begin a shuttle bus service because of traffic problems through town.

GRANT — Unanimously passed a technical resolution which, according to district Secretary Lyman Robinson, was part of the paper work required in applying for federal grant.

Lifesavers Raise $475

Publicity chairman Judy Yost said a similar booth is planned at an upcoming fair in Mill Valley.

The group next meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuedsay at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

Accident Victim's Condition Is Good

Joseph A. Perry, 19, of 946 Fifth Street, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with arm cuts suffered in a two car accident at 10:40 p.m. yesterday on Petaluma Boulevard North near Highway 101, Petaluma.

Police had no details of the accident, but said his car collided with a car driven by Sidney D. Wallenstein, 23, of 8173 Arthur Street, Cotati.

THOSE DAYS ARE OVER

Maj. Robert D. Jeffrey and his wife, Joy, get to smile quite a lot these days — his days as a North Vietnamese prisoner of war are over. The latest smiles come from two letters he wrote while a POW which were mailed from Hanoi in March and arrived at the Jeffrey residence in Dallas recently. The stamps on them depict animals, a POW and U.S. aircraft being shot down.

Bolinas District Given Choice On Regulation Of Septic Tanks

To pioneer or to play it safe? These were the choices given directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District last night by George J. Silvestri Jr., deputy county counsel, in a lengthy legal opinion on a proposed ordinance regulating septic tanks and projects affecting drainage in the district.

The ordinance, said Silvestri, would be the first of its kind in the state and would almost certainly draw a lawsuit testing its legality if enacted by the district alone.

The knottiest legal problem, he said, is whether the state public utilities act gives utility districts power to regulate drainage affecting privately owned septic tanks as well as the recognized powers to control drainage affecting public facilities.

"However," he said, "although we (county counsel's office) cannot find a specific authority for it, we can't find a specific authority against it either, and we would not stand in your way."

A safer path, Silvestri suggested, would be to sign a joint powers agreement with the county. The district would then act under the county's recognized health and safety powers, although whether the directors could get "everything you want" in the new ordinance would be up to the board of supervisors.

After listening to Silvestri and discussing alternatives for two hours, the board was divided. Mark Ireland and Marguerite Harris said they reluctantly favor the joint powers agreement. Orville Shell and Gregory Hewlitt chose the go-it-alone route. Chairman William E. Niman voiced no opinion.

Supporting his conviction that the district does have power to enforce the ordinance Shell read a letter from the state Water Quality Control Board.

The letter stated that as part of conditions for certification of a grant, the district must submit a program for "surveillance of new and existing septic tank systems and correction of any future failure" and "adoption of all needed ordinances or regulations by the county and/or the district to provide the necessary authority to carry out the proper septic tank system control program."

Shell then moved and board voted unanimously to postpone action for one week "in order to see what reactions we get (from the board of supervisors) on requesting state legislation which clarifies the power of utility districts in relation to septic tanks."

Among other problems if the Bolinas district chooses to enact its own ordinance, Silvestri cited duplication of districts and county permits and fees for septic tanks, grading, fills and excavations which could constitute "preemption of county authority."

His suggestion for the joint powersagreement with the district acting under William Desmond, the county environmental health officer, was met by instant objections from the board and from members of the audience.

Among charges against Desmond were that he permitted perculation tests to be made in the dry season instead of during winter rains when the water table was high and that proper inspection of septic tank installations was not made.

"Desmond wants sewers on Bolinas Mesa. We want septic tanks, and we want to prove they can work" declared Hewlitt.

"All the joint powers agreement means," said Ireland "is that we would be a minor hurdle to be leap-frogged." He later said he favors the agreement "in utmost cynicism after hearing these words from over the hill."

The Bolinas Public Utilities District board also:

WATER — Heard a preliminary report on long-range water plans by William J. Oswald, professor of sanitary engineering at the University of California at Berkeley, and Lorne E. Swanson, engineer, that recommended alternatives were a combination of the existing Arroyo Honda Dams and a small upper dam on unpurchased land, or a dam on Pine Gulch Creek in Paradise Valley.

BEACH — Voted 4 to 1, with Harris opposing, to ask the county park and recreation department to close the parking lot at agate beach and begin a shuttle bus service because of traffic problems through town.

GRANT — Unanimously passed a technical resolution which, according to district Secretary Lyman Robinson, was part of the paper work required in applying for federal grant.

Lifesavers Raise $475

Publicity chairman Judy Yost said a similar booth is planned at an upcoming fair in Mill Valley.

Accident Victim's Condition Is Good

Joseph A. Perry, 19, of 946 Fifth Street, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with arm cuts suffered in a two car accident at 10:40 p.m. yesterday on Petaluma Boulevard North near Highway 101, Petaluma.

Police had no details of the accident, but said his car collided with a car driven by Sidney D. Wallenstein, 23, of 8173 Arthur Street, Cotati.

DOBBIN DOES GOOD DEED

This intelligent looking creature, to which walking is no novelty, made the rounds of Ross yesterday to publicize Sunday's Marin Hike for Health to begin at 10:30 a.m. at the College of Marin gymnasium in Kentfield. The 20-mile charity hike is to benefit Project Hope and the Marin Charitable Foundation. Riding and not walking yesterday (tsk, tsk) were Cary Dakin and Randy Dupen.

Delay Given For Bedayan Murder Plea

A Marin Superior Court judge today rejected a legal challenge to the grand jury indictment charging 22-year-old Brent William Bedayan with murdering three members of the Schallock family in Mill Valley last month.

After turning down the challenge, Judge David Menary Jr. considered forcing Bedayan to enter an innocent plea, but ultimately gave Public Defender Frank J. Cox until May 7 to research the possibility of a multiple plea.

If a criminal defendant pleads both innocent and innocent by reason of insanity, he is first tried to determine guilt or innocence, then a second trial is held to find out if he is sane.

Menary declined to set bail for Bedayan, who has been in Marin County Jail since his arrest March 17, the day after Melvin Schallock, 61, his wife, Ruth, 56, and their son, Daniel, 19, were found slain by shotgun blasts outside their home at 217 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley.

Cox had sought to have the indictment March 28 ruled invalid on the ground the closed proceeding denied him the right to confront his accusers, present a defense and be present with his attorney.

Despite the claims in Cox's demurrer, appeals courts have consistently upheld the validity of such grand jury indictments.

Deputy Dist. Atty. George Nock mildly opposed any further delay of pleading and Menary appeared ready to make Bedayan plead today. "If you are not going to enter a plea, I will enter one for you," the judge told Cox.

However, Cox countered, "a week or 10 days isn't so important as for us to do the thing right."

Proposed Super-Agency Under Fire

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday roundly criticized a proposal to consolidate the departments of planning, public works and parks and recreation in a single agency.

The commission set a special meeting for today at 8 p.m. in the parks department office at Civic Center to develop arguments against the reorganization proposal, to be considered Tuesday by county supervisors.

The reorganization was developed by County Administrator John F. Barrows who has maintained it will improve efficiency and reduce duplication.

Commissioner Albert J. Boro questioned Barrows's reasoning yesterday, saying the merging of departments would reduce staff morale and that if there were problems with efficiency and duplication it was the administrator's fault since he oversees the operation of county government.

Herber C. Leney agreed saying the reorganization would destroy the county's parks program.

Others voiced similar opinions, summed up near the end by Commissioner Merritt A. Robinson who said he thinks "efficiency is in the integrity of the department."

In other action, the commission endorsed the state Department of Parks and Recreation's request for about $200,000 in state funds to preserve Camp Reynolds on Angel Island.

Parks Director Pierre W. Joske said the historic Army camp structures are rapidly deteriorating and are in need of repair.

The commission also recommended against a proposal from a committee of the Marin Conservation League that the county place an open space bond measure before voters to supplement regional parks district funds in acquisition of open space lands.

Cleanup Warning To Waterfront Owner

The owner of a large chunk of Sausalito's waterfront has been warned that the city may institute nuisance abatement proceedings aganist him if he does not clean up portions of his property.

The admonition to Donlon J. Arques about conditions at his holdings in Gate 3, was contained in a letter Tuesday from Fire Chief Robert Quayle.

"Over the past several years, numerous attempts have been made to have you remove numerous fire and life hazards that have existed, and still exist on your property in Marinship," the chief wrote.

Quayle said Arques has failed to respond to city requests that he do something about accummulations of trash and debris, illegal houseboats and rotting and dilapidated structures on the land which extends roughly from behind the Big G Market south to Nevada Street and includes about nine acres of dry land and 13 of water.

Quayle told the Independent-Journal he will ask the city attorney to set in motion nuisance abatement proceedings if Arques fails to reply to the letter within 10 days. A similar missive, written last August, went unanswered for many months and then little or nothing was done, according to Quayle.

The Chief said that old shipbuilding ways, which slope down to the water at Gate 3 are so dilapidated that no one can walk on them and they must be repaired or removed.

Quayle also reported that a number of persons "appear to be living" in collapsing sheds and buildings "not fit for human habitation," some of them located on an old dilapidated pier once used by a fish company.

The chief informed Arques that deckings and underpinnings at Marinship Yacht Harbor are rotten and must be replaced, that debris and "accummulated waste" must be cleared and that several houseboats moored along the shore must be moved because they lack sewer connections.

Arques and his attorney, Hugh Lawrence, could not be reached for comment.

If the property owner does not respond within the stated period, the chief will ask for a hearing before the city council to decide whether the land should be declared a nuisance.

Recently Arques announced his intention to sell the 22 acres at Gate 3 for $2.7 million. No buyer has yet been found.

Pilots Uninjured In Plane Crash

LEAGUE CITY, Tex. (UPI) — A space agency airplane crash-landed in a pasture, slid about 100 yards and broke in half Wednesday. Two Space Center staff pilots aboard escaped serious injury.

The plane, a twin-engine Army OV1C Mohawk, was used in the earth resources experiments, but a Space Center spokesman said it was not loaded with any of the experimental equipment it normally carries.

Officials said the cause of the crash, which occurred a few miles from the Space Center, was not known.

College Board Studies Salary Hike Requests From Employees

The Marin Community College District board last night received requests for 10 and 6 per cent cost-of-living salary increases from the two unions representing classified employees at the College of Marin.

Fred Hibberd, classified personnel officer, said trustees disagreed when a representative of the North Bay Public Employees Union, local 400 (AFL-CIO) claimed the cost of living had gone up 4.9 per cent in the last quarter.

Trustees felt that the claim was exaggerated, said Hibberd, since it would mean nearly a 20 per cent yearly rise.

Dennis Bregante, president of Chapter 196 of the California School Employees Association, which represents about 65 employees of the college's 135 classified personnel, presented his organization's requests for the 1973-74 school year.

He asked for a 6 per cent cost-of-living raise, a 2.5 per cent shift differential for swing, and graveyard shifts and weekend work and district-supplied raingear for employees required to work outdoors.

The chapter also wants a change in the district's sick leave policy so that female employees can use sick leave for conditions related to pregnancy.

(Hibberd reported that he advised Bregante that this is already required by law.)

Bregante also requested up to one year's leave without pay for classified employees for education and professional reasons, and 48 hours release time a year for the conduct of chapter business.

An off-campus representative for the AFL-CIO affiliated North Bay Employees Assn., which represents about 20 employes, asked for "inequity corrections" which would raise the salaries of groundsmen, the pool maintenance man, the watchmen and the security officers, and asked for the prevailing rates of pay for craft workers and maintenance mechanics.

The union asked for a cost-of-living increase of 10 per cent, a night differential of 10 per cent for custodians, twice monthly paydays instead of the preent monthly pay, a paid prescription drug plan, uniforms and protective clothing, and a grievance procedure to take care of employees' problems.

The board meeting was a workshop session, and no action was taken. The North Bay Employees Association also asked for a "meet and confer" session with Supt. John A. Grasham on May 8 to present substantiation of their requests, said Hibberd.

Paraguay Paid High War Price

In the War of the Triple Alliance, according to Encyclopedia Britannica, Paraguay lost more than half of its population, including nearly 90 per cent of its men. Of perhaps 250,000 male Paraguayans in 1864, only 28,000 remained when the five-year conflict ended.

A Painting Of State's Exact Center Presented

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan was presented Wednesday with a painting of the exact center of California, located atop a scenic hill in Madera County.

The oil landscape contains small bits of actual leaves, twigs and dirt found at the state's center. The organic material was mixed into the paints in a process called "inorac" which was created by the artist, Constance Proschold.

After years of debate over where the precise geographical middle of California was located, Madera County paid $1,837 for elaborate mathematical computations to pinpoint the center.

DOBBIN DOES GOOD DEED

This intelligent looking creature, to which walking is no novelty, made the rounds of Ross yesterday to publicize Sunday's Marin Hike for Health to begin at 10:30 a.m. at the College of Marin gymnasium in Kentfield. The 20-mile charity hike is to benefit Project Hope and the Marin Charitable Foundation. Riding and not walking yesterday (tsk, tsk) were Cary Dakin and Randy Dupen.

Delay Given For Bedayan Murder Plea

A Marin Superior Court judge today rejected a legal challenge to the grand jury indictment charging 22-year-old Brent William Bedayan with murdering three members of the Schallock family in Mill Valley last month.

After turning down the challenge, Judge David Menary Jr. considered forcing Bedayan to enter an innocent plea, but ultimately gave Public Defender Frank J. Cox until May 7 to research the possibility of a multiple plea.

If a criminal defendant pleads both innocent and innocent by reason of insanity, he is first tried to determine guilt or innocence, then a second trial is held to find out if he is sane.

Menary declined to set bail for Bedayan, who has been in Marin County Jail since his arrest March 17, the day after Melvin Schallock, 61, his wife, Ruth, 56, and their son, Daniel, 19, were found slain by shotgun blasts outside their home at 217 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley.

Cox had sought to have the indictment March 28 ruled invalid on the ground the closed proceeding denied him the right to confront his accusers, present a defense and be present with his attorney.

Despite the claims in Cox's demurrer, appeals courts have consistently upheld the validity of such grand jury indictments.

Deputy Dist. Atty. George Nock mildly opposed any further delay of pleading and Menary appeared ready to make Bedayan plead today. "If you are not going to enter a plea, I will enter one for you," the judge told Cox.

However, Cox countered, "a week or 10 days isn't so important as for us to do the thing right."

Proposed Super-Agency Under Fire

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday roundly criticized a proposal to consolidate the departments of planning, public works and parks and recreation in a single agency.

The commission set a special meeting for today at 8 p.m. in the parks department office at Civic Center to develop arguments against the reorganization proposal, to be considered Tuesday by county supervisors.

The reorganization was developed by County Administrator John F. Barrows who has maintained it will improve efficiency and reduce duplication.

Commissioner Albert J. Boro questioned Barrows's reasoning yesterday, saying the merging of departments would reduce staff morale and that if there were problems with efficiency and duplication it was the administrator's fault since he oversees the operation of county government.

Herber C. Leney agreed saying the reorganization would destroy the county's parks program.

Others voiced similar opinions, summed up near the end by Commissioner Merritt A. Robinson who said he thinks "efficiency is in the integrity of the department."

In other action, the commission endorsed the state Department of Parks and Recreation's request for about $200,000 in state funds to preserve Camp Reynolds on Angel Island.

Parks Director Pierre W. Joske said the historic Army camp structures are rapidly deteriorating and are in need of repair.

The commission also recommended against a proposal from a committee of the Marin Conservation League that the county place an open space bond measure before voters to supplement regional parks district funds in acquisition of open space lands.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Demos Gear For A Showdown On Reagan's Tax Return Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democrats have taken the first step toward a potential ballot showdown with Gov. Ronald Reagan over return of the state's projected $852 million surplus to taxpayers.

Among other things, the proposed constitutional amendment calls for granting a $75 refund to every Californian 18 and older who paid state taxes this year.

Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalvez of La Mirada, chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee and a lieutenant of Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, said the measure (ACA62) was introduced yesterday for use in case Reagan and the lawmakers cannot resolve their differences over how to spend the sum.

In his proposed ballot initiative to limit state taxation, Reagan has included a provision to grant a one-time 20 per cent rebate to income taxpayers next April 15. Reagan supporters have termed this a "sweetener" to encourage voter approval of the entire tax limit plan.

The governor plans to call a special statewide election for Nov. 6 on the initiative. If the legislature went along, the Democratic alternative would be placed on the ballot side-by-side with Reagan's.

Gonsalves, stressing the measure he introduced was strictly a "spot" proposal requiring extensive refinement, told newsmen the plan to refund the surplus would "take the carrot out of the governor's tax initiative."

Democrats have discussed the possibility of sponsoring their own initiative but have abandoned the idea. "There is no way we could raise the money to match him (Reagan) financially with a counterinitiative," Moretti said.

The proposed constitutional amendment in addition to granting state taxpayers a $75 refund, which is subject to revision, also would give the legislature unlimited authority to increase taxes for property tax relief purposes.

The governor's proposal would restrict the legislature's authority to increase taxes beyond a specific limit without voter approval. Reagan has said the measure would reduce the total tax burden by 20 per cent over the next 15 years.

"I want to be prepared in case we need a constitutional amendment on the ballot, too" Gonsalves said. Such a measure would not require the governor's signature but would take a two-thirds favorable vote of each house before it could be placed on the ballot.

In a related development, the Assembly Ways and Means Committee voted 12-6 approval to a Democratic-sponsored bill to use up the surplus by delaying the scheduled June 1 sales tax increase until July 1, 1974. The vote split along party lines.

Republican Assemblymen William T. Bagley of San Rafael and Paul Priolo of Pacific Palisades both warned the author, Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, that Reagan was sure to veto the bill if it reached his desk.

In an attempt to make the bill more palatable to Republicans, Cory added an amendment to provide a $100 million rebate to income taxpayers if such funds remained as surplus after the sales tax delay.

Trees Toppled

Six trees were smashed to the ground along Skylark Drive last night, said Larkspur police, who found the trees lying on the sidewalk at 11:30 p.m., after a resident complained about the vandalism.

The amendment proposed excluding from taxation $350 on a single person's gross income or $750 on a joint return. Aides said on a joint return, this would save $21 for a couple earning $100,000 and $28 for a couple earning $15,000.

Reagan is sponsoring his own separate surplus rebate bill which was rejected by Gonsalves' committee earlier. That measure called for delaying the tax increase until Jan. 1 and granting a one-time 20 per cent income tax rebate next year.

CENSURE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Republican senator has introduced a measure condemning the "mouthings of Jane Fonda and her ilk" and declaring the legislature's belief in POW statements that they were tortured.

Sen. John Stull of Leucadia yesterday submitted the resolution (SCR44) which would "censure those persons who would have the American public believe the statements of our enemies."

ANIMALS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — At the urging of a woman carrying a bigger-than-life stuffed dog, the state Board of Health has decided to allow animals on certain California beaches.

The board yesterday modified its proposal to prohibit animals from designated swimming beaches that had lifeguards. Members apqared intent on approving the new regulations when confronted by Evelyn Tallman of Arroyo Grande.

"You'll notice I have him on a leash," Mrs. Tallman declared as she lugged her three-foot-high purple and white stuffed dog to the podium. She said the toy had been her constant companion during a six-week signature drive in opposition to the proposed prohibition.

A SENDOFF

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican John G. Veneman got a $45,000 sendoff to a probable campaign for lieutenant governor last night at a $100-per-plate "welcome back" dinner featuring former HEW secretaries Elliot L. Richardson and Robert H. Finch.

Veneman, a state assemblyman from Modesto before he became U.S. undersecretary of health, education and welfare in 1969, gave every indication at the political fund-raising banquet he intends to seek the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in 1974.

Richardson, now president Nixon's defense secretary, was the main speaker at the banquet attended by an estimated 450 persons. He was introduced by former Lt. Gov. Finch who is maneuvering to run either for governor of the U.S. Senate next year.

PLAN HIT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure officially opening almost all Senate committee meetings to the public has stalled in the Senate after a lawmaker said it could prove to be a "handicap."

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, yesterday argued the resolution would open up meetings of the entire Senate as a "committee of the whole."

Such meetings are customarily held behind closed doors to consider such sensitive subjects as leadership changes, reapportionment and more routine "housekeeping items." Currently most regular committee meetings are held in public.

Dills said by allowing the public to attend committees of the whole, "we would be handicapping ourselves. We ought to protect our right to legislate."

The resolution (SR35) by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, would make that practice official and permit exceptions to the rule, such as for meetings on personnel matters, administrative functions or meetings of party caucuses.

Mills agreed to delay a vote on the measure until Dills had time to draw up amendments to the measure.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Demos Gear For A Showdown On Reagan's Tax Return Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democrats have taken the first step toward a potential ballot showdown with Gov. Ronald Reagan over return of the state's projected $852 million surplus to taxpayers.

Among other things, the proposed constitutional amendment calls for granting a $75 refund to every Californian 18 and older who paid state taxes this year.

Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalvez of La Mirada, chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee and a lieutenant of Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, said the measure (ACA62) was introduced yesterday for use in case Reagan and the lawmakers cannot resolve their differences over how to spend the sum.

In his proposed ballot initiative to limit state taxation, Reagan has included a provision to grant a one-time 20 per cent rebate to income taxpayers next April 15. Reagan supporters have termed this a "sweetener" to encourage voter approval of the entire tax limit plan.

The governor plans to call a special statewide election for Nov. 6 on the initiative. If the legislature went along, the Democratic alternative would be placed on the ballot side-by-side with Reagan's.

Gonsalves, stressing the measure he introduced was strictly a "spot" proposal requiring extensive refinement, told newsmen the plan to refund the surplus would "take the carrot out of the governor's tax initiative."

Democrats have discussed the possibility of sponsoring their own initiative but have abandoned the idea. "There is no way we could raise the money to match him (Reagan) financially with a counterinitiative," Moretti said.

The proposed constitutional amendment in addition to granting state taxpayers a $75 refund, which is subject to revision, also would give the legislature unlimited authority to increase taxes for property tax relief purposes.

The governor's proposal would restrict the legislature's authority to increase taxes beyond a specific limit without voter approval. Reagan has said the measure would reduce the total tax burden by 20 per cent over the next 15 years.

"I want to be prepared in case we need a constitutional amendment on the ballot, too" Gonsalves said. Such a measure would not require the governor's signature but would take a two-thirds favorable vote of each house before it could be placed on the ballot.

In a related development, the Assembly Ways and Means Committee voted 12-6 approval to a Democratic-sponsored bill to use up the surplus by delaying the scheduled June 1 sales tax increase until July 1, 1974. The vote split along party lines.

Republican Assemblymen William T. Bagley of San Rafael and Paul Priolo of Pacific Palisades both warned the author, Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, that Reagan was sure to veto the bill if it reached his desk.

In an attempt to make the bill more palatable to Republicans, Cory added an amendment to provide a $100 million rebate to income taxpayers if such funds remained as surplus after the sales tax delay.

Trees Toppled

Six trees were smashed to the ground along Skylark Drive last night, said Larkspur police, who found the trees lying on the sidewalk at 11:30 p.m., after a resident complained about the vandalism.

CENSURE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Republican senator has introduced a measure condemning the "mouthings of Jane Fonda and her ilk" and declaring the legislature's belief in POW statements that they were tortured.

Sen. John Stull of Leucadia yesterday submitted the resolution (SCR44) which would "censure those persons who would have the American public believe the statements of our enemies."

ANIMALS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — At the urging of a woman carrying a bigger-than-life stuffed dog, the state Board of Health has decided to allow animals on certain California beaches.

The board yesterday modified its proposal to prohibit animals from designated swimming beaches that had lifeguards. Members apqared intent on approving the new regulations when confronted by Evelyn Tallman of Arroyo Grande.

"You'll notice I have him on a leash," Mrs. Tallman declared as she lugged her three-foot-high purple and white stuffed dog to the podium. She said the toy had been her constant companion during a six-week signature drive in opposition to the proposed prohibition.

A SENDOFF

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican John G. Veneman got a $45,000 sendoff to a probable campaign for lieutenant governor last night at a $100-per-plate "welcome back" dinner featuring former HEW secretaries Elliot L. Richardson and Robert H. Finch.

Veneman, a state assemblyman from Modesto before he became U.S. undersecretary of health, education and welfare in 1969, gave every indication at the political fund-raising banquet he intends to seek the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in 1974.

Richardson, now president Nixon's defense secretary, was the main speaker at the banquet attended by an estimated 450 persons. He was introduced by former Lt. Gov. Finch who is maneuvering to run either for governor of the U.S. Senate next year.

PLAN HIT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure officially opening almost all Senate committee meetings to the public has stalled in the Senate after a lawmaker said it could prove to be a "handicap."

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, yesterday argued the resolution would open up meetings of the entire Senate as a "committee of the whole."

Such meetings are customarily held behind closed doors to consider such sensitive subjects as leadership changes, reapportionment and more routine "housekeeping items." Currently most regular committee meetings are held in public.

Dills said by allowing the public to attend committees of the whole, "we would be handicapping ourselves. We ought to protect our right to legislate."

The resolution (SR35) by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, would make that practice official and permit exceptions to the rule, such as for meetings on personnel matters, administrative functions or meetings of party caucuses.

Mills agreed to delay a vote on the measure until Dills had time to draw up amendments to the measure.

Parachini To Receive Eagle Rank

Carlo Parachini, a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo, will receive the eagle rank, the highest rank in scouting, in Court of Honor during May.

For his Eagle Scout project, Parachini, 17, coached a senior league baseball team in San Anselmo and helped train players in the little league.

He completed 22 nature and conservation projects as a member of Troop 6 in San Anselmo at Camp Tamarancho, Fort Baker and Scout Hall and five community projects at Sorich Park and Robson Park in San Anselmo.

He also helped the Cedar Scouts, a group of handicapped youngsters, in reading the compass twice a year for five years and in 1969 was in charge of Troop 6 for a week at Marin-Sierra Summer Camp. He has attended the Philmount Boy Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

He has been a Cub Scout Pack 5, a member of the Order of the Arrows and Explorer Post 15, the San Anselmo Ascenders. He now is a junior assistant scoutmaster for Troop 6.

Parachini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Parachini of 120 Sycamore Avenue, has played football at Drake High School and is a member of the varsity baseball squad. He enjoys hiking, rock climbing, swimming, camping and fishing. He plans to attend College of Marin in the fall.

Zero Population Growth Is Seen A Long Way Off

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — The chairman of the National Board of Zero Population Growth says the U. S. will not achieve population stability until the year 2030, even though it has achieved a two child per family birth rate.

Willard Johnson said Wednesday that immigration and an increase in the number of child-bearing families from the post-World War II baby boom is swelling the American population.

"If we decrease immigration from 400,000 to 40,000 per year in the United States and lower the birth rate to 1.25 children per family," he said, "we could reach population stability by 1990."

Actor Is Hit With A Dog Biting Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Actor Fess Parker has been sued for $50,000 by a truck driver who said he was bitten by Parker's dogs while making a bread delivery to his Santa Barbara home.

Marvin L. Martin, 47, said Wednesday in his Superior Court action that he was bitten March 29 by two German shepherd dogs while he was trying to find the delivery entrance at the home.

Open Houses Set For Postal Week

Post offices throughout Marin and Southern Sonoma counties will observe Postal Week next week with varied types of observances.

All post offices will sell first-day-of-issue stamps Monday. The 10 designs of 8-cent stamps depicting postal people will remain on sale during the week Monday through May 5.

All post offices will be decorated with special posters during the week.

Novato Post Office will be the first post office to observe the week, starting with an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, one day before the official postal week. Refreshments will be served and postal employees will take visitors on a tour of the facility. Souvenir envelopes will be given to the visitors until the supply is gone.

San Rafael Post Office will have open house from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday with guided tours of the main postal facilities starting every half hour. Souvenir envelopes will be given both at the main post office, but also at all branch post offices until the supply is gone.

Mill Valley Post Office will have open house from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday at the main post office and from 10 a.m. to noon at the postal annex.

Belvedere-Tiburon Post Office will have open house from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday.

Corte Madera Post Office will have open house from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m . May 4.

Petaluma Post Office will conduct tours of their facilities at various times during the week. Persons interested in the tours may find out the times from the post office.

Sausalito Post Office has added a personal touch by putting up pictures of all of its employees to supplement the posters in the lobby.

Voters In Terra Linda Posted Highest Turnout

San Rafael's new Terra Linda annexation turned out a slightly higher percentage of voters in the municipal election than did the city as a whole, a breakdown prepared today by Peter C. Meyer, county elections officer, disclosed.

The Terra Linda annexation, where residents were eligible for the first time to vote on city council candidates and charter amendments, had a 42.2 per cent turnout of registered voters. For the whole city, the turnout was 41 per cent.

Two Lucas Valley precincts within the city also slightly topped the city-wide turnout, with 41.6 per cent. But the older in-city portion of Terra Linda had only 36.8 per cent of its registered voters at the polls.

Heaviest turnouts were in East San Rafael, Meyer's figures showed. Glenwood-Peacock Gap precincts had almost a majority casting votes — 49.4 per cent. The rest of East San Rafael had a 48.1 per cent turnout. In contrast was the voting at the San Rafael High School precinct, which includes the area from Mission Avenue to the bend of the canal. There, only 32.7 per cent voted.

Poorest turnout was in the Canal apartment area, where barely one of five registered voters — 20.1 per cent — went to the polls.

West End precincts had a 40.7 per cent turnout. That in the Dominican area was 38.1 per cent. In the area south of Mission Avenue to the Larkspur city limits, exclusive of the high school precinct, the turnout was a mere 29.5 per cent.

Oregon Ratifies 14th Amendment

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon legislators, taking a better late than never attitude, Wednesday ratified the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

They acted 105 years after the amendment, which guarantees equal protection under the law, became part of the Constitution.

The Oregon Legislature originally ratified the amendment in 1866, but rescinded its action two years later. Lawmakers decided to rectify that change-of-mind this year.

23-Year-Old Is Bound Over A Second Time

A 23-year-old San Anselmo man has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a felony charge for the second time in a week.

Municipal Court Judge Gary W. Thomas Tuesday ordered Flynn William Harris to appear May 7 on a burglary charge. A week ago Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered him held for trial on a felony charge of trying to pass a forged check.

The forgery charge stemmed from an attempt to cash a check for $62 belonging to Robert Finn of San Rafael March 19. On April 6, he was again arrested by San Rafael police after witnesses identified him as the man that peeled off metal siding of the Golden West Glass Co. at 915 Lincoln Avenue.

Justice Unit Is Told About Revamping

Chief probation officer John W. Brewer has told members of the Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission he has reservations about a proposed reorganization to lump his department with welfare and health.

According to Commissioner Jody Becker, Brewer said Tuesday he would prefer to see his department remain linked to the criminal justice system under the courts, as opposed to social services such as welfare and health.

The county administrator and an ad hoc committee appointed by county supervisors have both recommended probation be consolidated with health and welfare.

Another reorganization plan, prepared by a separate ad hoc committee, recommends a new department of corrections be formed, consolidating the probation department with jailing functions of the sheriff's department.

Mrs. Becker said a special committee was formed yesterday to review the various proposals and draft recommendations for county supervisors, who will consider the matter May 8.

If probation were placed under the proposed department of corrections, Brewer's position would probably be salvaged, whereas if the department were merged with health and welfare, his position would probably be eliminated.

The University of Maryland elevated its journalism department to college status in 1972.

A Course On Dental Care Set

By PAT BALMES

Parents, teachers and school nurses will learn how to control dental disease in their own mouths and teach prevention to children at two dental disease prevention workshops planned and presented by a dozen dentists and their wives.

The first of its kind — the accredited course — is sponsored by Marin County Dental Society and its Women's Auxiliary. It will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and May 12 at Dominican College.

The dentists, aided by auxiliary members, will lead discussion groups on plaque, use of dental floss, disclosure techniques, brushing teeth and nutrition.

Dr. Dick Adams organized the workshop for the dental society.

Mrs. Marshall Rothstein of Mill Valley and Mrs. James McCray of Tiburon will accept preregistrations.

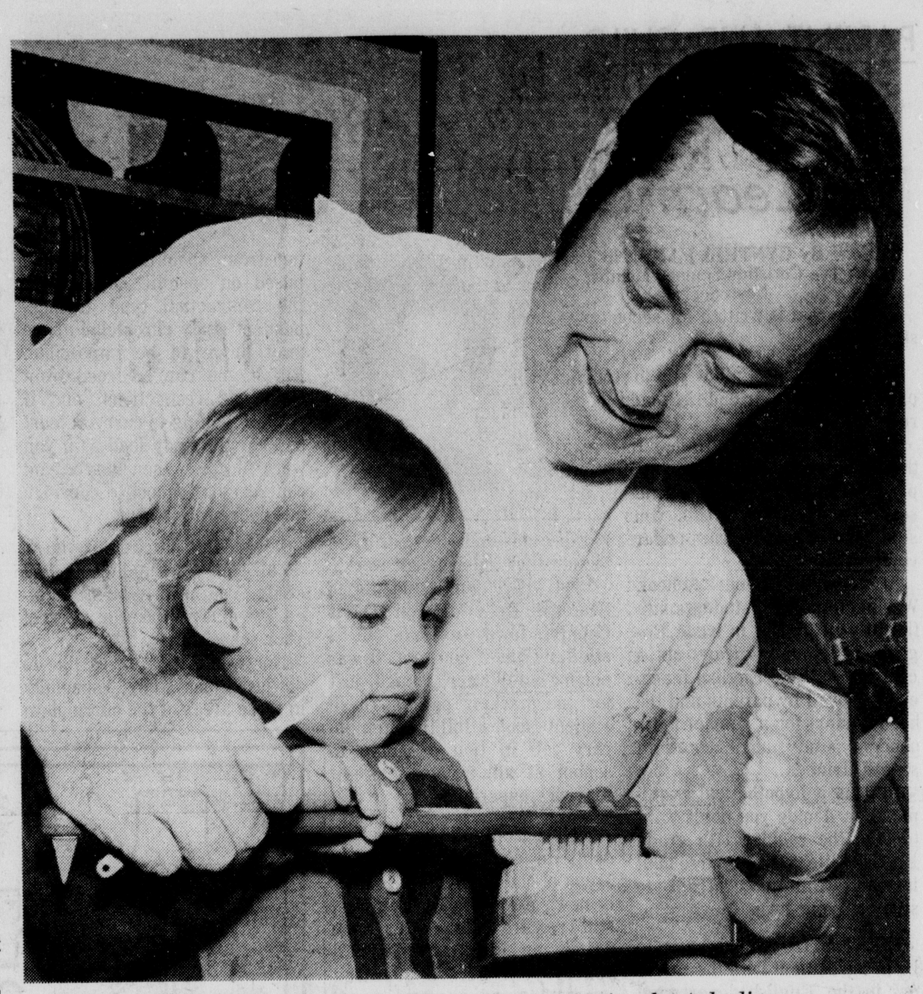
"Parents, especially, need to know that dental disease can be controlled. Prevention is the key," said Francoise Rothstein, incoming president of the Women's Auxiliary.

Parents should teach children to eat the right foods at the right time, she said. Sweets should not be eaten between meals when bacteria has a chance to form, but after dinner when you can brush thoroughly. Sugary food plus plaque form acids that attack teeth, she added.

Plaque is a sticky, colorless layer of harmful bacteria that is constantly forming on your teeth, Mrs. Rothstein said.

Bacteria in plaque are a primary cause of dental caries, the major cause of tooth loss in children, and periodontal or gum disease, the major cause of tooth loss in adults, she said.

"Periodontal disease is one of the most common diseases of man. It effects three out of four adults. However it is not limited to adults. Ninety-five per cent of 5 to 14-year-old children have some degree of gingivitis. And one out of four has destructive periodontal disease with loss of tooth attachment," she said.



MILL VALLEY dentist Dr. James McCray teaches his son Jamie, 2, to loosen plaque with a dry brush. A sink and toothpaste are not needed. Dentists will demonstrate dental disease prevention techniques to parents, teachers and nurses on Saturday and May 12 at Dominican College. (Independent-Journal photo)

Mrs. Rothstein, wife of an orthodontist, is active in dental education geared to children. She instructs them to use dental floss daily to remove plaque and debris from between teeth where a toothbrush cannot reach.

"Never snap floss into gums, but gently slide it into the space between gum and tooth until you feel resistance. Ask your dentist to show you how to apply floss in your own mouth so you won't damage your gums," she said.

A disclosing tablet or solution will help you see the invisible plaque accummulated on your teeth so you can brush it off, she said.

First, chew a harmless tablet or swish a solution around in your mouth. Then, examine your teeth in a mirror; the color on your teeth is the plaque you must remove, she explained.

Most dentists prescribe a brush with a straight handle, a flat brushing surface and soft, end-rounded bristles that are less likely to injure gum tissues.

Rotating is the best way to loosen plaque which makes its bed under the gum line and between teeth. Scrub and brush vigorously and thoroughly whatever way you can to loosen plaque, but do not hurt gums, Mrs. Rothstein advised, suggesting a fluoride toothpaste.

"It is important to brush thoroughly at least once a day. The best time is just before you go to bed, so you sleep with a clean mouth," she said.

Auxiliary members are working to convince parents, teachers and school nurses that it is important to teach children to brush their teeth after lunch at school.

"Dry brushing could even be done in front of the TV; it's not messy. Children do not need toothpaste or a sink. Those things do not remove plaque; it's the scrubbing," she said.

Teachers will leave the workshop with 35 student kits containing a tooth brush, dental floss and disclosure tablets. They can borrow visual aids such as a plaque light, a special flashlight bulb which illuminates plaque, microscope slides showing that plaque has living bacteria, and dental disease prevention films and cartridges, Mrs. Rothstein said.

The women's auxiliary has a free lending library of teaching materials that they will mail or deliver to schools.

Golden Anniversary For Kentfield Pair

By MOLLY MARIN

The 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hobart of Kentfield was celebrated with a family dinner party at the couple's home on Easter Sunday.

The Hobarts were married at Old First Presbyterian Church in San Francisco on April 24, 1923. The former Elizabeth Hobdy grew up on the island of Lanai in Hawaii. Hobart's family lived in Cincinnati, Ohio, which was the couple's first home. After seven years in Ohio the Hobarts returned to San Francisco, and moved to their present home in Kentfield in 1941.

Their children are Robin Hobart of Tiburon, Cott Hobart of Santa Rosa, James Hobart of Kentfield and Mrs. Ray Yeager of Bogota, Colombia. They have eight grandchildren. On hand for the golden anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. Warner Hobdy of Lanai, Hawaii. Hobdy is Mrs. Hobart's brother. The Hobdys are visitors in the Kentfield home. Mr. and Mrs. Yeager, who are lay missionaries on an ecumenical mission in Colombia, will return to Marin in June for a leave, and further celebrations are planned after their arrival.

Mrs. Hobart is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College near Philadelphia, Penn., and attended the 50th reunion of her class last year. Her husband attended Yale University. He has his own business, as a manufacturer's agent, in San Francisco, and continues to go to his office every day.

When the children were grown, Mrs. Hobart began a career. She thinks she may have led the way for younger women who now commonly start careers when family obligations are diminished. For eight years she taught English and Latin at the Katharine Branson School in Ross, and still does some tutoring.

Mrs. Hobart is a member of the Ross Valley Guild of Sunny Hills, and is active in the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo. She was the commentator for the Ballet Aquacade for a number of years, and is a former member of the Ross Valley Players.

The Hobart home was often the scene of warm-hearted hospitality, which frequently included several generations. They continue to enjoy their home, garden and pool.

STARTING THE 1973 yachting season with a new power cruiser is Diane Beeston. Diane, photographer and author, invited 30 friends to the christening of the newest Golden Fleece at the ship's berth in San Francisco Yacht Club Harbor in Belvedere last Saturday.

This is the sixth boat of the same name to be owned by the skipper. She is ready to record with her camera the sailing adventures of bay yachtsmen who begin their racing season this weekend. Half of the sailing fleet will go to Vallejo and the rest to Coyote Point, San Mateo County, in a two day race. Miss Beeston's book of sailing photographs and pungent comments, "Of Wind, Fog and Sail: Sailing on San Francisco Bay", was published last fall.

Speaker Charts New Health Care Program

By BETTY FROST

Foreseeing changes in the people, places and things that go to make up total health care, Betty Wesley of the Sonoma County Health Education Center outlined a medical system yesterday that would bring radical innovations to health services.

Miss Wesley's remarks were made during a panel discussion of health and health problems presented by the Tamalpais High School Consumer Resource Center at the school in Mill Valley.

The Sonoma woman said, 'The doctor will not be the sole member of the health team of the future, but will head a team which will include nurses, laboratory technicians, radiologists, paramedics and others. This staff will be associated in a medical center under one management. The center will also offer clinics and outpatient services, as well as hospital facilities. Technological advances will make available multiphasic health testing, and computers will be used for many functions."

PANELIST BABETTE C. Bloch, who is a community volunteer in health education, stressed lifelong health education so that the individual would be able to take an active rather than a passive role in his health program.

"We are crisis-oriented and give minimum attention to planning to prevent illness," Mrs. Bloch said. "Most people go to their physicians when there is a crisis. They accept the treatment given, but take no initiative for their future well being. In order to make decisions, they need more information."

Lucy Van Hise, Tamalpais High School nurse, spoke of the problems of adolescence.

"The traditional vision and hearing tests conducted by the school nurse are no longer of major importance," she said. "Teen-agers have such ailments as diabetes, cardiac problems and orthopedic difficulties, often associated with the growth process. There are also such occurrences as accidental injuries which bring students to the nurse's attention.

"However, it is the 'rites of passage,' which occupy one-fourth of my day," Mrs. Van Hise said. "Adolescence is a time of sexual identity, independence, body development and decisions regarding sexual activity. Students should be able to come to a health counselor for correct information."

A PATIENT'S bill of rights has been adopted by the directors of the Marin General Hospital District, Ray Bollinger, administrator of the hospital, told the 30 students and visitors at the discussion.

"Some routine hospital practices, such as putting on the identifying bracelet or the uniform hospital gown, can seem demeaning to a patient. In large institutions where teams of doctors and teams of nurses take charge of the patients, human contact can be lost. This may be alleviated by a liaison between the patient and the staff, such as a hostess or ombudsman," Bollinger said.

In answer to a question about the rising costs of hospital care, Bollinger said, "Undoubtedly the costs of hospitalization will go up."

He suggested cutting expenses by other means, such as outpatient services and home health care for all but the acutely ill.

Dr. John Lee, scheduled to represent the physician's point of view, was called out of town, leaving no physician on the panel.

A Clean Hand Bill Before Legislature

NEW YORK (UPI) — A bill headed for the Wisconsin legislature would require school lunch programs to provide facilities for washing hands before eating. But that's not all. The school also will be required to offer instruction in table manners and etiquette, dress codes for both teachers and pupils.

A Course On Dental Care Set

By PAT BALMES

Parents, teachers and school nurses will learn how to control dental disease in their own mouths and teach prevention to children at two dental disease prevention workshops planned and presented by a dozen dentists and their wives.

The first of its kind — the accredited course — is sponsored by Marin County Dental Society and its Women's Auxiliary. It will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and May 12 at Dominican College.

The dentists, aided by auxiliary members, will lead discussion groups on plaque, use of dental floss, disclosure techniques, brushing teeth and nutrition.

Dr. Dick Adams organized the workshop for the dental society.

Mrs. Marshall Rothstein of Mill Valley and Mrs. James McCray of Tiburon will accept preregistrations.

"Parents, especially, need to know that dental disease can be controlled. Prevention is the key," said Francoise Rothstein, incoming president of the Women's Auxiliary.

Parents should teach children to eat the right foods at the right time, she said. Sweets should not be eaten between meals when bacteria has a chance to form, but after dinner when you can brush thoroughly. Sugary food plus plaque form acids that attack teeth, she added.

Plaque is a sticky, colorless layer of harmful bacteria that is constantly forming on your teeth, Mrs. Rothstein said.

Bacteria in plaque are a primary cause of dental caries, the major cause of tooth loss in children, and periodontal or gum disease, the major cause of tooth loss in adults, she said.

"Periodontal disease is one of the most common diseases of man. It effects three out of four adults. However it is not limited to adults. Ninety-five per cent of 5 to 14-year-old children have some degree of gingivitis. And one out of four has destructive periodontal disease with loss of tooth attachment," she said.

MILL VALLEY dentist Dr. James McCray teaches his son Jamie, 2, to loosen plaque with a dry brush. A sink and toothpaste are not needed. Dentists will demonstrate dental disease prevention techniques to parents, teachers and nurses on Saturday and May 12 at Dominican College. (Independent-Journal photo)

Mrs. Rothstein, wife of an orthodontist, is active in dental education geared to children. She instructs them to use dental floss daily to remove plaque and debris from between teeth where a toothbrush cannot reach.

"Never snap floss into gums, but gently slide it into the space between gum and tooth until you feel resistance. Ask your dentist to show you how to apply floss in your own mouth so you won't damage your gums," she said.

A disclosing tablet or solution will help you see the invisible plaque accummulated on your teeth so you can brush it off, she said.

First, chew a harmless tablet or swish a solution around in your mouth. Then, examine your teeth in a mirror; the color on your teeth is the plaque you must remove, she explained.

Most dentists prescribe a brush with a straight handle, a flat brushing surface and soft, end-rounded bristles that are less likely to injure gum tissues.

Rotating is the best way to loosen plaque which makes its bed under the gum line and between teeth. Scrub and brush vigorously and thoroughly whatever way you can to loosen plaque, but do not hurt gums, Mrs. Rothstein advised, suggesting a fluoride toothpaste.

"It is important to brush thoroughly at least once a day. The best time is just before you go to bed, so you sleep with a clean mouth," she said.

Auxiliary members are working to convince parents, teachers and school nurses that it is important to teach children to brush their teeth after lunch at school.

"Dry brushing could even be done in front of the TV; it's not messy. Children do not need toothpaste or a sink. Those things do not remove plaque; it's the scrubbing," she said.

Teachers will leave the workshop with 35 student kits containing a tooth brush, dental floss and disclosure tablets. They can borrow visual aids such as a plaque light, a special flashlight bulb which illuminates plaque, microscope slides showing that plaque has living bacteria, and dental disease prevention films and cartridges, Mrs. Rothstein said.

The women's auxiliary has a free lending library of teaching materials that they will mail or deliver to schools.

RAP:

Please print this. I know many other teens will feel the same way. It isn't exactly a Mother's Day tribute, but I'm calling it, "What is a mother:"

A mother is the one who constantly complains about having to do the laundry, but gets mad when you do it for her. She yells at you for shirking the dishes but, when you do them, she finds every flaw in their cleanliness.

She grounds you three weeks for smoking and threatens to cut off your hands if you try again, but just shrugs when your little brother smokes. She goes through the roof when you get a detention for talking in class, but takes your brother's side on his third suspension from school.

She hasn't given you a birthday present in four years, but just spent $450 for your brother's gift. When you pull an "A" in a major test, she says, "Yeah, good," and she hasn't even heard you.

She is the one who complains about driving you to club meets, when she told you to join — against your wishes.

She tears you down about gaining 10 pounds and makes you feel so miserable you lose all incentive to shed them.

But she never gets on the scale herself because she's got lots more to lose than 10 pounds.

A mother is the one who never sleeps with your father because "he snores," and who threatens a divorce because "he never takes me anywhere," when you well remember the baby-sitters you had all through grade school and before. When he does ask her to go out, she declines, saying, "You should have asked me 10 years ago" — but he did! She is constantly hitting your father — verbally — where it hurts most.

A mother is the one who makes you sick with worry when she gets out of work at five and doesn't come home until after 2 a.m. She talks to her lover on the phone while your Dad is working. She makes you stop baby-sitting for your cousins because their mother suggested she see a counselor.

A mother is the one who steals your paychecks from your drawer, then signs them and cashes them herself, so you never see the money. She says you "already spent it" because she buys you a few odds and ends. Then she adds that she's only saving it for you (if you ask for an accounting), but she says she is "broke" if you need a few dollars for necessary things.

A mother is the one who tells you to leave if you don't like it here, but threatens to send you to a reform school if you do.

Helen and Sue, I could go on forever. I guess you can see what it's like. What should I do? — UNGRATEFUL AND SELFISH IN THE EYES OF MY MOTHER, UNLOVED IN MINE

DEAR UNLOVED:

How can so much bitterness and hate exist between two people who surely, at one time, must have loved each other? We don't know whether it's jealousy, competition, stubbornness, self-pity, disappointment or what, that causes this mutual resentment, but neither of you will conquer it unless at least one of you stops seeing all the bad and tries for a little understanding.

We'd guess that much of your mother's "meanness" is done to "get even," because she realizes you don't love her. You retaliate with even less love, and the chasm widens. You two are constantly paying back for past hurts, right?

You may never be close again, but if you can discover the real reasons for her apparent dislike, (a clash of wills or personality?. . .is she tremendously unhappy in her marriage and taking it out on you because you side with your father?) then perhaps you can bring about a truce.

At least it's better than constant fighting. — HELEN AND SUE

Pregnant Women Warned About Consuming Tuna

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pregnant persons are advised by a University of Wisconsin Medical School toxicologist not to consume excessive amounts of tuna because of its mercury content.

Mercury accumulates in the body and may reach concentrations potentially harmful to an unborn infant, says Dr. Louis W. Chang, head of a team of scientists studying heavy metals toxicoloby research at the Madison, Wis., school. Judging from research with cats, a fetus mgiht be in danger of mercury poisoning if the mother consumed 30 to 40 pounds of tuna during pregnancy.

The amount of tuna definitely needed to cause problems in grown humans, according to Chang's research on cats, amounts to about 400 pounds per year. More than a pound a day.

PARENT AND CHILD

Contracted Study Allows One To Learn Outside Of Classroom

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

This column is written for secondary school students.

Does your school allow you to study on your own or with a friend instead of going to regular class?

If your school doesn't allow this, and if you think you might be interested in some independent study, then you might ask your school to consider letting you study one of your courses under contract.

At Sidwell Friends School, Washington, D.C., students sufficiently proficient in basic English skills may draw up a contract with an English teacher (approved by parents and the headmaster) for a year of independent study alone or with several friends.

Here is a hypothetical example. You decide you don't want to take the regular 11th grade English literature course but instead want to contract to study on your own.

FIRST, YOU would have to be in agreement with the teachers in the English department that you were "proficient in English and mature enough to cope with the demands of independent study" (the wording at Sidewell Friends). Next you would prepare an outline of what it is you would like to do instead. You would go over this outline with the 11th grade teacher of English literature.

After some discussion, you settle on the following: You will study in depth three Shakespearean comedies and you will have a part in one, the "Comedy of Errors," with the Civic Players. For a final report, you will give your interpretation of how Shakespeare created comic effects in the three plays you studied.

This will not only be a written report, it will include an oral examination by the 11th grade English teacher, another member of the English department faculty, and perhaps a fellow student.

If parents, headmaster and teachers agree, you would then write up your contract, have it signed by all parties, and prepare to organize your time so that you can meet all your regular class periods with time to spare for independent work.

Last year, some students in Seaford, Del., and in Davis County, Iowa, worked out a similar type of contract. It was not for a full year, though, just for one marking period. These students took a full-time temporary job in lieu of going to school at all, receiving credit for work experience.

The concept of allowing students to contract for specific areas of the curriculum is fairly new. Most secondary schools still require class attendance day in and day out for a full school year before granting credit toward graduation. If your school authorities have never considered any alternative to this daily routine, you may find that it will be some little time before you convince them that independent study achieves the same results as class work.

FOR THOSE SCHOOLS, of course, which determine learning from specific test results based on specific class work, the contractual type of independent study chronicled above may prove to be impossible. But if you can be freed from such test restrictions, and if you are willing to carry at least as heavy a study load as if you were in class, then maybe you can get your school to consider this concept this year.

It wouldn't be best for you to do all your work in independent study. You need to be stimulated by class work for part of your school day.

Nor would most of us like to do just class study, especially in those areas of the curriculum in which we're especially interested.

Not everyone wants to act in a Shakespearean comedy, or study thoroughly three Shakespeare plays or submit to an oral examination by those who know more about the subject than we do. But for those who have a special interest in one subject and who have mastered the basic skills, perhaps you can begin now to get your school authorities interested in letting you contract for one course next year.

It makes a lovely wedding gift.

Volkswagen has come up with a way for you to get a Volkswagen — or at least a part of one — as a wedding gift.

Just go to your participating VW dealer and register for a Volkswagen — the same way you'd register at a department store for china or silver.

Then your friends and relatives can buy you a fender or steering wheel or windshield wiper or whatever part of the car suits their budget. (And they don't have to bother about gift wrapping what they buy. We'll present it to you right on the car.)

Depending on the size and generosity of your guest list, you could end up with a nice down payment on — or all of — a Volkswagen.

Which is a lot more practical than nine silver trays, six toasters, four blenders and seven whatchamacallits.

See your Volkswagen dealer now and get all the details.

With a little luck you could drive off on your honeymoon in your very own Volkswagen.

Pregnant Women Warned About Consuming Tuna

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pregnant persons are advised by a University of Wisconsin Medical School toxicologist not to consume excessive amounts of tuna because of its mercury content.

Mercury accumulates in the body and may reach concentrations potentially harmful to an unborn infant, says Dr. Louis W. Chang, head of a team of scientists studying heavy metals toxicoloby research at the Madison, Wis., school. Judging from research with cats, a fetus mgiht be in danger of mercury poisoning if the mother consumed 30 to 40 pounds of tuna during pregnancy.

The amount of tuna definitely needed to cause problems in grown humans, according to Chang's research on cats, amounts to about 400 pounds per year. More than a pound a day.

Contracted Study Allows One To Learn Outside Of Classroom

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

This column is written for secondary school students.

Does your school allow you to study on your own or with a friend instead of going to regular class?

If your school doesn't allow this, and if you think you might be interested in some independent study, then you might ask your school to consider letting you study one of your courses under contract.

At Sidwell Friends School, Washington, D.C., students sufficiently proficient in basic English skills may draw up a contract with an English teacher (approved by parents and the headmaster) for a year of independent study alone or with several friends.

Here is a hypothetical example. You decide you don't want to take the regular 11th grade English literature course but instead want to contract to study on your own.

FIRST, YOU would have to be in agreement with the teachers in the English department that you were "proficient in English and mature enough to cope with the demands of independent study" (the wording at Sidewell Friends). Next you would prepare an outline of what it is you would like to do instead. You would go over this outline with the 11th grade teacher of English literature.

After some discussion, you settle on the following: You will study in depth three Shakespearean comedies and you will have a part in one, the "Comedy of Errors," with the Civic Players. For a final report, you will give your interpretation of how Shakespeare created comic effects in the three plays you studied.

This will not only be a written report, it will include an oral examination by the 11th grade English teacher, another member of the English department faculty, and perhaps a fellow student.

If parents, headmaster and teachers agree, you would then write up your contract, have it signed by all parties, and prepare to organize your time so that you can meet all your regular class periods with time to spare for independent work.

Last year, some students in Seaford, Del., and, in Davis County, Iowa, worked out a similar type of contract. It was not for a full year, though, just for one marking period. These students took a full-time temporary job in lieu of going to school at all, receiving credit for work experience.

The concept of allowing students to contract for specific areas of the curriculum is fairly new. Most secondary schools still require class attendance day in and day out for a full school year before granting credit toward graduation. If your school authorities have never considered any alternative to this daily routine, you may find that it will be some little time before you convince them that independent study achieves the same results as class work.

FOR THOSE SCHOOLS, of course, which determine learning from specific test results based on specific class work, the contractual type of independent study chronicled above may prove to be impossible. But if you can be freed from such test restrictions, and if you are willing to carry at least as heavy a study load as if you were in class, then maybe you can get your school to consider this concept this year.

It wouldn't be best for you to do all your work in independent study. You need to be stimulated by class work for part of your school day.

Nor would most of us like to do just class study, especially in those areas of the curriculum in which we're especially interested.

Not everyone wants to act in a Shakespearean comedy, or study thoroughly three Shakespeare plays or submit to an oral examination by those who know more about the subject than we do. But for those who have a special interest in one subject and who have mastered the basic skills, perhaps you can begin now to get your school authorities interested in letting you contract for one course next year.

It makes a lovely wedding gift.

Volkswagen has come up with a way for you to get a Volkswagen — or at least a part of one — as a wedding gift.

Just go to your participating VW dealer and register for a Volkswagen — the same way you'd register at a department store for china or silver.

Then your friends and relatives can buy you a fender or steering wheel or windshield wiper or whatever part of the car suits their budget. (And they don't have to bother about gift wrapping what they buy. We'll present it to you right on the car.)

Depending on the size and generosity of your guest list, you could end up with a nice down payment on — or all of — a Volkswagen.

Which is a lot more practical than nine silver trays, six toasters, four blenders and seven whatchamacallits.

See your Volkswagen dealer now and get all the details.

With a little luck you could drive off on your honeymoon in your very own Volkswagen.

Charm Child With Play Area Inside

To spare your house, charm your child with an indoor play area just for him. Then when it's too cold or wet or dark for children to play outdoors, you'll be sure there's a place designed to accommodate their activities.

A child's own bedroom comes to mind as the most suitable spot. But you might also consider a utility room, breakfast room or section of the family room.

You want to provide the area with a rug, strong, washable furniture, and storage for toys and projects.

A rug is important to protect children from chills when they play on the floor. Consider a washable area rug with nonskid backing to prevent falls and unnecessary injuries.

Look for bright-colored, chip-proof polyethylene furniture, strong enough to climb on, washable, even weather-resistant, with chairs and tables that can be stacked to save space.

Sturdy corrugated boxes, spray enameled in bright colors or covered with self-adhesive plastic, might be stacked along a wall to house bulky toys. Stacking plastic vegetable bins are ideal for keeping smaller toys and projects organized.

Some Ideas Offered In Candle Purchases

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Fashions in candles worth investigating — if you're a candlephile:

The most sophisticated of the novelty shapes in new lines is a set of chessmen candles — king, queen, bishop, knight, castle, pawn. The candles in black and antique white have been sculptured in great detail into seven-inch high pieces. Three dollars apiece from Lenox.

A novelty candle touched off by pandamania resulting from the People's Republic of China's gift of two pandas to America: A pug-nosed panda candle.

Rebecca and Randy, the ragdoll candles, are for people who don't opt for another cute candle — a Humpty-Dumpty.

Reflecting the back to nature trend are candles fragranced with natural hyacinth, lilac, and lime and colored in nature's yellow, lavender, blue and lime green. Dinner tapers and baroque twists come in all the hues except lime. Matching rings with masses of fruits and flowers complete nature's spring through summer theme in candles.

Nature again is seen in a berry-fragranced collection of candles. Bottled in old-fashioned canning jars the candles give off the fragrances of black raspberry or blueberry or cherry or gooseberry or strawberry.

Berry scents also are featured in candles formed as columns three to nine inches tall.

Dozens of new floral and fruit rings and holders are a candle accessory that makes it possible to dress up the tapers.

Marriage No Longer Tops List

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

At 29, Texas legislator Kay Bailey is single, not uptight about it and, in fact, says, "I'm not anxious to get married."

Andria Knapp, an economist at 24, just quit her government job to spend four months working in England. "I don't want to get married now," she says.

Kay and Andria are among an increasing number of women who want to get married someday, but ask, "What's the hurry?"

Census figures show that in the past decade the number of single women between the ages of 20 and 24 rose to 36.4 per cent, an eight per cent increase. In the 25-to-29-year age group, the number of single women increased by two percentage points to 12.2 per cent. These figures were adjusted to discount the effects of population growth.

"The same has been true for men," a Census Bureau official said. "More young people are pursuing advanced careers and advanced educational opportunities. Also, there are fewer constraints these days. There's more latitude and flexibility."

IN INTERVIEWS with two dozen female college graduates, all career-oriented and between the ages of 22 and 35, most said their ideas about when to get married have changed markedly since they graduated from college.

Influencing them, they said, were better job opportunities and salaries, more relaxed sexual morality and reliable birth control methods, legalization of abortion in many states, a steadily rising divorce rate and a new sense of self-worth.

Dr. Zella Luria, professor of psychology at Tufts University cited another factor influencing the delay to marry.

"The notion that if you get married your problems are solved, has gone by the wayside. Women have more options now," she said.

"I won't close the door on anything," said Miss Bailey, a member of the Texas state legislature and $15,000-a-year corporate lawyer in Houston. "But I'm not just biding my time.

"With all the pressures in my job, I sometimes look for a way not to have to face the cold, cruel world every day. I think it might be nice to go to luncheons, chauffeur the kids, take care of the house.

"But when I get right down to the core of it, I don't know if I could be the complete housewife. I'm not sure."

MOST OF the women interviewed said that ultimately they did not want to shun marriage, but rather sought to fit it into their lives.

"It's not a matter of not wanting to get married, but of figuring out where it will fit," said a 28-year-old stockbroker trainee who requested anonymity.

"When I got out of college in '69, all my friends were getting married," she said. "I had tremendous guilt feelings. I wondered, what's the matter with me?

"Then I went to California and met happy people who had careers and friends and a good sense of family, people who were content with themselves. I was no longer disappointing to my parents, disappointing to myself."

Most of the women had quick, articulate answers to questions about marriage, indicating they had given it considerable thought, but almost all stumbled over one: What to do with their careers if they have children?

"In this job, they'd be impossible," said Bernice Buresh, 31, recently named Newsweek magazine's first woman bureau chief and transferred to Boston.

Tips Given On Spring Housework

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With spring cleaning at hand, homemaker consultants of National Family Opinion Inc., a consumer research firm in Toledo, Ohio, pass on the following hints:

Dye odor will disappear from clothing if the garment is aired on clothes line for several hours.

Pencil and ball point ink marks can be removed from cloth with hair spray. Spray on spot, rub, then wash as usual. Repeat if necessary.

Ketchup is an excellent cleaner for brass and copper if you run out of your commercial polish. Salt and vinegar —two ingredients in ketchup — cleans brass.

Crumpled newspaper is good for cleaning mirrors, windows, glass doors. Use any spray cleaner or simply water with a bit of ammonia and wipe off with the newspaper.

To scour pans, use a piece of fine emery cloth. The pans scour up bright and there are no scratches.

Use turpentine for removing gum from cloth and for removing tape glue from appliances and other metallic surfaces.

For a plate and pot scraper that does not sour or wear out easily, cut nylon mesh citrus bags into four-inch lengths and gather into a bundle. Either tie or wrap a bread tie lightly around the middle.

Put garbage in half-gallon milk cartons. When full, slip the carton into old bread wrappers and fasten with plastic strip. Helps prevent the messy garbage can problem.

Tips Given On Spring Housework

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With spring cleaning at hand, homemaker consultants of National Family Opinion Inc., a consumer research firm in Toledo, Ohio, pass on the following hints:

Dye odor will disappear from clothing if the garment is aired on clothes line for several hours.

Pencil and ball point ink marks can be removed from cloth with hair spray. Spray on spot, rub, then wash as usual. Repeat if necessary.

Ketchup is an excellent cleaner for brass and copper if you run out of your commercial polish. Salt and vinegar —two ingredients in ketchup — cleans brass.

Crumpled newspaper is good for cleaning mirrors, windows, glass doors. Use any spray cleaner or simply water with a bit of ammonia and wipe off with the newspaper.

To scour pans, use a piece of fine emery cloth. The pans scour up bright and there are no scratches.

Use turpentine for removing gum from cloth and for removing tape glue from appliances and other metallic surfaces.

For a plate and pot scraper that does not sour or wear out easily, cut nylon mesh citrus bags into four-inch lengths and gather into a bundle. Either tie or wrap a bread tie lightly around the middle.

Put garbage in half-gallon milk cartons. When full, slip the carton into old bread wrappers and fasten with plastic strip. Helps prevent the messy garbage can problem.

Proposed Outlay Cut By $45,190

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission last night lopped $45,190 from its proposed 1973-74 budget by eliminating irrigation and completion of the lagoon in the town park.

It also restricted development of the tiny tot area in the park to a fence, saying local residents will put in the play equipment voluntarily.

Recreation director Jacqueline A. Branch said she presented a recreation department budget of $54,150, compared to last year's $56,048.

Town public works director Arthur N. Morrison had presented a proposed budget of $71,812 for parks, and $51,518 for building and landscaping, a combined total of $177,480 compared to this year's $174,535.

Morrison's budgets included $37,000 to complete the lagoon and irrigation system, $9,000 for landscaping the town's new tennis courts at Granada school, and $11,190 for the tiny tots area.

Mrs. Branch said commissioners decided to postpone the lagoon and irrigation, go ahead with the tennis court landscaping and only budget for a tiny tot area fence.

The cuts deleted $45,190 from the total, said Mrs. Branch, and the commission approved a proposed 1973-74 budget of $132,290, which will be presented at the town council budget hearings. The sum is $42,265 less than this year's total.

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission also:

BAY FRONT PARK — Recommended the town council support the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission recommendation that supervisors budget $100,000 for a Bay Front Park on the Corte Madera marshlands.

TENNIS COURTS — Set May 19 at 10:30 a.m. for dedication of the new Granada tennis courts and appointed commissioner Susan Bigall as chairman of the dedication committee.

BIKE HIKE — Agreed to let the National Association for Retarded Children use town park as a checkpoint on its fund-raising Bike Hike on May 27 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

SCOUTS — Agreed that Scouts Ken Sutherland and Gerry Claeys of Troop 24 can construct improvements to the fire pit in town park if the town council approves; the work will be the boys' Eagle project, and will be funded through an IBM community involvement grant.

New Chorus Concert Set May 13

The Dominican College Chorus, a new group made up of students, faculty and community singers, will present its first concert at 3 p.m. May 13 in Angelico Hall on the San Rafael campus.

The program will include music by J. S. Bach, Haydn, Purcell, Bernstein, Mozart, Palestrina and Altman.

Guest singers will include Gwen Curatilo of Lucas Valley, Toni Mehocich, Kate Rowland, Eileen Schiller and Clay Roni, all of San Rafael; Martin Frick of Mill Valley, Carey Moore of Santa Rosa, Anne Perry of San Francisco and Wendy Evans of Visalia.

The chorus will be accompanied by violinist Mark Jordan, flutist Deborah Giamona and pianist Joyce Conklin, all of San Rafael; and musicians Joseph Rodgers, Mary Moline and Julie Jordan, all of the Bay Area. Organ will be played by Sister M. Francesca Messick.

The concert is free and open to the public, according to college publicist Lillian Seaver.

Convicts Indicted By Grand Jury

The Marin County Grand Jury yesterday indicted three San Quentin inmates, but information on only one was availabletoday.

Dennis Earl Hungate, a 22-year-old convict from Los Angeles, was charged with possessing a billy club March 11. A prison guard found him in the prisn's lower yard carrying an iron bar taken from a weight lifting machine.

The inmate also wore prison armor — magazines strapped around his body and a book protecting his groin. The iron bar was found up a sleeve, sources said.

No information about the other two indictments could be obtained because Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick sealed not only the transcript of the grand jury proceeding, but the charges as well.

The charge is normally sealed when the person indicted is loose. So the two sealed charges probably involve escape.

Hungate, imprisoned Aug. 29, 1969, for attempted burglary, has two prior convictions for weapons offenses in prison. He was convicted May 10, 1971, for assault with a deadly weapon and April 5, 1972, for assault with a deadly weapon and April 5, 1972, for possessing a weapon. Both offenses were at the Duell Vocational Institute in San Joaquin County.

Giant Flood Claim Filed By Novatans

Thirty-nine residents of Novato's flood stricken area filed a $3,295,150 claim yesterday against the city and five other agencies for flood damage in January.

The floods, Jan. 16 and 18, caused extensive damage to property and homes, physical injury, emotional stress and a lowering of property value, according to the claim filed by attorney John Dennis McQuaid of Novato.

The claim was filed as a class action covering all residents who may seek relief for flood damage. The flooding centered in the Nave Gardens and Yukon Way area.

Named in the claim were the city, Marin County Flood Control District, North Marin County Water District, State of California and state Division of Highwaysf

The residents charged that the city failed to plan and provide effective controls, granted permits for development in the uplands which drain to the three creeks which flooded and failed to provide adequate drainage in the flood area.

The claim alleges that the county and the flood control district failed to maintain and dredge the creek and channels in the flood plain.

The state and the division of highways "negligently designed" the Highway 101 bridge over Novato Creek "which impeded the flow of waters" and contributed to the backing up of waters into the flooded area, the claim alleges.

The water district was charged with not allowing excess water to drain from Stafford Lake prior to the storm which precipitated the flooding. Stafford Lake overflow goes into Novato Creek.

McQuaid estimated the persons filing the claim suffered damages, loss of earnings and medical expenses totaling $295,-150, and said he is "unable to estimate damages suffered by other members of the class on whose behalf they are filing."

Tires Stolen

Four enormous tractor tires were stolen from the back of a flatbed truck parked at the Hutchinson Rock Quarry on Tuesday or Wednesday, reported Larkspur police.

George Williams of the Marin Equipment Company told police the thieves also took eight Ford truck tires. The tractor tires, worth $50 each, were 1400 by 24 in size.

Summer Plan Wins Approval

A plan for a six-week summer recreation program to be staffed solely by volunteers was approved last night by the Cotati Parks and Recreation Commission.

Commission Chairman Lee Gray said two-hour classes will be held daily at the Scout Hut. Classes will include painting, ceramics, music, puppetry, and dance, all taught by volunteers from the community.

Mrs. Gray said that since instructors will cost nothing and the Scout Hut will be free, the total program cost will be $230 for materials. The city council will be asked to approve the funds and program next week.

The program will be held from June 18 to July 27, with a special program scheduled for July 28 for youngsters to display their summer projects and a puppet show.

The place name, Wounded Knee, S.D., is a familiar one to all newspaper readers today as the scene of violence and tension. More than 80 years ago, it was prominent under even more tragic circumstances — the site of an infamous massacre by white soldiers of Sioux tribesmen, women and children. A Marin man is the owner of a photograph collection closely tied to that event and era. One of those historic photos is shown here. AN ART FORM — This mirror, decorated with seashells and coral by Charles Bennett of Los Angeles, represents a new trend in works of art. (Christian Science Monitor photo)

Shells No Longer Are Being Hidden In Boxes

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Architect Frank Lloyd Wright once noted that housing for the life of the sea had exactly what our human dwelling lacked—"inspired form."

Little wonder then that seashells, in all their variety of shape, color and texture, are enjoying a renaissance of favor. Artists, interior decorators, and designers have led the way. But people everywhere have learned to poise a shell on a pedestal and appreciate its intrinsic beauty.

Hugh and Marguerite Stix of New York not only popularized the shell as an individual art form, but wrote a successful and handsome book on the subject. "The Shell" (Abrams, $25), subtitled "Five Hundred Million Years of Inspired Designs," has sold almost 100,000 copies to become a best-seller of its kind.

Marguerite Stix more recently has expanded her interest to include shell jewelry of Cartier caliber, and the pair continue to collect superb speciments and contribute to their lore.

While Anne Morrow Lindberg used shells as a poetic means of linking her contemplative essays in her "Gift from the Sea," it was the extravagantly romantic Victorians who were last to be so completey captivated by the decorative possibilities of shells. Shells went into numerous Victorian trinkets and helped express Victorian sentiments.

Sailors' valentines, sought by collectors today, are a good example. These were fashioned by Victorian sailors out of shells picked up on their voyages. They consist of a wooden box of two halves connected by a hinge, each half containing an intricate arrangement of shells including a plaintive "Think of Me" or "The Giver Loves You."

Recently, the popular "natural" look in interior decoration has encouraged further appreciation of the shells.

It probably was on the West Coast that the current vogue for shell-encrusted mirrors began. The first ones I saw were made by Los Angeles interior designer Penni Paul and her husband.

Charles Bennett of Beverly Hills has been selling his hand-assembled shell mirrors through the Kneedler Fauchere decorator showroom in Los Angeles and can scarcely keep up with the demand.

Bennett's fascination with shells found its present expression four years ago when an interior designer friend informed him she needed a shell mirror for a job she was doing. As a hobby, he began to make such shell mirrors, doing all the work himself, from building the frame, to mounting the mirror, to the time-consuming job of selecting each shell to be attached to the frame.

Friends and interior designers soon became interested in Bennett's efforts. Kneedler-Fauchere last year asked him to make a 30-by-60-inch mirror, including a six-inch border of white shells, and an 18-inch crown at the top. It was to be featured in a blue and white room in their window. The mirror was so popular that since then he hasn't been able to make the $600 items fast enough.

Redwood Empire Has Busy Month Ahead

Spring flower festivals, the Eighth Annual Pacific Regional Ballet Festival in San Rafael and a Memorial Day weekend packed with a fair, sports and recreation show and auto and boat races are among events scheduled for the nine counties of the Redwood Empire during May.

Eureka's Rhododendron Festival will continue through May 6 and Fort Bragg's Annual Rhododendron Festival will be held through the month at the Mendocino Coast Botanical Gardens.

The Fortuna Garden Club's 15th Flower Show will be May 5 in Fortuna. Three flower shows are on tap for San Francisco's Hall of Flowers in Golden Gate Park, including the Rhododendron Society show May 5-6; the San Francisco Rose Show May 13, and an African violet show May 19-20.

The Stinson Beach Wildflower Show will make its 15th and final showing at the community center May 5-6 and Santa Rosa's annual Rose Festival will be May 18-20.

For Marin gardeners, two plant sales are slated: The Garden Mart and Art Show is set for May 12 at the Novato Fair Shopping Center and the 11th annual plant sale of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin will be at Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael May 19.

A house and garden tour of historic Sonoma is planned by the Sonoma League for Historic Preservation May 27 and an historic Marin country estate on Mountain View Avenue in San Rafael has been selected for the Marin Volunteer Bureau's annual Marin Designers' Showcase May 12 through 25.

Mexican-American Day, celebrating the historical association between Mexico and the U.S., will open the Sonoma Mission Sesquicentennial in Sonoma Plaza May 5. The Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael will be the site of two other international events: the Marin Grecian Festival May 5-6 and the Israel Fair May 27-28.

The Veterans Memorial Auditorium in Petaluma will host the Dairy Princess Contest and Ball May 12 and the World Wristwrestling Championship Tourney May 19.

The Russian River May Wine Fest is set for May 12 in the City Plaza at Healdsburg and the Russian River's ninth annual Rodeo and Stumptown Daze will be held in Guerneville May 12-13.

The 16th annual Grab Feed is scheduled May 20 in Trinidad on the Humboldt coast above Eureka. Festival International will be the theme of the annual Spring Festival in Ukiah May 31 through June 3 downtown and at the Redwood Empire Fairgrounds.

DRAMA REVIEW

'The Women' Still A Very Funny Play After 36 Years

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is much to recommend in "The Women," which was revived last night at the Fortysixth Street Theater.

After 36 years, it is still a funny play, this creation by Clare Boothe Luce that is laced with acidulous dialogue placed in the mouths of female characters of a rich, social set in New York City in the mid-1930s.

The production is lavish and handsome, and the cast is outstanding.

Mrs. Luce's play may not have the shock value that was present in the original 1936 production, but it is still a sharply humorous observation of a stratum of affluent society that has gone through some changes through the decades but which remains essentially the same. Script alterations are minor.

The all-woman cast—and, Lord, are there women; 35 playing 44 roles—is topnotch, and Morton Da Costa, although he may seem to try too hard at times to achieve the comic touch, generally has done an excellent job in staging this many-scened play.

It is impossible to list all of them, but the top names are Kim Hunter, Alexis Smith, Rhonda Fleming, Myrna Loy, Dorothy Loudon, Leora Dana, Marian Hailey, Marie Wallace and Jan Miner. That is quite a lineup of talent.

The theme of the play is what a number of women "friends" can do to each other's lives through catty gossip.

The core of the plot is what this sort of thing does to Mary Haines, wife for 12 years, mother of small son and daughter and really quite the nicest of her group. Her friends actually resent her being so smugly contented with her marriage.

So, the main gossip of the group manages to just let it slip out that Mary's husband is having an affair with a young blonde, and this eventually sends Mary to Reno for a divorce, although she hopes right up to the last day that there will be a reconciliation.

But husband does marry the blonde, who loses little time in establishing an affair of her own with a movie cowboy hero, and thus becomes the object of gossip that leads to her undoing. Along the way other members of the group are involved in marriage splitups and other shenanigans.

Miss Hunter is sweetly perfect as Mary, who learns a little bitchiness along the way and gets her revenge. Alexis Smith is delightful as the most vicious gossip of them all. Miss Loudon is outstandingly funny as an ever-pregnant wife, and Miss Miner is a gem as a five-times-married rich woman of middle years who has picked up a countess title along her marital trail.

Shells No Longer Are Being Hidden In Boxes

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Architect Frank Lloyd Wright once noted that housing for the life of the sea had exactly what our human dwelling lacked—"inspired form."

Little wonder then that seashells, in all their variety of shape, color and texture, are enjoying a renaissance of favor. Artists, interior decorators, and designers have led the way. But people everywhere have learned to poise a shell on a pedestal and appreciate its intrinsic beauty.

Hugh and Marguerite Stix of New York not only popularized the shell as an individual art form, but wrote a successful and handsome book on the subject. "The Shell" (Abrams, $25), subtitled "Five Hundred Million Years of Inspired Designs," has sold almost 100,000 copies to become a best-seller of its kind.

Marguerite Stix more recently has expanded her interest to include shell jewelry of Cartier caliber, and the pair continue to collect superb speciments and contribute to their lore.

While Anne Morrow Lindberg used shells as a poetic means of linking her contemplative essays in her "Gift from the Sea," it was the extravagantly romantic Victorians who were last to be so completey captivated by the decorative possibilities of shells. Shells went into numerous Victorian trinkets and helped express Victorian sentiments.

Sailors' valentines, sought by collectors today, are a good example. These were fashioned by Victorian sailors out of shells picked up on their voyages. They consist of a wooden box of two halves connected by a hinge, each half containing an intricate arrangement of shells including a plaintive "Think of Me" or "The Giver Loves You."

Recently, the popular "natural" look in interior decoration has encouraged further appreciation of the shells.

It probably was on the West Coast that the current vogue for shell-encrusted mirrors began. The first ones I saw were made by Los Angeles interior designer Penni Paul and her husband.

Charles Bennett of Beverly Hills has been selling his hand-assembled shell mirrors through the Kneedler Fauchere decorator showroom in Los Angeles and can scarcely keep up with the demand.

Bennett's fascination with shells found its present expression four years ago when an interior designer friend informed him she needed a shell mirror for a job she was doing. As a hobby, he began to make such shell mirrors, doing all the work himself, from building the frame, to mounting the mirror, to the time-consuming job of selecting each shell to be attached to the frame.

Friends and interior designers soon became interested in Bennett's efforts. Kneedler-Fauchere last year asked him to make a 30-by-60-inch mirror, including a six-inch border of white shells, and an 18-inch crown at the top. It was to be featured in a blue and white room in their window. The mirror was so popular that since then he hasn't been able to make the $600 items fast enough.

Redwood Empire Has Busy Month Ahead

Spring flower festivals, the Eighth Annual Pacific Regional Ballet Festival in San Rafael and a Memorial Day weekend packed with a fair, sports and recreation show and auto and boat races are among events scheduled for the nine counties of the Redwood Empire during May.

Eureka's Rhododendron Festival will continue through May 6 and Fort Bragg's Annual Rhododendron Festival will be held through the month at the Mendocino Coast Botanical Gardens.

The Fortuna Garden Club's 15th Flower Show will be May 5 in Fortuna. Three flower shows are on tap for San Francisco's Hall of Flowers in Golden Gate Park, including the Rhododendron Society show May 5-6; the San Francisco Rose Show May 13, and an African violet show May 19-20.

The Stinson Beach Wildflower Show will make its 15th and final showing at the community center May 5-6 and Santa Rosa's annual Rose Festival will be May 18-20.

For Marin gardeners, two plant sales are slated: The Garden Mart and Art Show is set for May 12 at the Novato Fair Shopping Center and the 11th annual plant sale of the Chrysanthemum Society of Marin will be at Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael May 19.

A house and garden tour of historic Sonoma is planned by the Sonoma League for Historic Preservation May 27 and an historic Marin country estate on Mountain View Avenue in San Rafael has been selected for the Marin Volunteer Bureau's annual Marin Designers' Showcase May 12 through 25.

Mexican-American Day, celebrating the historical association between Mexico and the U.S., will open the Sonoma Mission Sesquicentennial in Sonoma Plaza May 5. The Marin Veterans Memorial Building in San Rafael will be the site of two other international events: the Marin Grecian Festival May 5-6 and the Israel Fair May 27-28.

The Veterans Memorial Auditorium in Petaluma will host the Dairy Princess Contest and Ball May 12 and the World Wristwrestling Championship Tourney May 19.

The Russian River May Wine Fest is set for May 12 in the City Plaza at Healdsburg and the Russian River's ninth annual Rodeo and Stumptown Daze will be held in Guerneville May 12-13.

The 16th annual Grab Feed is scheduled May 20 in Trinidad on the Humboldt coast above Eureka. Festival International will be the theme of the annual Spring Festival in Ukiah May 31 through June 3 downtown and at the Redwood Empire Fairgrounds.

Memorial Day weekend events include the Future Farmers' Fair at Healdsburg May 24-26; Sports and Recreation Show at Redwood Acres Fairgrounds in Eureka May 24-27; Prospectors' Days Celebration at Willow Creek May 25-28; championship sprint car racing at Calistoga Fairgrounds May 26-27; Nor-Cal Boat and Ski Races at Nice May 26; Lower Lake Days celebration at Lower Lake May 26; Siskiyou Mountain Morgan Horse Show at Grant's Pass, Ore., May 26-27.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Ladies and gentlemen! Speeches start this way but did today's birthday greats really say this about homo sapiens?

1. CAROL BURNETT, 39 today, probably would rather cut capers than cakes to celebrate her birthday. Born in San Antonio, Tex., she started out to become a journalist but discovered she had stage talent at UCLA. Television guest appearances proved she was a gifted comedienne and she now has her own CBS show. Did she once say, "A good man is hard to find. You always get the other kind"? Yes or No?

2. NIVEN BUSCH reaches 70 this day. The son of a New York stock broker, who saw his dad go broke in the 1929 crash, he quit Princeton as a sophomore to pay back all the money owed and turned to writing. His "Profile" articles for the New Yorker magazine proved his writing talent, many of which he collected into books. He's scripted 30 movies and authored a dozen novels. Did he say, "Life is like a beautiful woman. She doesn't have to carry a message to capture one's interest"? Yes or No?

3. DAVID HUME (1711-1776) achieved fame despite great odds. Poor health forced him to quit a business career for the milder climate of France. It was there that this Scotsman wrote his most important philosophical work, "Treatise on Human Nature." Twice rejected for a university professorship, he still continued publishing his ideas, which finally gained recognition. Did he say, "The most unhappy of all men is he who believes himself to be so"? Yes or No?

4. WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE (1564-1616) easily could be considered the most quoted dramatist in the English language. His actual birthday is unknown but church records at Stratford on Avon show he was baptized this day. He died on the day some considered the anniversary of his birthday — April 23, 1616. Did he say, "A lion among ladies is a dreadful thing"? Yes or No?

ANSWERS: 1 - No; 2 - Yes; 3 - Yes; 4 - Yes.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Recalling Bidding Can Help To Locate A Particular Ace

In playing certain hands, you must guess which opponent holds a particular ace. Stop and recall the bidding, when possible, to help you guess right. Amazingly often, you will have no problem at all if you take the time to think of the bidding.

HEART ACTION

West opened the six of hearts, and South won with the jack. He saw that he would need five tricks in diamonds and clubs combined. Good luck in diamonds would give him five tricks in that suit alone, but since the odds were against this, South decided to try for a club trick first.

At the second trick, therefore, South led a low club. West played low, and South had to guess whether to play the king or the jack.

The guess wasn't difficult. It was almost impossible for West to have a sound opening bid without the ace of clubs. South therefore put up dummy's king of clubs and won the trick.

CONTRACT SAFE

Now South switched to diamonds, giving up a trick to West's king. South was then sure to win four diamonds, one club, two spades and two hearts.

If South lost the first club trick to East's queen, East would return a heart. West would take the ace of hearts and give up a heart. South would eventually have to lead clubs or diamonds, and West would then defeat the contract with the rest of the hearts.

EQUALLY WRONG

It would be equally wrong for declarer to win the first heart trick in dummy in order to lead the queen of diamonds for an immediate finesse. West would take the king of diamonds and lead out the ace and a low heart. He would regain the lead with the ace of clubs in time to defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - K 10 4
♥ - K J 4
♦ - A J 10 9 4
♣ - 8 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. You have 12 points in high cards and one point for the doubleton, enough for an optional opening bid. You choose to bid rather than pass because you have excellent high-card structure and a strong five-card suit.

Phone Company Lowers Request

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Telephone Company yesterday revised downward from $301 million to $291 million its current request for a rate increase.

Pacific's attorney, Richard Odgers, told a Public Utilities Commission hearing that new estimates on 1973 federal and state income tax allocations permitted the company to revise its estimates downward.

The PUC has been holding hearings since February on the company's requested rate increase.

Firemen Offered 3 Pct. Pay Hike

The Novato Fire District board last night declared its willingness to grant employees a 3 per cent across-the-board increase in salaries.

The vote was 3 to 2 with commissioners Richard W. Price and Henry V. Alvernaz dissenting because they favored a 10 per cent raise rejected by the board in a similar vote lineup.

The board also said firemen may live anywhere within 20 minutes driving distance and said some day personnel may take time to go home for lunch.

Firemen had insisted on a 10 per cent increase and the board's 3 per cent offer must now go to the Novato Professional Firemen's Association for approval.

Before the board voted, the preliminary budget was discussed by the commissioners trying to find money for the increase. The preliminary budget amounts to $862,537 while the district expects an income of $791,000 next year from a tax rate of 70 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Wages in the preliminary budget are totaled at $465,356, to which the board's proposal would add approximately $13,960. The firemen's request of 10 per cent would add $46,535.

Richard Breiner, attorney for the firemen's association, said he will submit the offer to the association, but thinks firemen will reject it. That would put the dispute up for mediation, he said.

The Novato Fire District Board Also:

BOXES — On the recommendation of Capt. Charles Onorato, included $4,500 for three radio alarm boxes on Grant Avenue in the budget to replace the present ones connected by wires and due to become inoperable because of undergrounding of utilities.

HYDRANTS — Received a report from the North Marin County Water District that it has installed two larger fire hydrants on Halfmoon Road, with a flow of 500 gallons per minute to meet fire insurance specifications.

CUL-DU-SACS — Received a report from the Novato Police Department that it had checked 48 deadend streets where it found a total of 210 parking violations making it impossible to turn fire trucks around. The board said it will discuss the problem with the city council at its 7:30 a.m. breakfast meeting May 8 at Sambo's restaurant.

FIRE STATION — Voted also to discuss a fire station site on the Pacheco Ranch across from Hamilton Air Force Base with the council at the May 8 meeting.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the breakfast meeting May 8. The next regular board meeting is at 7:30 p.m., May 9 at the main fire station.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Eight stolen Greek coins valued at more than $150,000 have been recovered by police and returned to Fogg Museum at Harvard University according to a spokesman.

Israeli Jets Chased Off By Lebanese

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Official Lebanese sources said Israeli jet fighters flew over Beirut today and the defense ministry said Israeli planes flew three sorties high over Lebanon's Mediterranean coast. Both reports said the jets were chased off xy Lebanese Air Force fighters.

In Jerusalem, Foreign Minister Eban urged Arabs to abandon their "oratorical campaign" against Israel and work for peace. He also repeated charges that several Mirage jets sold by France to Libya are now in Egypt and said Israel can document the charge.

Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy was quoted in a Beirut publication Wednesday as saying Arab armies would lose any new war with Israel because of the "traditional Arab mentality commanding these troops." He also pronounced the Arab guerrilla movement dead but Palestinian leaders today denied it.

Officials sources in Beirut said Israeli jets flew over the city at about 32,500 feet around noon today but that Lebanese Mirage jets rose to challenge them and they flew away.

Firemen Offered 3 Pct. Pay Hike

The Novato Fire District board last night declared its willingness to grant employees a 3 per cent across-the-board increase in salaries.

The vote was 3 to 2 with commissioners Richard W. Price and Henry V. Alvernaz dissenting because they favored a 10 per cent raise rejected by the board in a similar vote lineup.

The board also said firemen may live anywhere within 20 minutes driving distance and said some day personnel may take time to go home for lunch.

Firemen had insisted on a 10 per cent increase and the board's 3 per cent offer must now go to the Novato Professional Firemen's Association for approval.

Before the board voted, the preliminary budget was discussed by the commissioners trying to find money for the increase. The preliminary budget amounts to $862,537 while the district expects an income of $791,000 next year from a tax rate of 70 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Wages in the preliminary budget are totaled at $465,356, to which the board's proposal would add approximately $13,960. The firemen's request of 10 per cent would add $46,535.

Richard Breiner, attorney for the firemen's association, said he will submit the offer to the association, but thinks firemen will reject it. That would put the dispute up for mediation, he said.

The Novato Fire District Board Also:

BOXES — On the recommendation of Capt. Charles Onorato, included $4,500 for three radio alarm boxes on Grant Avenue in the budget to replace the present ones connected by wires and due to become inoperable because of undergrounding of utilities.

HYDRANTS — Received a report from the North Marin County Water District that it has installed two larger fire hydrants on Halfmoon Road, with a flow of 500 gallons per minute to meet fire insurance specifications.

CUL-DU-SACS — Received a report from the Novato Police Department that it had checked 48 deadend streets where it found a total of 210 parking violations making it impossible to turn fire trucks around. The board said it will discuss the problem with the city council at its 7:30 a.m. breakfast meeting May 8 at Sambo's restaurant.

FIRE STATION — Voted also to discuss a fire station site on the Pacheco Ranch across from Hamilton Air Force Base with the council at the May 8 meeting.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to the breakfast meeting May 8. The next regular board meeting is at 7:30 p.m., May 9 at the main fire station.

Israeli Jets Chased Off By Lebanese

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Official Lebanese sources said Israeli jet fighters flew over Beirut today and the defense ministry said Israeli planes flew three sorties high over Lebanon's Mediterranean coast. Both reports said the jets were chased off xy Lebanese Air Force fighters.

In Jerusalem, Foreign Minister Eban urged Arabs to abandon their "oratorical campaign" against Israel and work for peace. He also repeated charges that several Mirage jets sold by France to Libya are now in Egypt and said Israel can document the charge.

Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy was quoted in a Beirut publication Wednesday as saying Arab armies would lose any new war with Israel because of the "traditional Arab mentality commanding these troops." He also pronounced the Arab guerrilla movement dead but Palestinian leaders today denied it.

Officials sources in Beirut said Israeli jets flew over the city at about 32,500 feet around noon today but that Lebanese Mirage jets rose to challenge them and they flew away.

SERVICE — Milton E. Johnson of Woodacre, Sir Francis Drake High School electronics teacher, has retired from the Army Reserve as a colonel after 38 years of service. Johnson concealed his true age to join the National Guard when he was 16 years old in 1934. He earned both the Silver and Bronze stars during World War II.

Dixie Board Rejects Teacher Job Proposal

A proposal by the Dixie Teachers Association to split teaching assignments in an effort to save jobs of dismissed employees was found unacceptable last night by the Dixie School District board.

The association has proposed that two teachers share one teaching assignment to preserve jobs of 16 teachers issued layoff notices, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell, who said the plan is inadequate "because it would obligate the district to two people instead of one."

"The teachers haven't come up with any solution yet that is satisfactory to the administration or the board," Campbell said of employees issued tentative layoff notices due to sagging enrollment.

The board took no formal action on the proposal last night, Campbell said, but will issue a decision at 8 p.m. May 9.

Although the board has agreed to use dismissed employees as substitutes, other proposals by teachers aimed at saving jobs — including use of district reserve funds — "don't look too good," he said.

In a related matter, the board said it will consider proposals by employees associations for wage increases next month or in early June, he said. The Dixie chapter of the California Teachers Association has proposed a 5 per cent salary increase annually, as well as hiking fringe benefits from $500 to $656, he said. The Dixie Teachers Association has proposed a 5 per cent salary and fringe increase package, in addition to normal step increases, he added.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

CLOSED SESSION — Took no action in a closed session called to review Campbell's performance.

COMMITTEE — Said the district will form a citizens committee to review a proposed budget of $5,339,000 for 1973-74, up from this year's estimated $5,300,000 spending program.

FUNDS — Applied for $17,000 in federal funds for special education, and $85,610 in state funds for Miller-Unruh reading specialists and early childhood education programs.

READING — Learned from teacher David Bliese that an individualized reading program at Vallecito School that rewards student work with "relaxation time," among other things had produced "spectacular results."

TEACHERS — Said the board will discuss a proposal by teachers of the educationally handicapped teachers that they be given seniority privileges at 8 p.m. May 23. Some of these part-time employees, Campbell said, claim they should be given seniority like other teachers and that a uniform procedure for laying off educationally handicapped tutors be established.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. May 9.

Pair's Case To Superior Court

Two teen-agers said to have broken into a San Rafael dwelling were bound over yesterday to Marin Superior Court.

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman ordered Frank Dennis Bautista, 19, a College of Marin student, and John Joseph Mueller, 19, of San Rafael to appear May 9 after he heard the evidence against them.

The two were charged after a police investigation of the burglary March 22 at the Robert E. Eby home, 232 Bungalow Avenue. Mueller was linked to the crime by fingerprints found on a bottle of Scotch at Eby's home.

Argentine Police Official Kidnaped

CORDOBA, Argentina (UPI) — An high official of the national gendarmerie was kidnaped today in a shootout with his abductors, a gendarmerie spokesman reported.

Heart Talk Aims At Young People

"The Heart and the Normal Functions of the Circulatory System" will be discussed by Dr. Richard Ryno, local veterinarian, at 7:30 p.m. Monday in room 50 of the old engineering building, College of Marin.

The program is sponsored by Animal Medical Care Foundation of Marin, aimed at reaching persons in the 8 to 18-year-old group.

Playwright Wins Jerusalem Award

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Avant garde playwright Eugene Ionesco has been awarded Israel's only international prize, the Jerusalem Award.

In ceremonies Wednesday, marking the opening of Israel's Sixth International Book Fair, Jeruslaem Mayor Teddy Kollek gave Ionesco the prize—a scroll and a $2,000 grant. "I am proud and happy to be awarded the prize of Jerusalem, a prize of liberty," said Ionesco, 61, a native of Romania and a Paris resident since 1945.

Give your cigarette an eye test.

If you see things such as loose ends, wrinkles, slits and tears, you can expect uneven burning, hot spots, poor draw and other nuisances that can steal from the taste of your cigarette.

If this happens all too often with your cigarette, you ought to switch to Kent.

Kent is probably the most imperfection-free brand made.

Because it's probably the most quality-tested cigarette made. (Over 200 different quality checks in the manufacturing end, alone.)

SERVICE — Milton E. Johnson of Woodacre, Sir Francis Drake High School electronics teacher, has retired from the Army Reserve as a colonel after 38 years of service. Johnson concealed his true age to join the National Guard when he was 16 years old in 1934. He earned both the Silver and Bronze stars during World War II.

Dixie Board Rejects Teacher Job Proposal

A proposal by the Dixie Teachers Association to split teaching assignments in an effort to save jobs of dismissed employees was found unacceptable last night by the Dixie School District board.

The association has proposed that two teachers share one teaching assignment to preserve jobs of 16 teachers issued layoff notices, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell, who said the plan is inadequate "because it would obligate the district to two people instead of one."

"The teachers haven't come up with any solution yet that is satisfactory to the administration or the board," Campbell said of employees issued tentative layoff notices due to sagging enrollment.

The board took no formal action on the proposal last night, Campbell said, but will issue a decision at 8 p.m. May 9.

Although the board has agreed to use dismissed employees as substitutes, other proposals by teachers aimed at saving jobs — including use of district reserve funds — "don't look too good," he said.

In a related matter, the board said it will consider proposals by employees associations for wage increases next month or in early June, he said. The Dixie chapter of the California Teachers Association has proposed a 5 per cent salary increase annually, as well as hiking fringe benefits from $500 to $656, he said. The Dixie Teachers Association has proposed a 5 per cent salary and fringe increase package, in addition to normal step increases, he added.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

CLOSED SESSION — Took no action in a closed session called to review Campbell's performance.

COMMITTEE — Said the district will form a citizens committee to review a proposed budget of $5,339,000 for 1973-74, up from this year's estimated $5,300,000 spending program.

FUNDS — Applied for $17,000 in federal funds for special education, and $85,610 in state funds for Miller-Unruh reading specialists and early childhood education programs.

READING — Learned from teacher David Bliese that an individualized reading program at Vallecito School that rewards student work with "relaxation time," among other things had produced "spectacular results."

TEACHERS — Said the board will discuss a proposal by teachers of the educationally handicapped teachers that they be given seniority privileges at 8 p.m. May 23. Some of these part-time employees, Campbell said, claim they should be given seniority like other teachers and that a uniform procedure for laying off educationally handicapped tutors be established.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. May 9.

Heart Talk Aims At Young People

"The Heart and the Normal Functions of the Circulatory System" will be discussed by Dr. Richard Ryno, local veterinarian, at 7:30 p.m. Monday in room 50 of the old engineering building, College of Marin.

The program is sponsored by Animal Medical Care Foundation of Marin, aimed at reaching persons in the 8 to 18-year-old group.

Playwright Wins Jerusalem Award

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Avant garde playwright Eugene Ionesco has been awarded Israel's only international prize, the Jerusalem Award.

In ceremonies Wednesday, marking the opening of Israel's Sixth International Book Fair, Jeruslaem Mayor Teddy Kollek gave Ionesco the prize—a scroll and a $2,000 grant. "I am proud and happy to be awarded the prize of Jerusalem, a prize of liberty," said Ionesco, 61, a native of Romania and a Paris resident since 1945.

Showing Planned By Bali Artists

An exhibit of the paintings by New Young Artists of Bali, Indonesia, will be on display May 1 through 31 at The Palate Restaurant in Mill Valley.

The New Young Artists of Bali are a group of peasant painters who are attempting to perpetuate the ancient traditions of that land. This is their first exhibit in this country.

Pair's Case To Superior Court

Two teen-agers said to have broken into a San Rafael dwelling were bound over yesterday to Marin Superior Court.

Municipal Court Judge Robert A. Smallman ordered Frank Dennis Bautista, 19, a College of Marin student, and John Joseph Mueller, 19, of San Rafael to appear May 9 after he heard the evidence against them.

The two were charged after a police investigation of the burglary March 22 at the Robert E. Eby home, 232 Bungalow Avenue. Mueller was linked to the crime by fingerprints found on a bottle of Scotch at Eby's home.

Deputy Caught In Middle Of Bolinas Power Fight

By PAT ANGLE

In some ways, the controversy surrounding Deputy Sheriff Joseph (Joe) Kelly is symbolic of the deeper conflicts now smouldering in Bolinas and other West Marin communities.

The 45-year-old deputy sheriff has — for the moment, anyway — become the focal point in a kind of power struggle between the "old timers and "straights" and the young "hip" newcomers for control of the character and future of the town.

Kelly, assigned to the West Marin beat for the past three years, has been a deputy for 13 years. He was in Marin City for four years and has also worked in many other areas of the county including Tiburon and Central Marin.

Before going into law enforcement, he was a truck driver for the Teamsters Union in San Francisco.

He and his wife live in Mill Valley. The couple has one son. At issue in the current struggle is Kelly's performance in his job. Is he "a fine police officer" and "a nice guy," as some say he is, or an "officious bastard" and a "bad apple" as others contend?

Recently the disagreement about Kelly and his particular brand of law enforcement broke into the open when he was "temporarily reassigned" to the northern area of West Marin, meaning that — for the time being — he will not be patroling around Bolinas and its environs.

Although his superiors insist there is no connection between the two events, his transfer followed closely on the hells of a police-community relations seminar in Bolinas.

At that session, Kelly was soundly denounced as "an SOB" and "a danger" by some residents who also presented a petition signed by 122 persons demanding his removal from the area.

Now about 150 Bolinas denizens have signed another petition asking to have him back and the fight is on, with each group hoping it will have the final say in what kind of law enforcement — and how much — the community will have.

To understand the situation, it is necessary to look at the population mix in Bolinas.

Until a few years ago, the town was populated chiefly by natives and long-time residents who ran things according to their lights. They were a group of individualists with very definite ideas of how their community should be and their plans met scant local opposition.

A few years ago, he younger generation discovered the beauty of the area and its accessibility to San Francisco and began arriving in droves.

Many were artists, craftsmen or young professional people seeking the ideal place to live and rear families, while others were simply dropouts who preferred to "crash" in beautiful surroundings.

As time went by, the newer residents gained political power through sheer numbers and eventually took control of the community's only political entity, the Bolinas Community Public Utility District, ousting the STORM CENTER — As calm as the eye of the hurricane is veteran Sheriff's Deputy Joseph Kelly, about whom swirls and on whom centers controversy arising from conflicting life styles in Bolinas. Though he has become that controversy's most visible symbol, he finds it a situation common to most communities these days and accepts with good humor the barbs aimed at him.

(Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

"I don't even think of him as a person, because he doesn't act like one, said a bearded shopkeeper who asked that his name not be used because of fear of "reprisals." "He's more like a robot, never says hello and isn't at all friendly."

"He's a remarkable person and a good cop," counters Philip L. Fritchey, who works for Seashore Realty and has become a kind of spokesman for the "straights" even though he is only 25 and has lived in Bolinas just four years.

"Joe's out to do a good job and he does it well," Fritchey said. "I don't believe that anyone can come up with a single legitimate beef against him."

"I don't think even the straights like Kelly," said another man. "But people are bitter and if the young hips "old timers" in a recall election.

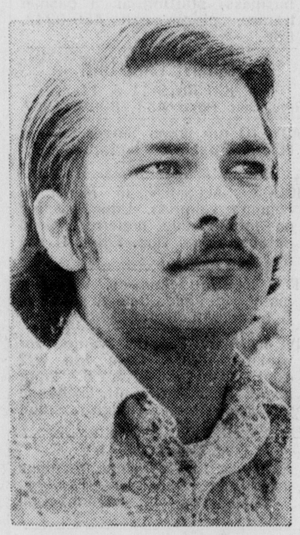
Since then the district has initiated certain policies which have proved unpopular with the veteran residents, including working on a master plan for Bolinas which will have definite effects on the community's future if the county approves it.

The older citizens resent what they consider "interlopers" and their seizure of power and the bitterness and mistrust between the two groups has grown.

Kelley is only a part of the struggle, one of the controversies which erupts periodically and draws the lines of battle more tightly.

As one questions representatives of both "sides" about Kelly, it is hard to believe that all the opinions and comments are about the same man.

Can the deputy, who allegedly stopped a school bus because a boy was making faces at him and told the youngster he could be arrested, be the same fellow who cared tenderly for a small boy who had been locked in a car on a sunny day and sought for three hours to find the child's mother?



PHILIP L. FRITCHEY
Deputy a "good cop"

don't like Kelly, they figure he must be a good thing."

Obviously, different people in Bolinas have different, often diametrically opposed-feeling toward the deputy.

Some see him as an unfriendly "old time" cop who has no mercy and would "give his own mother a ticket," a representative of "the worst of the Establishment."

"This is Sherwood Forest, filled with hundreds of Robin Hoods who see Joe Kelly as the sheriff of Nottingham," said Mickey Cummings, who counts himself among the Robin Hoods.

"He's the kind of guy who wouldn't stop to help if he saw a guy with long hair with his car in the ditch," said a young woman who refused to give her name. "Oh, he'd stop if he could give the guy a ticket for some violation, of course," she added.

Others, like Fritchey, view him as the kind of police officer they want and need to protect their town, an honest fellow who treats everyone equally — and fairly.

"He's the only officer we've ever had who gave out tickets equally to everyone and didn't let certain groups of people get away with things that others would be cited for," said Bolinas realtor George F. West.

West also disputed the contentions that Kelly has no mercy when confronted with minor violators. "That's not true; I've seen him warn people (rather than cite them) many times."

"Kelly's one of the best officers in the county; he uses his head and does his job. You can depend on him to check out anything, even a minor complaint," said Walt Mike who runs a take-out restaurant in nearby Stinson Beach.

"I just hope we get him back."

Kelly himself views the controversy swirling around his head with a certain amount of humor and manages to laugh at even the most biting criticisms.

He is convinced his most vocal detractors are "the kind of people who just don't want cops around, who don't want anything to do with the police." It's a problem everywhere not just in Bolinas," he said.

Fritchey agrees with that assessment. "There's a radical element here who can't stand Joe because they can't bend him to their wills. They're the ones who think they have every right to walk down the street smoking dope, lounge nude on the beach and get stoned drunk downtown and make all the noise they can."

Kelly's opponents insist they are not opposed to law enforcement in their community, only to Kelly himself. "There are some good, friendly cops, like Mike Aitken (another deputy)," one man said.

Fritchey, who helped to initiate the latest petition, is hopeful it will result in some official action to get Kelly reassigned to the Bolinas area.

Fritchey said, "people in this town, who aren't radicals or freaks, are an intimidated group and came to Kelly's defense so slowly because they are scared to say anything for fear their tires will be slashed or their windows broken or they'll find a bullet hole in their radiator.

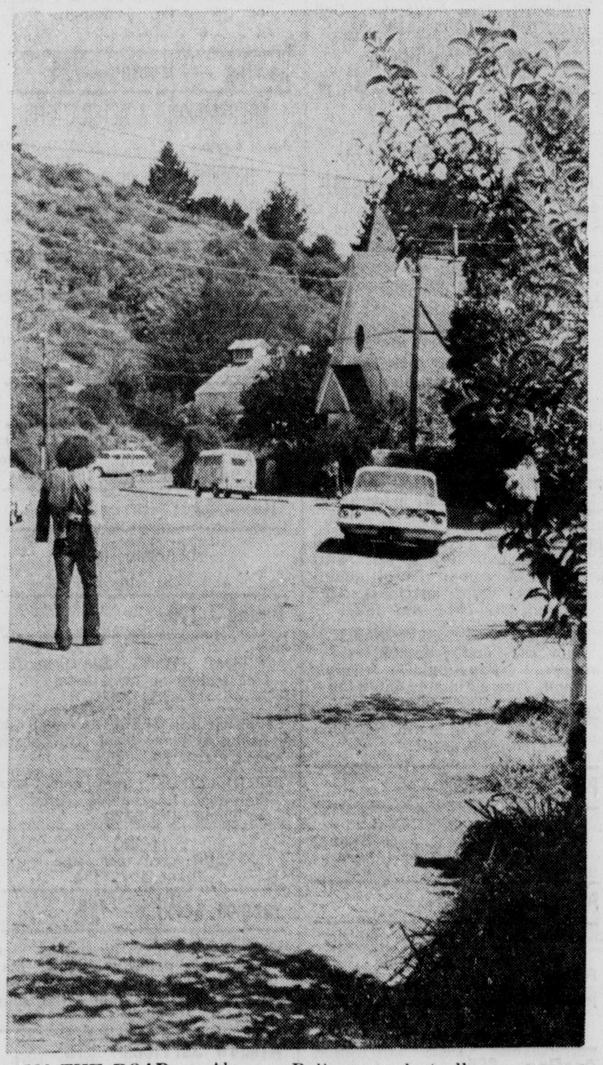
"But they are not going to sit back and let this kind of crap go on, having a sheriff who can be intimidated to the point of transferring one of the few deputies who gave people a feeling of security.

"If we don't do something, the sheriff's department will make it so easy for the radical element here that they'll all come to Bolinas; that way the rest of the county won't have to deal with them."

There is little doubt the conflict will continue.

If Kelly is returned, some residents say they may try to form their own local government — either by establishing a community services district or by incorporation — so the town will be able to hire the kind of law enforcement officers they want.

Whatever happens, it is pretty sure that any officer assigned to Bolinas will not have an easy time of it, caught, as he will be, between proponents of the "old and "new" moralities and those who see the policeman as a friend and others who view him as an enemy.



ON THE ROAD — Along a Bolinas road strolls a young man of the kind referred to by one of Kelly's detractors who says of the deputy, "He's the kind of guy who wouldn't help a guy with long hair."

UNCOMMITTED — About the only residents of Bolinas remaining aloof in the fight over Deputy Kelly are these dogs and all the others like them that are a goodly part of the pet conscious community. Like old men taking it easy in the sun, they leave the snarling and fighting to the human element.

WAYS OF LIFE — A symbol of contrasting lifestyles in Bolinas is offered by this van and the building across the street. The latter, whatever its use, is the very picture of the veranda-encircled home, four-square and white-trimmed, speaking of domestic routine and stability. The van, like many in the community and its environs, may well serve as a home of another kind, providing the capacity for rootless wandering so essential to its practitioners, so alien to the housebound.

SACRAMENTO — Despite the objections of Marin's respresentative, the Senate approved a bill yesterday that would extend the length of the crab season along the North Coast.

The measure, opposed by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, would extend the closing date of the season from July 15 to Aug. 31 until 1975.

The bill, by Assemblyman Pauline L. Davis, D-Portola, was sent to the Assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments on a 27-3 vote, the bare minimum required.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, floor sponsor of the legislation, said that while the crab population has declined from time to time, it always has come back.

Confidence Vote

ANKARA (UPI) — Parliament gave an overwhelming vote of confidence to the new government of Premier Naim Talu today, ending a government crisis that grew out of a heated battle for the presidency.

Knife Case To Superior Court

A 35-year-old San Rafael man has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a felony charge of assaulting a neighbor with a knife.

Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered John Lewis Gibson to appear in the higher court Wednesday.

Gibson was arrested by San Rafael police March 12 at Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue shortly after they found John G. Anderson, 47, bleeding from wounds in the chest and abdomen in his apartment at 321 Paloma Street.

Police said the two quarreled over a car Anderson had not returned on time to a mutual friend.

ANKARA (UPI) — Parliament gave an overwhelming vote of confidence to the new government of Premier Naim Talu today, ending a government crisis that grew out of a heated battle for the presidency.

Knife Case To Superior Court

A 35-year-old San Rafael man has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a felony charge of assaulting a neighbor with a knife.

Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered John Lewis Gibson to appear in the higher court Wednesday.

Gibson was arrested by San Rafael police March 12 at Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue shortly after they found John G. Anderson, 47, bleeding from wounds in the chest and abdomen in his apartment at 321 Paloma Street.

Police said the two quarreled over a car Anderson had not returned on time to a mutual friend.

CONGRATULATIONS—You are reading about one of the loveliest properties we have seen in ages. Both beauty & value. It is located in a superb area of beautiful homes on a dead-end street with privacy, convenience & lots of class. The view alone is fantastic & you don't have to be a billy goat, either, because it is close-in. You get the feeling & beauty of Switzerland! The home has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, shake roof, formal dining room, fireplace, large patio off kitchen, weatherstripped, insulated, etc., etc. Plus a gigantic, separate carriage house that would be ideal for a guest cottage, cabana, play room, workshop, what-have-you. The grounds (1⅓ acres) are all professionally landscaped with ease of maintenance & maximum beauty, including rock walls & terraces. There is a fantastic sun-drenched pool site. Truly a unique property that you won't find very often to say the least! We are proud to offer this rare find on an exclusive basis only with.

CONGRATULATIONS—You are reading about one of the loveliest properties we have seen in ages. Both beauty & value. It is located in a superb area of beautiful homes on a dead-end street with privacy, convenience & lots of class. The view alone is fantastic & you don't have to be a billy goat, either, because it is close-in. You get the feeling & beauty of Switzerland! The home has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, shake roof, formal dining room, fireplace, large patio off kitchen, weatherstripped, insulated, etc., etc. Plus a gigantic, separate carriage house that would be ideal for a guest cottage, cabana, play room, workshop, what-have-you. The grounds (1⅓ acres) are all professionally landscaped with ease of maintenance & maximum beauty, including rock walls & terraces. There is a fantastic sun-drenched pool site. Truly a unique property that you won't find very often to say the least! We are proud to offer this rare find on an exclusive basis only with.

INFORMATION
OPERATION EVERGREEN

Dear Friends of the Outdoors,

This is just to let you know that we will be participating in OPERATION EVERGREEN '73 during Earth Week, in late April. This means we will be giving away three-year-old pine seedlings to residents of this area, Saturday, April 28.

This is an environmental improvement project sponsored by Winnebago dealers nationwide. Nearly a million young trees will be made available in the U.S. and Canada to anyone who will plant and care for them.

As business men, we realize our business depends on travelers' love of outdoors, and that responsible U.S. industries help replenish natural resources. Therefore, local persons are invited to stop by our dealership April 28 and pick up a bundle of seedlings (while they last). No gimmicks, coupons, test drives or anything else involved. We welcome area clubs who want a bundle of pines for group projects.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
CASE NUMBER 65789

Superior Court of California, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael

Petitioner: JOSEPH JAMES PATRICKO
and
Respondent: DONNA PATRICKO

To the Respondent: The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within 30 days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorney's fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS TAMALPAIS COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT SEWER LINE REPAIR AND STREAM EROSION REPAIR AND PROTECTION NORTHERN AVENUE CANYON

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Tamalpais Community Services District of Marin County, California, will receive up to but not later than 8:00 p.m., on the 8th day of May, 1973, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the furnishing of all labor, materials, equipment and all other services required to construct, install and replace broken sewer line, concrete protection and rubble rock for stream bed erosion replacement and protection as required by and in accordance with the plan entitled "Northern Avenue Canyon Sewer Repair" prepared by the District Engineer, Job 73-16, dated April 21, 1973, and on file in the office of the Secretary of the District.

A bid bond will not be required for this project. Within Fifteen (15) days after written notice that the contract has been awarded, the successful bidder shall execute a contract with the District and shall furnish a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of said bid; said bond shall comply with all the provisions of Chapter 3 comprising Sections 4200-4208 inclusive of the Government Code of the State of California except that the amount is 100% as stipulated rather than the 50% provided by statute.

Notice is hereby given that on January 9, 1973, the Community Services Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done, for each craft or type of workmen required to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is attached hereto and incorporated herein and made a part of the specifications for said work.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Election Costs A Record?

Winning incumbent councilman Lawrence E. Mulryan and councilman-elect Jack G. Nixon spent a total of $10,635.11 in what may have been the most expensive campaign for election to the San Rafael City Council in history.

Campaign costs of the two are detailed on campaign statements filed at city hall.

And on May 22, the deadline for filing of campaign statements by losers in the six-way race for two seats — San Rafael's 1973 council campaign may rank as the most costly in the city's history.

Nixon spent a total of $5,508.17 and received contributions totalling $5,314, according to his campaign statement. Mulryan spent a total of $5,126.94 and received contributions totalling $4,769.33, according to his campaign statement.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini, noting that he spent about $4,500 in a successful bid for mayorship in 1965, said he believes that this year's expenses by the winners are the highest in the city's election history.

Mulryan, who made public virtually all of his campaign contributions before the election, now reports also receiving $250 from Al Shields and $200 each from James Ring III and Joseph J. Garbarino.

Nixon, who also made public his campaign contributions before the election, listed these contributions of $50 or more not previously reported: Cirilo Gonzales, $500; James M. Kennedy, $200; George P. Leonard, $200; First American Title Co., Jerome Draper, Joseph Fitzpatrick, Crowley Co., Captec Financial Services, Inc., and James W. Good, $100 ach; William B. Lynch, Gary Owens, Leon Fish and Arthur J. Lang, $50 each.

Mulryan, who listed a total of 234 contributors, received 5,141 votes and Nixon, who listed a total of 126 contributors, received 4,540 votes.

Both men listed the names of their contributors and the specific amounts they contributed, although state law requires only the names of contributors be listed if they gave less than $500, according to Peter C. Meyer, county elections officer.

The law also requires that "goods and services" worth over $500 be listed along with donors, Meyer said. Neither Mulryan or Nixon reported receipt of such goods or services.

San Rafael Board of Education victors Paul K. McMullen and Suzanne L. Beittel also filed campaign statements at city hall, with McMullen listing $332 contributed and $301.60 spent and Mrs. Beittel listing $207.43 contributed and $339.08 spent.

McMullen reported 15 campaign contributions, the highest being $50 from G. S. Jones, and Mrs. Beittel reported 19 campaign contributions, the highest being two $25 donations.

McMullen also reported that his expenditures of $301.60 "do not include costs of posters, bumper stickers and campaign brochures and postage which were contributed to my campaign. The cost of these items is unknown to me."

McMullen said yesterday that although he believes these goods and services were worth less than $500, his campaign committee will file a separate expense report detailing them.

Man Appeals To Housing Board In Effort To Retain Apartment

A young unemployed mechanic, backed by county human rights officials, appealed to the Marin County Housing Authority board last night to correct a staff mistake which may force him to lose his apartment. (Another housing authority story, page 1.)

Ed Emond, a 28-year-old resident of San Rafael, told the board his Woodland Avenue apartment was accepted for the federally subsidized "leased housing program" last month when he moved in, only to be taken off the program days later.

Previously, he had been living in a $100-per-month home in Fairfax with his wife and child but found the rent difficult to pay on limited income.

With another child due, his wife began looking for a larger apartment, locating one in San Rafael for $160 per month. The couple approached the housing authority staff to place the apartment on the leased housing program, he said.

According to Emond, the apartment was inspected and accepted by the housing authority, which agreed to pay $124 of the $160 rent. Days later, no contract having been signed, he was told that 20 per cent of the tenants in the apartment building already were being subsidized, the housing authority's limit for any one building, and that he was out of luck.

He can't afford the full rent, has no place to move and the apartment manager is generously taking the loss, Emond told the board, asking for a variance in the 20 per cent policy so he may remain.

His story was supported by Gerald J. Hood, executive director of the human rights department, and Robert Hollis, grievance counselor, who said their investigation indicated the authority staff had originally accepted the apartment for the subsidized program.

"The human rights department is not acting properly," responded Robert Lee, head of leased housing. "It's unfair to consider the allegations without being presented. . .documented facts," he said, though later acknowledging he had reviewed the case previously with human rights officials. "It's impossible for the staff to defend itself" without its files at hand, he added.

Board member Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. replied that the matter had been reported in the Independent-Journal March 23 and he had twice requested a report but the staff had apparently chosen not to prepare one.

Lee then said he had never told the Emonds to move into the Woodland Avenue apartment and that they had done so on their own. "I resent the implications," he said.

Further, he continued, the matter did not involve the authority's 20 per cent limitation on occupancy.

Lee later told the board he had erred in his previous statements and it did involve the 20 per cent policy.

The board, caught in the cross-fire of conflicting facts and figures, directed its staff to meet with Emonds and human rights officials to iron out the differences and report back at the next meeting.

Wounded Knee Talks Suspended Four Days

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Indians holding Wounded Knee broke off negotiations with the federal government until Sunday to observe four days of mourning for a comrade who became the first person to die from wounds received in an exchange of gunfire with government forces.

Frank Clearwater, 47, identified as an Apache from Cherokee, N.C., died Wednesday in a Rapid City, S.D., hospital from a head wound suffered April 17 during a heavy exchange of gunfire occupants of Wounded Knee and federal officers.

Clearwater had been in critical condition since being admitted to St. John's Hospital and had undergone brain surgery for the bullet wound in the head. The government said he apparently infiltrated the village about two days before the gun battle.

Clearwater's widow, Morning Star, said she intended to have her husband buried at Wounded Knee.

But Richard Hellstern, the top government official at Pine Ridge, said the Oglala Sioux Tribal Council indicated burial would not be permitted because Clearwater was not a Sioux.

He also said an FBI investigation conducted with fingerprints indicated his name was Frank Clear, and "we tend to believe he was white rather than Indian."

Clearwater was the first person to die since the armed takeover of Wounded Knee on Feb. 27. Several persons had been injured, including a U.S. marshal who was paralyzed from the waist down after being injured in a firefight at Wounded Knee in March.

Hellstern said the Indians inside Wounded Knee radioed that negotiations would be suspended until after the four-day period of mourning.

He said he would reply to the Indians' proposed agenda aimed at reopening negotiations sometime after Sunday.

Three Of Four Adults Said Newspaper Readers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) winds up its 87th annual convention today after receiving a report that on an average weekday 77 per cent of adults, age 18 or over, read a daily paper.

The report was based on a national survey, the first of its kind, sponsored by the ANPA News Research Center. The survey involved personal interviews with nearly 2,000 persons in 200 geographic areas selected at random.

The survey showed that nearly half the average newspaper's pages are dominated by general news and the average newspaper item is read by about one-fourth of the issue's readers. Almost all people go through all pages of a newspaper, it said.

The survey found 35 specific subject categories but only one —sports—accounts for more than 10 per cent of all items. The average paper has twice as many men's pages as pages of women's interest.

Gloria Steinem, the women's liberation leader, told the publishers Wednesday that they should no longer view their women's pages as a means of selling ads but a place for reporting the "deep, important issues in women's lives."

Miss Steinem accused the publishers of resisting the women's lib movement in a way that will "cause it to explode in a much more difficult and complex way" than necessary. She said most papers do not take the movement seriously and misrepresent its activities if it covers them at all.

"You are using divide and conquer tactics to make women's lib appear not worthwhile," she said. "When women libbers disagree, it's that fight that is emphasized, not the issues. When I join demonstrations for causes that are worth reporting, I am only quoted about Jackie Onassis and bra burning."

Chinese Honor Paley And Wife

HONG KONG (UPI) — William S. Paley, chairman of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and his wife were honored at a dinner Wednesday in Peking.

Tai Cheng-yuan, deputy director of the Central Broadcasting Administration, was host at the dinner, the New China News Agency reported Thursday.

Russ Ship Docks In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — The first Soviet merchant ship ever to dock at this Great lakes port arrived Wednesday.

The Stanislavsky docked without incident at pier 32, although police earlier said there were rumors that demonstrations were planned.

The ship which will go on to Detroit and Chicago, arrived with 75 tons of plate glass from the Soviet Union and general cargo from Germany and France.

Horse Lovers Protest Sales

OAKLYN, N.J. (UPI) — Leone's Meat Market had a successful opening day Wednesday selling equine steaks and chops, despite a group of protesters who rode their horses outside the shop.

"It's an indication of moral degradation," said protest organizer Ken Carver of Westmont, as he reined his stallion outside the market. "It's a sickening practice."

While some of the 40 demonstrators, some with horses, called out, "Eat spaghetti, not horses," co-owner James Leone and three workers handled a steady stream of customers intent on buying a variety of chuck and cube steaks and sirloin and T-bones at prices advertised as cheaper than similar beef cuts.

New Owner For JFK Manor House

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (UPI) — W. Higgons Perry, a wealthy business executive who operates a thoroughbred racing stable, is the new owner of Wexford, a home built by the late President John F. Kennedy who stayed there only once— the weekend before his assassination.

The purchase price was not disclosed, but the Glasscock and Co. real estate firm, which was handling the transaction, said it had been asking $400,000.

Kids Training For Special Olympics

There are a lot of youngsters in Marin County getting ready for their one big athletic chance of the year. The boys and girls who will be competing are not exceptionally fast, strong or talented. But they will be giving it their best shot, and that's what counts. In this event the trying is the important thing.

It will be the Special Olympics for retarded children, Saturday, May 5, at San Rafael High School. It will be on the school's track field, in the swimming pool, and in the gymnasium. Some 200 kids from age six will be there.

Behind this special kind of Olympics are the Cedars Development Foundation of Marin, Easter Seals Society and Marin Aid to Retarded Children. It's open to the public and costs $1, the money, of course, going to help the retarded programs in Marin.

The children will compete in running events from the 50-yard dash to the mile run, in the standing long jump and softball throw. In swimming, they will compete in the 25 and 50-yard freestyle events, and this year, the fifth, team volleyball competition will be included.

Coaching the boys and girls in track and field are Drake coaches Carl (Red) Brown and Archie Williams and former Marin Catholic coach Gary Hughes, now an athletic equipment salesman. Lakers Want To Meet New York Next

Los Angeles Draws Raves From Attles

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — There was virtual silence in the dressing room of the team that shocked Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and the Milwaukee Bucks.

Nate Thurmond had a slight concussion and the usually affable Al Attles, the coach of the Golden State Warriors, wore a frown.

"The Lakers just had a great game tonight," he said grimly. "But I can't say we played a bad game. I just don't want to take anything away from the Lakers. They did everything you need to win. They played great defense, blocked the passing lanes and ran their fast break very effectively."

Playing with a broken nose, Thurmond, the 10-year pro from Bowling Green, was accidently smashed in the jaw by the Lakers' Jerry West early in the third period.

The 6-foot-11 Warriors' center got up after being stretched out on the court for three minutes and played the next four minutes of the quarter but then was replaced. He went to the dressing room at the start of the fourth period as the Lakers went on to win 128-118.

"I didn't know what was going on," he said. "I really felt dizzy."

After the Golden State team's scheduled arrival back home early today, Thurmond was to be checked at a hospital.

Ironically, the Warriors' big center—the key man in stopping Abdul-Jabbar and the Bucks in six games in Golden State's first playoff series—was hit in the nose by West in his team's 117-109 win at Oakland Monday night.

The result was a fracture of a small bone in his nose.

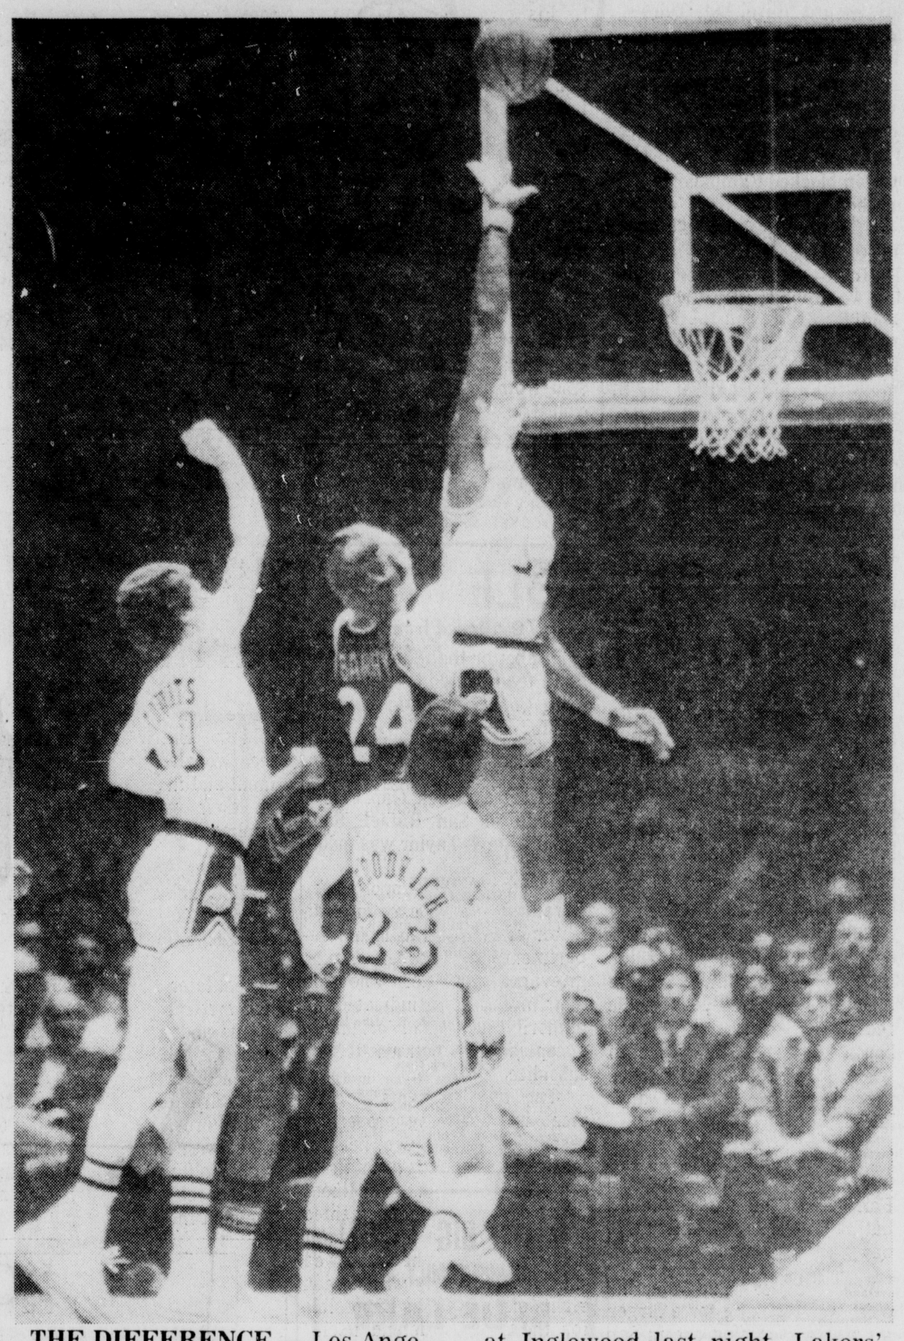
Thurmond did feel well enough to compliment Laker giant Wilt Chamberlain, who pulled down a game high 22 rebounds and established quick superiority over the Warriors' inside game by blocking four shots in the first quarter.

"When Wilt wants to play like he did tonight," said Thurmond, "he's unstoppable."

Attles said the key to the Laker-Warrior series was two Los Angeles wins (101-99 and 104-93) at home in the first two games.

"I didn't want to say anything before," the Goden State coach declared, "but those two losses really hurt. We had to have a split and we didn't get it."

In the Warriors' fourth defeat in five games against Los Angeles, Cazzie Russell led the way with 29 points and Jim Barnett added 26 while Thurmond, playing 32 minutes, had 15 rebounds.



THE DIFFERENCE — Los Angeles Laker center Wilt Chamberlain jumped high to block a shot by Golden State Warrior Rick Barry (24) in the fifth and final National Basketball Association Western Conference playoff game at Inglewood last night. Lakers' Gail Goodrich (25) and Mel Counts (31) looked on. Chamberlain's shot blocking and hot Laker shooting enabled Los Angeles to win 128-118 and clinch the best-of-seven series, 4-1. Warriors Gunned Down By Torrid Goodrich

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — For the ninth time in 13 years since they came west from Minneapoiis, the Los Angeles Lakers are in the National Basketball Association finals and there's no question whom they want to meet for the championship.

But there is a question whether the Lakers are being absolutely honest about why they hope to face the New York Knicks.

"I hope the New York-Boston series is decided Friday night," croaked Laker coach Bill Sharman after his defending champions used a 44-point outburst by diminutive Gail Goodrich to destroy the Golden State Warriors 128-118 Wednesday night.

"I'd rather play New York, but only because it would give us the home court advantage."

The Celtics and Dave Cowens, though, appear to present more of a problem than the Knicks. With Cowens giving Wilt Chamberlain fits, Boston won four straight from the Lakers during the regular season.

New York holds a 3-2 edge in the Eastern Conference finals and a Knick victory at home Friday night would mean the finals could start as early as Sunday night here. However, a Tuesday night opener, in such a case, would be more likely.

"We'd rather play New York," echoed Goodrich, "because of the home court advantage."

Since Boston had the best regular season record (68-14), the Celtics would get the extra game with the Lakers in a seven-game series. That advantage would go to the Lakers (60-22) if New York (57-25) is their opponent in the finals for the second straight year.

The Lakers took out the Knicks in five games a year ago. During this regular season, the clubs split four contests.

Although Wednesday night's Los Angeles win was by 10 points, the game was virtually over in the first 3:02 of the second half when the Lakers blitzed the Warriors 14-2 to build a 58-50 halftime lead into a 72-52 bulge.

Goodrich, who had averaged just four points and shot only 38 per cent from the floor in the first four games against Golden State, set a playoff record with 10 field goals in the third quarter, erasing Elgin Baylor's mark of nine.

Twenty-one of his points came in the third period — one shy of Baylor's playoff record —and he finished the game with 19 of 26 from the field along with eight assists.

It was the 6-foot-1 former UCLA guard's third best scoring night in his eight pro seasons and his best in the playoffs. He once hit 47 points for Phoenix and 46 against Portland this past season.

Happy Hairston, a starting forward until sidelined by a severe injury at Chicago Dec. 12, returned to the lineup for the last 4:13 and even hit a basket.

Juan Helping Ailing Giants

CHICAGO (UPI) — Juan Marichal is back to his 1971 form and so are the San Francisco Giants.

Marichal exhibited the zing that made him a perennial 20-game winner in years past by blanking the Chicago Cubs 5-0 on eight hits Wednesday. Chris Speier and Dave Kingman made Marichal's task easier by tagging solo homers off right-hander Ferguson Jenkins.

It was the first homer of the season for Kingman, who carried a .107 average into the game. He played third base in place of Ed Goodson.

Marichal, now 4-1, exhibited perfect control. He didn't walk a batter and struck out four while running his lifetime record against the Cubs to 22-8.

Last season, the Giants were counted out of the National League West race early and one of the reasons was because of Marichal's ineffectiveness due to a chronic bad back. He finished at 6-16 but had back surgery during the winter and is now showing some of the flashes of old.

The victory coupled with a Cincinnati triumph kept the Giants two games ahead of the Reds in first place in the NL West. San Francisco has won 15 of its first 20 games, comparable to its pennant-winning pace of 1971.

Today the teams close out their three-game series with lefty Ron Bryant (2-1) trying to complete the Giants' sweep against Burt Hooton (1-1).

Giants outfielder Garry Maddox was hospitalized Wednesday because of an infection in the left shinbone injured April 9 when he was hit by a foul ball.

San Francisco added an unearned run off Jenkins in the sixth inning when Tito Fuentes was safe on an error, stole second and scored on Gary Thomasson's single.

The Giants scored twice in the eighth. Fuentes and Speier singled and Fuentes scored when reliever Dave LaRoche threw wild on an attempted pickoff at first. Willie McCovey then singled home Speier.

Novato Sets Record In Golf Match

Novato High School's golf team yesterday set a record that is going to be very hard to duplicate. The record should last for years and years.

Playing against Marin Catholic High School on the Novato home course, Indian Valley, the team scored a five-under par 175, breaking the old course team prep record by 10 strokes. Of the five golfers whose scores counted, four broke par and one played even par.

Mike Leach led with a two-under-par 34, followed by Jim Vaughan, Doug Henderson and Tom Lamore, each with 35s and Rick Anderson, 36. The score that had to be thrown out (top five count) was Terry Leach's 37, just one over par!

"These guys are doing a heck of a job," said Novato golf coach and athletic director Al Scott. "That's, by far, the best score on a par 36 course ever in Marin County."

The total of 175 was 72

ABA Gets Jump In Signing Draftees

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association, which postponed its college draft twice in order to select after the National Basketball Association, is apparently ahead of the older league when it comes to signing some top collegians and drafting underclassmen.

Dwight Lamar, a 6-foot-2 sharpshooting guard from Southwestern Louisiana, will sign a long term contract with the ABA's San Diego Conquistadors, his attorney said.

"Monday we consummated an arrangement whereby the ABA entered into a long-term contract with Dwight Lamar," said Bob F. Wright. "We have plans to be in San Diego Sunday to complete the arrangement."

Lamar was the first pick in the ABA's regular draft, held by a phone hookup from the league's New York office, but only a third-round Detroit choice in Tuesday's NBA draft.

Lamar went 45th in the NBA and first in the ABA but the numbers lie. They don't mean that Lamar, the only player in the history of college basketball to have led both the College Division and University Division in scoring, was more highly regarded by the ABA than its rival league.

Instead, the disparity reflects professional basketball's ongoing war for collegiate talent. Wright said that Portland of the NBA was going to draft Lamar second, but removed him from its list.

"They were seriously trying," Wright said of the NBA's efforts to land the high-scoring Lamar. "But when we reached an agreement with the ABA, we notified the NBA to take him off their list."

The ABA's second choice was Larry Finch, who led his Memphis State team into the NCAA finals last season. He was selected by the Memphis Tams, but finished way up the track in the NBA. The gamblers, in this case the Los Angeles Lakers, seemed to have some inside information and only picked Finch in the fourth round.

The ABA, which brought such innovations as the three-point bomb and the beach-ball basketball to the sport, has another dandy: a special two-round draft of undergraduates. San Diego had first selection here too and tabbed UCLA's all-everything, Bill Walton.

But Walton, who turned down a reported $2 million to sign with the Philadelphia 76ers as a hardship selection, has insisted that he will remain a student-athlete at UCLA.

Marin Track Star Biber Snaps Record

SUISUN CITY — College of Marin freshman Greg Biber broke a four-year-old school record in the triple jump but the Tars fell to Solano Community College, 83-50, in a makeup track and field meet.

Biber triple jumped 44 feet, 8½ inches to snap the 1969 record of Paul Leete, 44 feet, 3 inches. The meet was a makeup of a washed out clash originally scheduled March 30.

The defeat ended Marin's (1-6) dual meet season in the Camino Norte Conference. Next meet for the Tars will be the Northern California Relays Saturday in San Jose.

Celtics Cope With Pressure

BOSTON (UPI) — What a difference three days can make. You can fold up under the pressure on Sunday and ignore it on Wednesday.

The Boston Celtics couldn't come up with the big man in Sunday's game at New York as the Knickerbockers tied the game at the end of regulation time, then prevailed in double overtime.

Wednesday night, New York overcame a 12-point deficit in the fourth period to overtake Boston in the final minute but Paul Silas rose to the occasion for the Celtics and bought Boston a return ticket to New York for a sixth game in their Eastern Division playoff series.

Silas (nine points—20 rebounds) dropped two clutch free throws with seven seconds remaining in the game to give Boston its 98-97 edge and then grabbed the decisive rebound after Willis Reed attempted a baseline jumper with seconds left.

Boston closed New York's margin to 3-2 in their best-ofseven series and will face the Knicks in Madison Square Garden in New York on Friday night, still facing elimination.

"This was a must ball game," said Silas. "We still have to go to New York but we're putting a little pressure on them now."

Boston strained to put up an intense defensive effort in the final seven seconds when New York made its last move to end the series. Silas capped the

A's Throttled By Hayward Pitcher

The setting was the Oakland Coliseum Wednesday night and with 20 members of his family in the stands, Tidrow stopped the Oakland A's on two singles while leading the Cleveland Indians to a 1-0 victory.

Tidrow, who won't be 26 until May 14, grew up in nearby Hayward, less than 10 miles from the Coliseum. While he was aware of the A's, Tidrow signed with the Indians, who picked him in the third round of the January, 1967, free agent draft.

Tidrow said he did a lot of things wrong in his last start against Boston. So he got together with pitching coach Warren Spahn and "we straightened out a few things.

Despite the fine effort, Tidrow needed a fine play by catcher Dave Duncan and a pair of errors by Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando to beat the A's.

Kids Training For Special Olympics

There are a lot of youngsters in Marin County getting ready for their one big athletic chance of the year. The boys and girls who will be competing are not exceptionally fast, strong or talented. But they will be giving it their best shot, and that's what counts. In this event the trying is the important thing.

It will be the Special Olympics for retarded children, Saturday, May 5, at San Rafael High School. It will be on the school's track field, in the swimming pool, and in the gymnasium. Some 200 kids from age six will be there.

Juan Helping Ailing Giants

CHICAGO (UPI) — Juan Marichal is back to his 1971 form and so are the San Francisco Giants.

Marichal exhibited the zing that made him a perennial 20-game winner in years past by blanking the Chicago Cubs 5-0 on eight hits Wednesday. Chris Speier and Dave Kingman made Marichal's task easier by tagging solo homers off right-hander Ferguson Jenkins.

It was the first homer of the season for Kingman, who carried a .107 average into the game. He played third base in place of Ed Goodson.

Marichal, now 4-1, exhibited perfect control. He didn't walk a batter and struck out four while running his lifetime record against the Cubs to 22-8.

Last season, the Giants were counted out of the National League West race early and one of the reasons was because of Marichal's ineffectiveness due to a chronic bad back. He finished at 6-16 but had back surgery during the winter and is now showing some of the flashes of old.

The victory coupled with a Cincinnati triumph kept the Giants two games ahead of the Reds in first place in the NL West. San Francisco has won 15 of its first 20 games, comparable to its pennant-winning pace of 1971.

Today the teams close out their three-game series with lefty Ron Bryant (2-1) trying to complete the Giants' sweep against Burt Hooton (1-1).

Giants outfielder Garry Maddox was hospitalized Wednesday because of an infection in the left shinbone injured April 9 when he was hit by a foul ball.

San Francisco added an unearned run off Jenkins in the sixth inning when Tito Fuentes was safe on an error, stole second and scored on Gary Thomasson's single.

The Giants scored twice in the eighth. Fuentes and Speier singled and Fuentes scored when reliever Dave LaRoche threw wild on an attempted pickoff at first. Willie McCovey then singled home Speier.

Novato Sets Record In Golf Match

Novato High School's golf team yesterday set a record that is going to be very hard to duplicate. The record should last for years and years.

Playing against Marin Catholic High School on the Novato home course, Indian Valley, the team scored a five-under par 175, breaking the old course team prep record by 10 strokes. Of the five golfers whose scores counted, four broke par and one played even par.

Mike Leach led with a two-under-par 34, followed by Jim Vaughan, Doug Henderson and Tom Lamore, each with 35s and Rick Anderson, 36. The score that had to be thrown out (top five count) was Terry Leach's 37, just one over par!

"These guys are doing a heck of a job," said Novato golf coach and athletic director Al Scott. "That's, by far, the best score on a par 36 course ever in Marin County."

The total of 175 was 72

A's Throttled By Hayward Pitcher

The setting was the Oakland Coliseum Wednesday night and with 20 members of his family in the stands, Tidrow stopped the Oakland A's on two singles while leading the Cleveland Indians to a 1-0 victory.

Tidrow, who won't be 26 until May 14, grew up in nearby Hayward, less than 10 miles from the Coliseum. While he was aware of the A's, Tidrow signed with the Indians, who picked him in the third round of the January, 1967, free agent draft.

Tidrow said he did a lot of things wrong in his last start against Boston. So he got together with pitching coach Warren Spahn and "we straightened out a few things.

Despite the fine effort, Tidrow needed a fine play by catcher Dave Duncan and a pair of errors by Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando to beat the A's.

ABA Gets Jump In Signing Draftees

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association, which postponed its college draft twice in order to select after the National Basketball Association, is apparently ahead of the older league when it comes to signing some top collegians and drafting underclassmen.

Dwight Lamar, a 6-foot-2 sharpshooting guard from Southwestern Louisiana, will sign a long term contract with the ABA's San Diego Conquistadors, his attorney said.

"Monday we consummated an arrangement whereby the ABA entered into a long-term contract with Dwight Lamar," said Bob F. Wright. "We have plans to be in San Diego Sunday to complete the arrangement."

Lamar was the first pick in the ABA's regular draft, held by a phone hookup from the league's New York office, but only a third-round Detroit choice in Tuesday's NBA draft.

Lamar went 45th in the NBA and first in the ABA but the numbers lie. They don't mean that Lamar, the only player in the history of college basketball to have led both the College Division and University Division in scoring, was more highly regarded by the ABA than its rival league.

Instead, the disparity reflects professional basketball's ongoing war for collegiate talent. Wright said that Portland of the NBA was going to draft Lamar second, but removed him from its list.

"They were seriously trying," Wright said of the NBA's efforts to land the high-scoring Lamar. "But when we reached an agreement with the ABA, we notified the NBA to take him off their list."

The ABA's second choice was Larry Finch, who led his Memphis State team into the NCAA finals last season. He was selected by the Memphis Tams, but finished way up the track in the NBA. The gamblers, in this case the Los Angeles Lakers, seemed to have some inside information and only picked Finch in the fourth round.

The ABA, which brought such innovations as the three-point bomb and the beach-ball basketball to the sport, has another dandy: a special two-round draft of undergraduates. San Diego had first selection here too and tabbed UCLA's all-everything, Bill Walton.

But Walton, who turned down a reported $2 million to sign with the Philadelphia 76ers as a hardship selection, has insisted that he will remain a student-athlete at UCLA.

Marin Track Star Biber Snaps Record

SUISUN CITY — College of Marin freshman Greg Biber broke a four-year-old school record in the triple jump but the Tars fell to Solano Community College, 83-50, in a makeup track and field meet.

Biber triple jumped 44 feet, 8½ inches to snap the 1969 record of Paul Leete, 44 feet, 3 inches. The meet was a makeup of a washed out clash originally scheduled March 30.

The defeat ended Marin's (1-6) dual meet season in the Camino Norte Conference. Next meet for the Tars will be the Northern California Relays Saturday in San Jose.

Celtics Cope With Pressure

BOSTON (UPI) — What a difference three days can make. You can fold up under the pressure on Sunday and ignore it on Wednesday.

The Boston Celtics couldn't come up with the big man in Sunday's game at New York as the Knickerbockers tied the game at the end of regulation time, then prevailed in double overtime.

Wednesday night, New York overcame a 12-point deficit in the fourth period to overtake Boston in the final minute but Paul Silas rose to the occasion for the Celtics and bought Boston a return ticket to New York for a sixth game in their Eastern Division playoff series.

Silas (nine points—20 rebounds) dropped two clutch free throws with seven seconds remaining in the game to give Boston its 98-97 edge and then grabbed the decisive rebound after Willis Reed attempted a baseline jumper with seconds left.

Boston closed New York's margin to 3-2 in their best-of-seven series and will face the Knicks in Madison Square Garden in New York on Friday night, still facing elimination.

"This was a must ball game," said Silas. "We still have to go to New York but we're putting a little pressure on them now."

Boston strained to put up an intense defensive effort in the final seven seconds when New York made its last move to end the series. Silas capped the GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers say today there is nothing significant about a complaint that the National Football League club played a role in Jim Stillwagon's Canadian farewell.

Stillwagon, a Packer draft choice in 1971 who signed a Toronto contract, has withdrawn from his Toronto home and the Canadian Football League's pension plan, evidently returning to the United States.

The linebacker's behavior caused the Argonauts to file a protest with the NFL, citing the Packers. Green Bay General Manager Dan Devine was in Minneapolis and unavailable immediately for comment, but his Green Bay office issued a statement, declaring there "is absolutely nothing to the charges as reported in the news media. struggle, pulling in Reed's desperation shot at the buzzer as the ball fell short of the hoop.

Silas wasn't the only Celtic to come through with a clutch performance last night. John Havlicek came off the bench to start the second period despite the aching right shoulder which kept him out of Sunday's contest in New York. Havlicek played 30 minutes, scoring 18 points and providing the Celtics with badly needed inspirational leadership and discipline while favoring his pain-stricken arm.

"Sure, it hurt," said Havlicek. "I just tried to keep it out of the way of people. You know it's there but it's not unbearable. It's only unbearable when you take it beyond the point where you feel the pain.

"I couldn't shoot my routine shot because I didn't have the range of motion in my shoulder. I had to shoot from the side rather than straight over the head. On the free throws I had to get a lot more leg into it than usual."

and went to third on an infield out. Joe Rudi then topped the ball toward third but Tidrow got it in time to throw him out. Campaneris held third while Tidrow threw towards first and then dashed for home.

First baseman Chris Chambliss quickly fired home and Duncan blocked Campaneris off and then tagged him.

"That was the game as far as I'm concerned," said Tidrow. "If Dave doesn't make that play we probably don't win the game."

The Indians then scored the game's only run in the second. Oscar Gamble walked and raced to third on a single by George Hendrick. Rudi threw towards third but the ball got through Campaneris for an error and when Bando threw wild backing up the play, Gamble raced home.

"We gave them a run and the umpires took away the only one we had," said A's Manager Dick Williams. The A's skipper was referring to the play in the first inning, which he claimed was a bad call by plate umpire Jim Odom on Campaneris' dash home.

Tidrow struck out three batters and walked three in posting his second victory in five decisions. Rollie Fingers, making his first start since May 15, 1971 took the loss for the A's.

Staub Throws 2 Parties

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Rusty Staub threw two parties Wednesday night—one for his New York Met teammates during the game and one for his old Houston pals after it.

What Rusty ordered served for the second party is not a matter of public record but the Mets thoroughly enjoyed what he gave them: two home runs and a single and two runs batted in during a 5-2 triumph over the Astros. What's more, the Mets are confident that Staub will be tossing many such parties in the future for them.

Counted upon to be the Mets' most consistent long-range hitter, Staub started the game with one hit in his previous 29 at bats and a .102 batting average for the season. The light-hitting Mets rate Staub a superstar and point to the fact that they were leading the National League East by five games in 1972 when he suffered a fractured right hand in June. He was sidelined for virtually the remainder of the season and the Mets finished third.

Staub led off the second inning with a homer off Don Wilson and opened the fifth inning with another homer off Tom Griffin. John Milner's two-run double in a three-run third inning outburst was the other key blow for New York as Jerry Koosman went the distance for his third straight win.

San Francisco defeated Chicago 5-0, Cincinnati beat Montreal 7-4, Los Angeles topped St. Louis 5-3 in 11 innings and Atlanta scored a 5-2 victory over Philadelphia in other NL games. San Diego at Pittsburgh was rained out.

"My slump was caused by the way I was holding the bat," explained Staub, who played in Houston from 1964 through 1968 and still has many friends there. "I started feeling better about a week ago but it took a little time for the hits to fall. Actually, I'd been hitting the ball well for the previous five games.

"This team isn't dependent upon me," he continued, making himself a minority of one in the Met clubhouse. "But I am a big plus if I am playing well."

struggle, pulling in Reed's desperation shot at the buzzer as the ball fell short of the hoop.

Silas wasn't the only Celtic to come through with a clutch performance last night. John Havlicek came off the bench to start the second period despite the aching right shoulder which kept him out of Sunday's contest in New York. Havlicek played 30 minutes, scoring 18 points and providing the Celtics with badly needed inspirational leadership and discipline while favoring his pain-stricken arm.

"Sure, it hurt," said Havlicek. "I just tried to keep it out of the way of people. You know it's there but it's not unbearable. It's only unbearable when you take it beyond the point where you feel the pain.

"I couldn't shoot my routine shot because I didn't have the range of motion in my shoulder. I had to shoot from the side rather than straight over the head. On the free throws I had to get a lot more leg into it than usual."

and went to third on an infield out. Joe Rudi then topped the ball toward third but Tidrow got it in time to throw him out. Campaneris held third while Tidrow threw towards first and then dashed for home.

First baseman Chris Chambliss quickly fired home and Duncan blocked Campaneris off and then tagged him.

"That was the game as far as I'm concerned," said Tidrow. "If Dave doesn't make that play we probably don't win the game."

The Indians then scored the game's only run in the second. Oscar Gamble walked and raced to third on a single by George Hendrick. Rudi threw towards third but the ball got through Campaneris for an error and when Bando threw wild backing up the play, Gamble raced home.

"We gave them a run and the umpires took away the only one we had," said A's Manager Dick Williams. The A's skipper was referring to the play in the first inning, which he claimed was a bad call by plate umpire Jim Odom on Campaneris' dash home.

Tidrow struck out three batters and walked three in posting his second victory in five decisions. Rollie Fingers, making his first start since May 15, 1971 took the loss for the A's.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Staub Throws 2 Parties

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Rusty Staub threw two parties Wednesday night—one for his New York Met teammates during the game and one for his old Houston pals after it.

What Rusty ordered served for the second party is not a matter of public record but the Mets thoroughly enjoyed what he gave them: two home runs and a single and two runs batted in during a 5-2 triumph over the Astros. What's more, the Mets are confident that Staub will be tossing many such parties in the future for them.

Counted upon to be the Mets' most consistent long-range hitter, Staub started the game with one hit in his previous 29 at bats and a .102 batting average for the season. The light-hitting Mets rate Staub a superstar and point to the fact that they were leading the National League East by five games in 1972 when he suffered a fractured right hand in June. He was sidelined for virtually the remainder of the season and the Mets finished third.

Staub led off the second inning with a homer off Don Wilson and opened the fifth inning with another homer off Tom Griffin. John Milner's two-run double in a three-run third inning outburst was the other key blow for New York as Jerry Koosman went the distance for his third straight win.

San Francisco defeated Chicago 5-0, Cincinnati beat Montreal 7-4, Los Angeles topped St. Louis 5-3 in 11 innings and Atlanta scored a 5-2 victory over Philadelphia in other NL games. San Diego at Pittsburgh was rained out.

"My slump was caused by the way I was holding the bat," explained Staub, who played in Houston from 1964 through 1968 and still has many friends there. "I started feeling better about a week ago but it took a little time for the hits to fall. Actually, I'd been hitting the ball well for the previous five games.

"This team isn't dependent upon me," he continued, making himself a minority of one in the Met clubhouse. "But I am a big plus if I am playing well."

Lee Finds Winning Way In A.L. Play

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Terra Linda's Bill Lee is on the winning path again this year.

The Boston Red Sox left-handed reliever was credited with his first victory Wednesday after pitching five shutout innings as Boston edged visiting Minnesota, 4-3.

Lee relieved starter Lyn McGlothen in the fourth inning and surrendered only two hits and three walks thereafter before giving way to veterans Bob Veale and Bob Bolin in the ninth. Lee (1-0) struck out four in picking up the victory achieved on John Kennedy's run-scoring double in the sixth.

In other AL action, Cleveland nipped Oakland 1-0, California blanked Baltimore 1-0, Kansas City nipped Milwaukee 3-2, Texas downed Detroit 4-1 and Chicago blanked New York 3-0.

In National League games, San Francisco blanked Chicago 5-0, Cincinnati topped Montreal 7-4, Atlanta beat Philadelphia 5-2, New York downed Houston 5-2 and Los Angeles edged St. Louis in 11 innings 5-3. San Diego at Pittsburgh was postponed because of rain.

Lou Piniella's two-run double keyed a three-run first inning that paced the Royals' triumph. The victory, combined with Minnesota's loss, put Kansas City back into first place in the American League West. Wayne Simpson went 8⅓ innings to post his second victory of the year. Bob Coluccio had a homer for Milwaukee.

Toby Harrah collected three singles, drove in one run and scored another as Texas handed Detroit's Joe Coleman his first loss after four victories. Jeff Burroughs homered for Texas and helped Rich Hand to his first triumph of the year.

Wilbur Wood, working with only two days rest for the second time this season, allowed the Yankees only five hits in gaining his fourth victory for the White Sox. Wood got home run support from Carlos May as he bested Mel Stottlemyre.

Special Regulations For Boat Parade

To provide control over the 1973 Pacific Inter-Club Yacht Association Opening Day Parade May 6, the U.S. Coast Guard has issued special regulations to insure safety in the parade area.

According to Vice Admiral Mark A. Whalen, commander of the 12th Coast Guard District, Coast Guard vessels will enforce the regulations from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. the day of the parade, with violators subject to penalties of up to $500.

The area covered is the portion of San Francisco Bay bounded by the Golden Gate Bridge, Raccoon Strait, Angel Island, Alcatraz Island and the San Francisco shoreline from Fort Point to San Francisco Aquatic Park.

The regulations:

1. All vessels, except parade participants and patrol vessels, shall remain clear of the indicated restricted areas.

2. Vessels departing San Francisco Yacht Harbor may exit through the southern restricted area subject to the regulation of a Coast Guard patrol boat.

3. The progress of the parade across the Golden Gate will be interrupted as necessary to permit passage of commercial traffic.

4. All vessels shall comply with the instructions of U.S. Coast Guard patrol patrol personnel.

5. Speed limit for parade participants will be six knots.

Soviet Five Unimpressed With Walton

NEW YORK (AP) — The Soviet Union's Olympic championship basketball team has arrived in the United States for another shot at the Americans, and they contend they're not a bit worried about UCLA's talented Bill Walton.

"When we came here two years ago, we heard how great a player Artis Gilmore was," Aleksander Bolostav, a 6-foot-9, 231-pound forward, said. "We won seven out of eight games that time."

Vladimir Kandrashin, who coached the Russians to a controversial 51-50 victory over the United States at Munich for the only American loss in 36 years of Olympic basketball competition, insisted through an interpreter that he had never heard of Walton and knew nothing about him.

Asked if reports that Walton is a better basketball player than Wilt Chamberlain and Kareen Abdul-Jabbar were at the same stage were enough to unnerve him, the stumpy head coach replied:

"We don't get nervous." He said, however, that the Russians expected tougher competition than on their last visit here two years ago.

Heart Tennis Tourney On Tap

Don't Be Pushy

By LEE TREVINO

"Pushed" shots miss the green. Hit enough of them and you'll miss some, too. Greenbacks, that is.

Nine out of 10 golfers who push their shots are playing the ball too far back in their stance. The clubface is still open as it contacts the ball, so it flies to the right of the target.

When you take your stance, move the ball toward the left toe a trifle. This allows the blade to be square when it enters the hitting zone.

A push usually is well hit. It feels solid, as opposed to a slice, because the ball is struck a descending blow. Only the direction is bad.

Be sure the club meets the ball as it follows the target line. A slightly open stance (left foot slightly back) will let the left side clear the way for the hands and arms to bring the club square to the ball.

In the opposite direction, a "pull" usually is caused by playing the ball too far forward. The wrists are turning over at impact, forcing the ball to the left. It may feel good, too, but you won't. Just move the ball a mite toward the right foot.

Eldred Heads List Of Swimming Times

Spencer Eldred of champion Redwood High School finished the 1973 Marin County Athletic League dual-meet swimming season with two of the league's best times and a piece of a third, while Art Morrill of San Marin and Keith Strange of Terra Linda recorded two each.

Eldred swam 1:52.1 in the 200-yard freestyle, 3:58.7 in the 400 free and joined Troy Dunham, Brian Silcox and John Redig for a 3:25.6 clocking in the 400 free relay.

Morrill, who joined the varsity for the season's last meet, did 55.2 in the 100 fly and 59.1 in the 100 back, the latter the best varsity time of the year but inferior to the 55.6 he did in Class B competition earlier.

Strange swam 50.0 in the 100 free and 1:02.3 in the 100 breast. His teammate, Dave Cotton, raised the diving standard to 270.9 in the final meet.

The regular season is concluded except for Tamalpais' make-up meet against Drake Monday. The MCAL championships in diving and swimming are scheduled today and tomorrow.

Pro Golf Tour Starts 3-Week Texas Swing

DALLAS (UPI) — The pro golf tour opens its annual three-week swing through Texas today which means wholesale rains, occasional hail, a possible tornado and maybe even an earthquake can be expected in the state for the next 21 days.

Local farmers no longer consult the almanac before planting their crops. They just check to see when the pro golfers will be around.

Foul weather has become a habit with the three spring Texas tournaments—the Byron Nelson Golf Classic beginning today, the Houston Open next week and the Colonial National Invitation in Fort Worth the week after that.

Through whatever calamity the weather might have in store, however, will come Nelson tourney favorite Lee Trevino, just $14,000 short of picking up the first $1 million of his career in golf earnings.

Newly crowned Masters champion Tommy Aaron and Jack Nicklaus will also be absent, but most of the rest of the big-name contingent will be around, including Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and a host of golfers who the local people like to claim as either native or adopted Texans — Miller Barber, Orville Moody, Don January, Gay Brewer and Charles Coody.

Hunter Safety Course Offered

The Novato Parks and Recreation Department announces that its fifth session of Hunter Safety will begin Tuesday and registration can be made at the parks and recreation office.

The four-week program enables both youngsters and adults to fulfill the state safety program requirements. Minimum age is 12. For further information, contact the Novato Parks office at Sherman and DeLong Avenues.

Lopez Tops In League Batting

Outfielder Rich Lopez, the only returning letterman on Marin Catholic High School's baseball team, must be taking his big brother role seriously.

Not only is Lopez leading the Marin County Athletic League in batting at the season's halfway mark, according to statistics compiled by the Independent-Journal, but his average is an eye-popping .524. He has 11 hits in 21 times up and is tied for the lead in doubles with three and tied for third in runs batted in with six.

Kevin Loughlin of San Rafael and Jon Loberg of Terra Linda are tied for the lead in RBIs with eight, while Kevin's brother Lance leads in runs scored with nine and is the second-leading hitter at .438.

Redwood pitcher Gene Frey still has not given up an earned run in 20⅓ innings and naturally holds the earned run average leadership with 0.00. San Rafael's Mke Farris leads in complete games (four), victories (five), innings pitched (31) and strikeouts (37) and has a 1.35 ERA.

Boxer Loses 2, Belted By Ref

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Texas heavyweight Terry Sorrels made Nevada boxing history Wednesday night by losing the same fight twice, the second and final time by knockout at the hands of George Johnson at 1:42 of the fourth round of a scheduled 10- rounder.

Sorrels was finally counted out after going down for the third time.

Girls On Marin Boys' Teams Topic At Loop Group Meeting

By LEW CODDINGTON

The local school districts and individual schools apparently will have wide discretionary powers in how to administrate the California Interscholastic Federation's ruling that girls must be permitted to try out for boys sports.

How to use these powers will be a primary topic of discussion Wednesday when the Marin County Athletic League's governing body, the Board of Managers, holds its semi-annual meeting.

One of the chief questions involves the structure, perhaps even the further existence, of girls programs now that the CIF has decided that separate-but-equal is no way to run an athletic department.

If girls can go out for football, so the argument goes, why can't boys go out for badminton — and dominate it, since boys usually are better athletes.

"We hope the school districts will continue to sponsor girls teams" said CIF president William F. Russell by telephone from his office in San Diego. "We hope the public and districts won't look upon the new ruling as reducing the need for girls sports teams."

Tamalpais High School athletic director Al Ahlsten raised a salient point last week, when he envisioned some exclusively boys teams, some exclusively girls teams, and some mixed teams.

(Most people involved expect football, basketball, wrestling and other contact sports to remain the exclusive province of boys, except for an occasional lone heretic somewhere in the state. The opportunity for girls to play defensive tackle just isn't going to be exercised very often, though the board and the various athletic departments need to be prepared for the eventuality.)

To permit girls to try out for formerly all-boy teams, yet simultaneously forbidboys from trying out for all-girl teams, seems to be completely within the power of the league, Russell conceded.

In fact, such measures are necessary to preserve a strong girls program. The girls are a disadvantaged minority in sports, arriving at the high school level with inferior training and motivation due to the social climate around them. Combined with physical differences, this makes it possible for them to compete on a par with boys only rarely.

Girls will never improve their skills, or derive the benefits interscholastic athletics supposedly bring, if their separate programs are not preserved.

The chance for girls to try out for boys teams, then, should be an additional opportunity for the rare girl who is so qualified. The CIF's decision to make this possible hopefully will not result in a weakening of the present girls sports structure.

STATISTICS, ANYONE? — Steve DeMartini of Redwood has the best record of any No. 1 singles tennis player in the MCAL, 4-0. Redwood's Mark Strasser played first singles in the most recent match Tuesday and also won.

Doug Carlisle of Terra Linda and John Doherty of Marin Catholic each are 4-1. DeMartini beat Doherty, Doherty beat Carlisle and Carlisle has yet to face DeMartini, but will get his chance when undefeated powers Terra Linda and Redwood collide Tuesday.

FORE (FOUR) — When Terra Linda golfer Greg Cudworth missed being medalist by one stroke in the Trojans' loss to San Rafael, it was the first time this year he failed at least to share the honor.

Cudworth had been outright medalist twice and co-medalist twice in four previous matches. San Rafael's John Fahrner had won outright three times (before yesterday's match with Tamalpais), while Tam's Steve Gaddis had won twice and shared honors once with Cudworth.

ALL IN A ROW — Marin Catholic outfielder Rich Lopez has hit safely in seven consecutive league games, not bad since only seven have been played so far.

Pro Golf Tour Starts 3-Week Texas Swing

DALLAS (UPI) — The pro golf tour opens its annual three-week swing through Texas today which means wholesale rains, occasional hail, a possible tornado and maybe even an earthquake can be expected in the state for the next 21 days.

Local farmers no longer consult the almanac before planting their crops. They just check to see when the pro golfers will be around.

Foul weather has become a habit with the three spring Texas tournaments—the Byron Nelson Golf Classic beginning today, the Houston Open next week and the Colonial National Invitation in Fort Worth the week after that.

Through whatever calamity the weather might have in store, however, will come Nelson tourney favorite Lee Trevino, just $14,000 short of picking up the first $1 million of his career in golf earnings.

Newly crowned Masters champion Tommy Aaron and Jack Nicklaus will also be absent, but most of the rest of the big-name contingent will be around, including Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and a host of golfers who the local people like to claim as either native or adopted Texans — Miller Barber, Orville Moody, Don January, Gay Brewer and Charles Coody.

Hunter Safety Course Offered

The Novato Parks and Recreation Department announces that its fifth session of Hunter Safety will begin Tuesday and registration can be made at the parks and recreation office.

The four-week program enables both youngsters and adults to fulfill the state safety program requirements. Minimum age is 12. For further information, contact the Novato Parks office at Sherman and DeLong Avenues.

Lopez Tops In League Batting

Outfielder Rich Lopez, the only returning letterman on Marin Catholic High School's baseball team, must be taking his big brother role seriously.

Not only is Lopez leading the Marin County Athletic League in batting at the season's halfway mark, according to statistics compiled by the Independent-Journal, but his average is an eye-popping .524. He has 11 hits in 21 times up and is tied for the lead in doubles with three and tied for third in runs batted in with six.

Kevin Loughlin of San Rafael and Jon Loberg of Terra Linda are tied for the lead in RBIs with eight, while Kevin's brother Lance leads in runs scored with nine and is the second-leading hitter at .438.

Redwood pitcher Gene Frey still has not given up an earned run in 20⅓ innings and naturally holds the earned run average leadership with 0.00. San Rafael's Mke Farris leads in complete games (four), victories (five), innings pitched (31) and strikeouts (37) and has a 1.35 ERA.

Boxer Loses 2, Belted By Ref

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Texas heavyweight Terry Sorrels made Nevada boxing history Wednesday night by losing the same fight twice, the second and final time by knockout at the hands of George Johnson at 1:42 of the fourth round of a scheduled 10- rounder.

Girls On Marin Boys' Teams Topic At Loop Group Meeting

By LEW CODDINGTON

The local school districts and individual schools apparently will have wide discretionary powers in how to administrate the California Interscholastic Federation's ruling that girls must be permitted to try out for boys sports.

How to use these powers will be a primary topic of discussion Wednesday when the Marin County Athletic League's governing body, the Board of Managers, holds its semi-annual meeting.

One of the chief questions involves the structure, perhaps even the further existence, of girls programs now that the CIF has decided that separate-but-equal is no way to run an athletic department.

If girls can go out for football, so the argument goes, why can't boys go out for badminton — and dominate it, since boys usually are better athletes.

"We hope the school districts will continue to sponsor girls teams" said CIF president William F. Russell by telephone from his office in San Diego. "We hope the public and districts won't look upon the new ruling as reducing the need for girls sports teams."

Tamalpais High School athletic director Al Ahlsten raised a salient point last week, when he envisioned some exclusively boys teams, some exclusively girls teams, and some mixed teams.

(Most people involved expect football, basketball, wrestling and other contact sports to remain the exclusive province of boys, except for an occasional lone heretic somewhere in the state. The opportunity for girls to play defensive tackle just isn't going to be exercised very often, though the board and the various athletic departments need to be prepared for the eventuality.)

To permit girls to try out for formerly all-boy teams, yet simultaneously forbidboys from trying out for all-girl teams, seems to be completely within the power of the league, Russell conceded.

In fact, such measures are necessary to preserve a strong girls program. The girls are a disadvantaged minority in sports, arriving at the high school level with inferior training and motivation due to the social climate around them. Combined with physical differences, this makes it possible for them to compete on a par with boys only rarely.

Girls will never improve their skills, or derive the benefits interscholastic athletics supposedly bring, if their separate programs are not preserved.

The chance for girls to try out for boys teams, then, should be an additional opportunity for the rare girl who is so qualified. The CIF's decision to make this possible hopefully will not result in a weakening of the present girls sports structure.

STATISTICS, ANYONE? — Steve DeMartini of Redwood has the best record of any No. 1 singles tennis player in the MCAL, 4-0. Redwood's Mark Strasser played first singles in the most recent match Tuesday and also won.

Doug Carlisle of Terra Linda and John Doherty of Marin Catholic each are 4-1. DeMartini beat Doherty, Doherty beat Carlisle and Carlisle has yet to face DeMartini, but will get his chance when undefeated powers Terra Linda and Redwood collide Tuesday.

FORE (FOUR) — When Terra Linda golfer Greg Cudworth missed being medalist by one stroke in the Trojans' loss to San Rafael, it was the first time this year he failed at least to share the honor.

Cudworth had been outright medalist twice and co-medalist twice in four previous matches. San Rafael's John Fahrner had won outright three times (before yesterday's match with Tamalpais), while Tam's Steve Gaddis had won twice and shared honors once with Cudworth.

ALL IN A ROW — Marin Catholic outfielder Rich Lopez has hit safely in seven consecutive league games, not bad since only seven have been played so far.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A Side Benefit To Rail Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to know more about Union Pacific Corp. (NYSE) which I bought some years ago at $40 a share. Is this still a safe investment?—H.S.

A. This diversified holding company is currently trading at only 12 times projected 1973 earnings. At this modest level, which is below the company's five-year average multiple, shares have limited downside risk. Business in all three of the company's major fields of operation—rail transportation, natural resources and land development—is expanding at a strong pace. Outlook for rail operations, which still account for 80 per cent of net income, is somewhat clouded by possible labor demands upon contract expiration June 30 and the slow pace at which offsetting rate relief is granted. The proposed merger with Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific has not yet been approved by the ICC. Hearings will be reopened to consider the inclusion of Chicago, Milwaukee in the merger.

Natural resource development provides this stock with a speculative kicker not usually associated with rail transportation issues. A recent discovery of potentially commercial oil and gas deposits in Wyoming pushed shares to an all-time high in January. Unlike some of its less profitable counterparts, Union Pacific's financial position is adequate with current assets exceeding current liabilities by $54 million.

Q. We are considering the purchase of $20,000 in telephone debentures. Are debentures risky? This is part of our retirement fund.—N.E.

A. Since you do not specify which telephone company I am only able to answer in general terms. A debenture, unlike a mortgage bond, is not backed by a lien against company property. Since debentures are unsecured debt, the credit standing of the issuing corporation is the important factor in determining the safety of their debt obligations. American Telephone debentures, which carry the highest rating — AAA, were amply protected by earnings last year. In fact fixed charges and interest were covered 2.7 times by income. The risk factor in these telephone securities is negligible and for this reason the return is less generous than on lower-rated issues.

Quarter Earnings

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Earnings per share of 37 cents for the first three months of 1973 established an all-time record for any first quarter for Golden West Financial Corporation, an Oakland-based savings and loan holding company. The record first quarter earnings were 32 per cent ahead of the 28 cents per share for the comparable 1972 period.

Homestead Report

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Homestead Financial Corp., parent company of Homestead Savings and Loan Association, reported net earnings for the quarter ended March 31, 1973 of $184,451 or 22 cents per share.

A Rally On Market Is Not Held

NEW YORK (UPI) — An early morning attempt at a rally failed to hold through noon today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading slowed as prices moved lower.

The government reported the leading indicators rose 1.4 per cent in March. The index usually foreshadows broad movemments in the economy.

Gulf Oil was the most active issue, off ⅛ at 26 on 190,800 shares, including a block trade of 106,300 shares at 26.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in light trading. Sambo's Restaurants was the most active AMEX issue, unchanged at 21 ¼ on 28,500 shares. The company reported higher earnings.

On the Big Board, computer and electronics issues moved irregularly. Texas Instruments gained 1 ⅜ but IBM lost 1 ½.

Glamor issues also were mixed. Polaroid added 1 but ARA Services lost 1 ½ and Corning Glass 1 ¼.

Superior Oil added 1 ½ and Natomas 1 in the mixed oils. Exxon lost 1 and Halliburton ¾.

Dow Chemical lost 1 ½ in the mixed chemical group. Airlines, rails, steels and motors moved irregularly in fractions. Chrysler which raised its dividend lost 1/8.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

M and R Cleaners To Feature One-Hour Cleaning, Pressing

M & R Cleaners, a new shop featuring one-hour cleaning and pressing, was scheduled to open today at 90 Greenfield Avenue in San Anselmo, former site of a pet shop.

Owners of the cleaners are Roland Lawson of San Anselmo and Mrs. Mavis Thielman of Corte Madera, who have a combined total of 45 years experience.

Lawson has been in the cleaning business for 33 years, the last 18 in Marin. He worked for Brunner's Cleaners (now the Major Cleaners), for Sun Valley Cleaners and managed the One-Hour Martinizing (now Orchid Cleaners) in San Rafael for five years. Mrs. Thielman worked in various San Rafael cleaning shops for about 12 years.

"We offer quality work at ower prices," said Lawson.

VALLEY REALTY, headquartered in Dublin (Alameda County), opened a new branch office in Corte Madera last Friday at 101 Casa Buena Drive, the old Billings-Hutchinson office.

Piro has been in real estate for seven years, the last year and a half with James Harvey Realtors of Kentfield. He also worked for a time in the real property management department of a bank, and in the Lake Tahoe area.

Valley Realty has 14 offices in the East Bay. This is the first branch in Marin County.

DAVE BARTRUFF of Sleepy Hollow, international travel photographer, will leave on June 10 for a series of assignments to Europe, via Japan. His one-month tour will cover the major capitals of Europe including Rome, London, Paris, Amsterdam and Copenhagen.

CALVIN L. CARPENTER of Santa Rosa has been elected president of the Marin Sonoma Red Carpet Realtors Council, which is composed of all Red Carpet Realtors in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

Carpenter has been in real estate for 18 years and operated Carpenter Realty in Santa Rosa until this year when it became a Red Carpet agency. He is former president of the Sonoma County Board of Realtors.

EX LIBRIS, the shop at The Port in Mill Valley (393 Miller Avenue) which buys and sells used books, will have open house Sunday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. to celebrate an expansion of its quarters. "The public is invited to join us for some herbal tea and good conversation," said owner Bruce S. Henderson of Fairfax.

Henderson, who established the store in July of 1972, moved its location inside the Port on April 1 and doubled its space.

To help him celebrate, Mill Valley author Nathan Adler will autograph and discuss his new book, "The Underground Stream: New Life Styles and the Antinomian Personality", Sunday afternoon.

Ex Libris has a two-for-one trade system for mystery and science fiction paperbacks.

DR. CONRAD ELLNER, San Rafael psychiatrist, will move his office to 61 Camino Alto in Mill Valley on May 1. A specialist in psychiatry and psychosomatic medicine, Dr. Ellner has been at 1114 Irwin Street in San Rafael for the past two and one-half years.

PHILIP V. ABEND of Kent Woodlands has joined California West Properties Inc. as vice president in the property acquisitions department. He has 27 years of experience in the real estate business as a broker, consultant, teacher, lecturer and builder. A director of the California Real Estate Association from 1967 to 1968, he is a member of the San Francisco Board of Realtors.

California West Properties Inc., a real estate acquisition and property management company, is a subsidiary of Capital Planning Associates Inc. of Novato.

LANCE JOHNSON of San Rafael has been appointed a sales representative for Investors Diversified Services, a Minneapolis-based financial institution.

Robert Whitehill, divisional sales manager for IDS in San Francisco, said Johnson will distribute shares of seven mutual funds. The company also offers investment certificates, pension and profit-sharing plans, life and disability insurance, variable annuities and other financial services.

JOHN SCIARRA of Petaluma has been appointed distributor for the Genetics Division, Carnation Co., an artificial breeding company with headquarters in Hughson (Stanislaus County).

Sciarra will serve dairymen in the Point Reyes and Petaluma areas. He succeeded Dwain Holliefield, who moved his operations to Texas. Sciarra is a graduate of the University of California in agricultural business.

Expansion Is Planned By Hewlett-Packard

PALO ALTO (BW) — Construction will begin this summer on a $9 million expansion of Hewlett-Packard's 55-acre industrial site in Santa Clara.

W. Bruce Wholey, H-P vice president, said two general purpose buildings of 135,000 square feet each will be built. One building is expected to be completed in a year, the other in about 18 months.

The new buildings will provide additional office, manufacturing and warehouse space for the company. When completed, they will house between 500 and 1,000 employees.

"The expansion is designed to accommodate the continuing growth of our peninsula operations and represents the second phase of our gradual development of this site," Wholey said.

The new buildings will be erected at 5301 Stevens Creek Blvd., the location of H-P's Santa Clara division.

Tan Is Named To Presidency

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Thomas S. Tan has been promoted to president of SSI Container Corp., a subsidiary of Itel Corp., according to Peter S. Redfield, Itel president.

Prior to his appointment, Tan had been executive vice president and chief executive officer of SSI Container.

Tan is a graduate of St. John's University in Shanghai, China, with a bachelor of arts degree in economics. He and his family live in San Francisco.

Retired Executives Being 'Recycled'

DALLAS (UPI) — The Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) department of the Small Business Administration is "recycling" retired executives from boring retirement to meaningful work.

The 55 SCORE members in the city count retired corporation presidents, Army brass and marketing executives among their group and they specialize in free counseling service to small business owners.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

A Side Benefit To Rail Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to know more about Union Pacific Corp. (NYSE) which I bought some years ago at $40 a share. Is this still a safe investment?—H.S.

A. This diversified holding company is currently trading at only 12 times projected 1973 earnings. At this modest level, which is below the company's five-year average multiple, shares have limited downside risk. Business in all three of the company's major fields of operation—rail transportation, natural resources and land development—is expanding at a strong pace. Outlook for rail operations, which still account for 80 per cent of net income, is somewhat clouded by possible labor demands upon contract expiration June 30 and the slow pace at which offsetting rate relief is granted. The proposed merger with Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific has not yet been approved by the ICC. Hearings will be reopened to consider the inclusion of Chicago, Milwaukee in the merger.

Natural resource development provides this stock with a speculative kicker not usually associated with rail transportation issues. A recent discovery of potentially commercial oil and gas deposits in Wyoming pushed shares to an all-time high in January. Unlike some of its less profitable counterparts, Union Pacific's financial position is adequate with current assets exceeding current liabilities by $54 million.

Q. We are considering the purchase of $20,000 in telephone debentures. Are debentures risky? This is part of our retirement fund.—N.E.

A. Since you do not specify which telephone company I am only able to answer in general terms. A debenture, unlike a mortgage bond, is not backed by a lien against company property. Since debentures are unsecured debt, the credit standing of the issuing corporation is the important factor in determining the safety of their debt obligations. American Telephone debentures, which carry the highest rating — AAA, were amply protected by earnings last year. In fact fixed charges and interest were covered 2.7 times by income. The risk factor in these telephone securities is negligible and for this reason the return is less generous than on lower-rated issues.

Quarter Earnings

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Earnings per share of 37 cents for the first three months of 1973 established an all-time record for any first quarter for Golden West Financial Corporation, an Oakland-based savings and loan holding company. The record first quarter earnings were 32 per cent ahead of the 28 cents per share for the comparable 1972 period.

Homestead Report

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Homestead Financial Corp., parent company of Homestead Savings and Loan Association, reported net earnings for the quarter ended March 31, 1973 of $184,451 or 22 cents per share.

A Rally On Market Is Not Held

NEW YORK (UPI) — An early morning attempt at a rally failed to hold through noon today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading slowed as prices moved lower.

The government reported the leading indicators rose 1.4 per cent in March. The index usually foreshadows broad movements in the economy.

Gulf Oil was the most active issue, off ⅛ at 26 on 190,800 shares, including a block trade of 106,300 shares at 26.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in light trading. Sambo's Restaurants was the most active AMEX issue, unchanged at 21 ¼ on 28,500 shares. The company reported higher earnings.

On the Big Board, computer and electronics issues moved irregularly. Texas Instruments gained 1 ⅜ but IBM lost 1 ½.

Glamor issues also were mixed. Polaroid added 1 but ARA Services lost 1 ½ and Corning Glass 1 ¼.

Superior Oil added 1 ½ and Natomas 1 in the mixed oils. Exxon lost 1 and Halliburton ¾.

Dow Chemical lost 1 ½ in the mixed chemical group. Airlines, rails, steels and motors moved irregularly in fractions. Chrysler which raised its dividend lost 1/8.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

M and R Cleaners To Feature One-Hour Cleaning, Pressing

M & R Cleaners, a new shop featuring one-hour cleaning and pressing, was scheduled to open today at 90 Greenfield Avenue in San Anselmo, former site of a pet shop.

Owners of the cleaners are Roland Lawson of San Anselmo and Mrs. Mavis Thielman of Corte Madera, who have a combined total of 45 years experience.

Lawson has been in the cleaning business for 33 years, the last 18 in Marin. He worked for Brunner's Cleaners (now the Major Cleaners), for Sun Valley Cleaners and managed the One-Hour Martinizing (now Orchid Cleaners) in San Rafael for five years. Mrs. Thielman worked in various San Rafael cleaning shops for about 12 years.

"We offer quality work at lower prices," said Lawson.

VALLEY REALTY, headquartered in Dublin (Alameda County), opened a new branch office in Corte Madera last Friday at 101 Casa Buena Drive, the old Billings-Hutchinson office.

Piro has been in real estate for seven years, the last year and a half with James Harvey Realtors of Kentfield. He also worked for a time in the real property management department of a bank, and in the Lake Tahoe area.

Valley Realty has 14 offices in the East Bay. This is the first branch in Marin County.

DAVE BARTRUFF of Sleepy Hollow, international travel photographer, will leave on June 10 for a series of assignments to Europe, via Japan. His one-month tour will cover the major capitals of Europe including Rome, London, Paris, Amsterdam and Copenhagen.

CALVIN L. CARPENTER of Santa Rosa has been elected president of the Marin Sonoma Red Carpet Realtors Council, which is composed of all Red Carpet Realtors in Marin and Sonoma Counties.

Bartruff

Carpenter

Carpenter is in real estate for 18 years and operated Carpenter Realty in Santa Rosa until this year when it became a Red Carpet agency. He is former president of the Sonoma County Board of Realtors.

EX LIBRIS, the shop at The Port in Mill Valley (393 Miller Avenue) which buys and sells used books, will have open house Sunday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. to celebrate an expansion of its quarters. "The public is invited to join us for some herbal tea and good conversation," said owner Bruce S. Henderson of Fairfax.

Henderson, who established the store in July of 1972, moved its location inside the Port on April 1 and doubled its space.

To help him celebrate, Mill Valley author Nathan Adler will autograph and discuss his new book, "The Underground Stream: New Life Styles and the Antinomian Personality", Sunday afternoon.

Ex Libris has a two-for-one trade system for mystery and science fiction paperbacks.

DR. CONRAD ELLNER, San Rafael psychiatrist, will move his office to 61 Camino Alto in Mill Valley on May 1. A specialist in psychiatry and psychosomatic medicine, Dr. Ellner has been at 1114 Irwin Street in San Rafael for the past two and one-half years.

PHILIP V. ABEND of Kent Woodlands has joined California West Properties Inc. as vice president in the property acquisitions department. He has 27 years of experience in the real estate business as a broker, consultant, teacher, lecturer and builder. A director of the California Real Estate Association from 1967 to 1968, he is a member of the San Francisco Board of Realtors.

California West Properties Inc., a real estate acquisition and property management company, is a subsidiary of Capital Planning Associates Inc. of Novato.

LANCE JOHNSON of San Rafael has been appointed a sales representative for Investors Diversified Services, a Minneapolis-based financial institution.

Robert Whitehill, divisional sales manager for IDS in San Francisco, said Johnson will distribute shares of seven mutual funds. The company also offers investment certificates, pension and profit-sharing plans, life and disability insurance, variable annuities and other financial services.

JOHN SCIARRA of Petaluma has been appointed distributor for the Genetics Division, Carnation Co., an artificial breeding company with headquarters in Hughson (Stanislaus County).

Sciarra will serve dairymen in the Point Reyes and Petaluma areas. He succeeded Dwain Holliefield, who moved his operations to Texas. Sciarra is a graduate of the University of California in agricultural business.

Expansion Is Planned By Hewlett-Packard

PALO ALTO (BW) — Construction will begin this summer on a $9 million expansion of Hewlett-Packard's 55-acre industrial site in Santa Clara.

W. Bruce Wholey, H-P vice president, said two general purpose buildings of 135,000 square feet each will be built. One building is expected to be completed in a year, the other in about 18 months.

The new buildings will provide additional office, manufacturing and warehouse space for the company. When completed, they will house between 500 and 1,000 employees.

"The expansion is designed to accommodate the continuing growth of our peninsula operations and represents the second phase of our gradual development of this site," Wholey said.

The new buildings will be erected at 5301 Stevens Creek Blvd., the location of H-P's Santa Clara division.

Tan Is Named To Presidency

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Thomas S. Tan has been promoted to president of SSI Container Corp., a subsidiary of Itel Corp., according to Peter S. Redfield, Itel president.

Prior to his appointment, Tan had been executive vice president and chief executive officer of SSI Container.

Tan is a graduate of St. John's University in Shanghai, China, with a bachelor of arts degree in economics. He and his family live in San Francisco.

Retired Executives Being 'Recycled'

DALLAS (UPI) — The Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) department of the Small Business Administration is "recycling" retired executives from boring retirement to meaningful work.

The 55 SCORE members in the city count retired corporation presidents, Army brass and marketing executives among their group and they specialize in free counseling service to small business owners.

Judge Refuses Spurious Defense

In this case, the end, according to the robbers, was to get money to assist the Marin City Learning Center. This was an independent school set up by Royce McLemore, which started operations in September, 1971, with 46 pupils. Its purpose was to offer a "more relevant" education for Marin City youngsters than that obtainable in Sausalito district schools.

For the worthy purpose of "saving" this school, according to their pleas, John Turner, Stephanie Catherine Kline, Candice Yockey and Claudia Vonetta Grayson robbed a market, and exchanged shots with Corte Madera police who arrived in response to a silent alarm.

This was, according to their pleas, a form of revolution against the "oppressive establishment" — as represented, in this case, by the Sausalito School District.

UNLIKE SOME judges who are moved by such "end justifies the means" pleas, Judge E. Warren McGuire condemned their "propensity to use force and violence" and sentenced all but Miss Grayson to spend one year to life in prison. Miss Grayson's sentencing has been postponed until May.

There was nothing new in their plea; it is the standard plea of the "revolutionary" criminal. He is justified in breaking any law, he holds, because the laws represent the "oppressive establishment."

The quartet's choice of a victim was interesting, however. The market they robbed was the Marin Co-op in Corte Madera, which is set up to provide its own alternative to the capitalistic profit system through co-operative ownership. Surely the Co-op is not so representative of "the establishment" as, say, that favorite target of the violent Left, the Bank of America!

THE COURT did not delve into the purported need of the Marin City Learning Center for money — however ill-gotten.

If it had, it would have found that this purpose was as spurious as the robbers' "higher than the law" defense. For the Marin City Learning Center is not even operating.

It began with 46 pupils. When it opened for its second year last September, it had but 18. Before Christmas, it closed its doors. Except for a few who had graduated, all its pupils returned to the Sausalito schools.

GEORGES BERNANOS once wrote, "The first sign of corruption in a society that is still alive is that the end justifies the means."

Our own society fortunately has not yet adopted such a vicious belief. But it has been espoused repeatedly by the Left — (after all, it was taught by Lenin). And too often, it has been accepted as an ameliorating defense when presented in court to soft-hearted (or soft-headed) judges.

Judge McGuire should be congratulated for rejecting it. He sentenced the robbers for the crime they committed. He upheld the law.

That is what judges should be expected to do.

Wailing Gulls

The word "gull" is Celtic in origin and is once believed to have meant "to weep." It is quite appropriate. Whether at Tiburon or Tomales, was there ever a more moving evocation of bleakness than the wailing of gulls?

Equally appropriate to those familiar with gulls' eating habits is their Latin name, "Larus," which means ravenous seabird.

Legislators Use Tax Funds To Underwrite Campaigns

By EARL G. WATERS

Republican State Chairman Gordon C. Luce is exploring "new ways" to strengthen the Republican Party in California.

As Luce put it, "We are interested in bringing the party and its decision making processes closer to the grass roots."

Luce also has announced steps to "insure an open primary".

If Luce is to be successful in restoring party politics to the "grass roots" he will have to wrest control away from those entrenched in public office.

For the Legislature has departed from the traditional ways of party politics. It has grabbed the ball away from the central committees. It is now financing party politics with the taxpayers money.

BOTH HOUSES of the Legislature are spending vast sums of public funds in efforts to strengthen the positions of the two major parties.

More than $1 million will be spent by the Legislature this year for the employment of political workers of the Republican and Democratic parties. These are the minority and majority staffs of each house. Their purpose is to enhance the partisan images of their own parties.

Such expenditures, if not illegal, are in circumvention of the public intent which has made various prohibitions against the spending of public funds in the promotion of election issues and candidates.

But aside from the question of legality, the practice is weakening the state party organizations, for it gives the Legislature a purse-string control over their efforts.

THE EMPLOYMENT of the party workers to aid the legislators in behalf of the party is not new. It has been practiced for many years. The difference is that, until recently, such persons were payrolled by the central committees. That is the way it should be.

The providing of tax-supported "party caucus staffs" seems just one short step away from financing the entire party operations with public funds.

Already Bob Moretti, whose duties as speaker do not warrant more than one office, has filled offices in San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego with his own personal tax-supported staff in anticipation of his candidacy for governor.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, State Controller Houston Flournoy, and Secy. of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., all gubernatorial aspirants, also have offices in various locales.

IN VIEW of the fact that Governor Reagan has only his office in Sacramento, the necessity for multiple offices for the other officials can be seriously questioned. But whether justified or not, having offices scattered around the state does give them a distinct advantage over those aspirants who hold no public office. It also considerably diminishes their dependency upon party organizations and "grass root" supporters.

Cognizant of that fact, Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco, himself a gubernatorial hopeful, obtained squeaky Senate approval for a Los Angeles office. His contention that as majority leader it was needed merely highlights the tendency of the legislators to usurp the central committee voluntary functions with tax-subsidized partisan efforts.

The backlash of criticism for this unprecedented expansion of a senatorial office caused him to abandon the plan. Luce would do well to get the party caucus staffs abandoned.

"Your executive privilege? Well, that's a new one."

"Have faith! Nixon brought the boys home once and he can do it again."

Fairfax Protecting Interest Of Citizens

As I understand Mr. Friedman's suit against Fairfax, he is taking the position that the city should not have zoned his land to continue its historical and established use and instead should have become a party to forcing the citizens of Fairfax to subsidize a profitable transaction by him, an out-of-towner, for it is a demonstrated fact that apartments do not pay their way regarding their costs to a community.

His position that the City of Fairfax should be punished for protecting its citizens from an exhorbitant tax increase to his benefit is curious if one accepts the position that the law should protect the common good.

'Tom Sawyer' Highly Successful Fund-Raiser

Tom Sawyer came to Marin! He entranced children, turned on parents and teachers to the marvels of puppetry, and by virtue of his appearances on April 13-14, supported the many programs of the Boyd Museum.

On behalf of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science, I wish to express our appreciation of your fine support for the guilds fund-raiser, "Tom Sawyer," the Smithsonian Institution Puppet Theater's presentation.

We are proud of the unique opportunity for Bay Area residents to share in such an imaginative theatrical event. We are even more proud of the efforts of two guilds, Sleepy Hollow and Glenwood, who are supporting the wildlife refuge and environmental programs of the museum. We are equally proud that the Independent-Journal recognizes the community services provided by our guilds.

Terra Linda Students Successful Ambassadors

Your ambassadors to Hawaii, the Terra Linda High School choir and orchestra, were most successful in their mission. We had the privilege of hosting them for two assemblies in our school last week and found their enthusiasm and talent heartwarming and contagious. Thank you for sharing these wonderful young people with us. They were a great boost to our growing music program and a delicious treat musically and visually. They are young people of whom you can be justifiably proud.

Advocates Agriculture In San Anselmo

Your editorial on the defeat of San Anselmo's bond issue says "concern for the environment did not triumph." We hate to think the I-J believes that a dollar squeezed out of a hard-pressed taxpayer is the only way to show concern.

The "$500,000" bond issue would have cost San Anselmo property owners more than twice that amount and would have purchased only a small fraction of the 226 acres involved.

Over the years San Anselmo lost fine truck gardens and vineyards and dairy ranches to development. Might we not at this late date recover some of these amenities on prime A-1 agricultural land before it is removed by hasty buying from purposeful uses and the tax rolls forever?

As a result of the election, heightened public "concern for the environment" has been demonstrated. We have a challenge in San Anselmo. Perhaps we can set an example to other communities in Marin to use zoning tools that have been successfully initiated in other California communities to preserve buffer zones. We hope our courageous councilmen and citizens working together will do that.

Individual Funding Aids Jews For Jesus

I want to thank you for the eminently fair article which appeared on April 21 on "Jews for Jesus." I believe that it will clear up a great deal of misunderstanding and make for better community relations.

I have only one corective to make and that is with regard to our support. We are not funded by any Baptist organization, and while we receive some substantial support from the Beth Sar Shalom Hebrew-Christian Fellowship, for the most part we have been dependent on those in the community who share our beliefs and desire to contribute toward our statement.

Several churches in Marin County have been of help to us, but they are churches of all denominations from Episcopal to Evangelical Free. However, for the most part, we have been funded through individuals who believe in what we are doing and saying.

San Rafael Needs Full-Time Mayor

The results of the recent San Rafael municipal election are very gratifying to those of us who believe in the careful conservation of what is left of our beauty and the willingness to plan our future creatively and responsibly. It was especially good to see that San Rafael voters continue to refuse to allow the expenditure of $15,000 for "promotion" of the city. . .

Two years ago, in running for mayor of San Rafael, I suggested that with the increasing magnitude of problems facing us, and with the growing population, San Rafael could easily use a full-time mayor. It seems obvious that we are no longer a small town, and that with the increase in day-to-day city affairs it would be wise to elect someone full-time who is directly accountable to the people. No matter how good a job Mr. Bettini, or anyone else, is capable of doing, until we elect a full-time mayor the people of San Rafael will be losing the daily battle to save the city. When I made this proposal in 1971 I was told by Mr. Bettini and others that San Rafael could not afford a full-time mayor. It seems that we can afford a lot of other things, like free dinners for councilmen and $15,000 for "promotion" but can't spare anything out of a million-dollar budget for the hiring of a "real" mayor. It is not sufficient that we have a city manager, because he is not directly elected by the voters. . .

Detente With Red Powers Fails To Accomplish Purpose

All of us are now deeply into the Nixon-Kissinger world of "detente," but it isn't producing as fast as expected the one thing Washington hoped most to get out of it. The war in Southeast Asia goes on and the United States still is mired in it.

We are several weeks now from the launching of a White House effort to use the machinery of this new Nixon-Kissinger world to help bring an end to the war, but it isn't working. Mr. Nixon used his new relations with both Russians and Chinese to bring pressure to bear on the North Vietnamese to cease and desist from their various efforts to win the victory which has so far escaped them.

THEIR EFFORTS TO WIN since the cease-fire went into effect in late January have included:

(1) Steady consolidation of their military positions in and around South Vietnam.

(2) An aggressive rather than a passive military posture in Laos.

(3) Continued refusal to do anything about a cease-fire in Cambodia where the local Khmer Rouge have a siegeline around Phnom Penh.

For these three problems Mr. Nixon has tried three answers:

(1) He has bombed.

(2) He has withdrawn his mine removal ships from North Vietnamese waters.

(3) He has sent his messages to Messers Chou En-Lai in Peking and Brezhnev in Moscow seeking their "good offices" in Hanoi.

We have no reason to doubt that Mr. Chou and Mr. Brezhnev both have, as they have done before, given an opinion in Hanoi that it would be best for all concerned if the men of Hanoi would be satisfied, at least for the immediate future, with what they hold now in Indochina.

ALL OF THIS IS TIED in with prospective American trade and economic and technological aid to both China and Russia. Mr. Nixon again is putting pressure on Congress to get on with his trade bill proposals which would allow him to extend credits to Russia for purchase of American goods.

And there still is the prospect, which Washington keeps dangling before Hanoi eyes, of direct American reconstruction aid if only they will rein in their soldiers in the south and stop trying to win the war.

The Paris meetings to discuss this aid now are being suspended by the United States, according to a Reuter's report quoting the North Vietnamese delegation.

And, just perhaps, there is some attention being paid in Hanoi. Latest reports indicate that a division, or perhaps two, of North Vietnam regular forces have been pulled just north of the DMZ of recent days. This could be a matter merely of going into rainy season quarters for rest and recruitment. They could go back as soon as the winter fighting season began.

But other than this tentative instance of withdrawal the North Vietnamese troops and military leadership still seem to be on the attack, or at least keeping up positive pressure. And this in turn means that Mr. Nixon does not yet have the complete extrication of American armed forces from Indochina, which most of his countrymen thought would follow from the cease-fire and which ne needs as a diplomatic success to balance off his inflation and Watergate problems at home.

BUT WHAT IS THE DETENTE worth to Mr. Nixon?

The one thing he wanted most out of it was to get untangled from Vietnam. After all, it was the search for a way out of Vietnam which took him to Peking and set his feet on the road to more trade with the Russians. He always has wanted and expected to get free of Vietnam in the process. And he isn't free.

The lesson may well be that detente does seem to reduce the danger of great power war and it certainly does reduce the awareness of great power tension. But can it settle local issues between such places as North and South Vietnam?

Hanoi always wanted to conquer Saigon for its own reasons, not for Peking or Moscow. The change of view in Peking and Moscow about the matter does not reduce in the slightest the desire of Hanoi to become the master of all of Indochina.

The summer schedule of the great powers calls for all sorts of conferences. It will be a busy season for diplomats.

Mr. Brezhnev will be visiting Bonn, then Washington. There will be a big conference (European Security) in Helsinki. SALT II is ambling along. Towards the autumn there should be talks on "mutual and balanced force reductions" in another conference somewhere in Europe.

But all of this busy traffic among great power diplomats is helpless to get Washington out of Indochina, or to solve the tensions of the Middle East.

STROUT IN WASHINGTON

Shame Of United States: Citizens Who Fail To Vote

By RICHARD L. STROUT

WASHINGTON —For purposes of comparison I have taken the voter turnout at United States presidential elections at approximately 20-year intervals, 1840 to 1900 inclusive, and a similar sampling in the years after 1900. The difference is stunning.

1840	80.2 percent
1860	81.2 percent
1880	79.4 percent
1900	73.2 percent

1920	49.2 percent
1940	62.9 percent
1960	64 percent
1972	55.6 percent

(Source: Library of Congress)

ONLY ONCE between 1840 and 1900 did voter turnout go below 70 percent, and last year 68 million eligible citizens didn't vote. Are modern Americans less interested in the process of democracy than in the past century? Is it apathy, or something else?

The Senate has been trying to get a chance to vote on a bill setting up a new system of registration — postcard registration. This would provide uniform nationwide registration in federal elections, and it would acknowledge the government's interest in getting voters listed. In the Senate some opponents of the measure, mostly Republicans and southern conservatives, have used delaying tactics to block a vote.

The U.S. virtually is alone among the democracies in accepting a passive role by government in registration. In Canada, for example, the government has an elaborate system of registering voters and conducts a door-to-door canvassing in urban polling subdivisions. It costs approximately 69 cents a voter — or $7.5 million. Canada thinks it's a good investment. Proportional cost in the U.S. — $75 million.

COMPARE THE VOTER percentage in the United States with that of Canada and certain other democracies:

Country	Year	Percent turnout
Australia (1)	1972	97
Canada	1972	74
France (2)	1973	82
W. Germany	1972	91
Italy (1)	1972	93
Netherlands (1)	1972	83
New Zealand (3)	1972	90
Great Britain	1970	71
Ireland	1973	75

(1) Compulsory voting
(2) Assembly elections
(3) Compulsory registration

Some advocates of postcard registration see it as a panacea. This is hardly likely. Millions of American voters in 1972, for example, didn't like the choice between Richard Nixon and George McGovern and simply stayed home. The more exciting the contest, the more people who vote. But the difficulties of local registration also are a big factor. These increased markedly around 1900 when strict new safeguards swept the states, directed largely against immigrants. The fall-off voter turnout after 1900 tells the story.

AN AMERICAN VOTER in some areas may have to fulfill three requirements: Reside in the state for six months to a year; in the county for 30 days to six months, and in the precinct from 10 to 30 days. This is tough on mobile America where the Census Bureau says 20 million people (10 percent of population) move from one state to another every year, and where, on the average, each family moves every four years.

A majority of senators appear to favor the easy-to-register bill, but they have been blocked by the parliamentary tactics of their opponents.

Judge Refuses Spurious Defense

Your ambassadors to Hawaii, the Terra Linda High School choir and orchestra, were most successful in their mission. We had the privilege of hosting them for two assemblies in our school last week and found their enthusiasm and talent heartwarming and contagious. Thank you for sharing these wonderful young people with us. They were a great boost to our growing music program and a delicious treat musically and visually. They are young people of whom you can be justifiably proud.

Advocates Agriculture In San Anselmo

Your editorial on the defeat of San Anselmo's bond issue says "concern for the environment did not triumph." We hate to think the I-J believes that a dollar squeezed out of a hard-pressed taxpayer is the only way to show concern.

The "$500,000" bond issue would have cost San Anselmo property owners more than twice that amount and would have purchased only a small fraction of the 226 acres involved.

Over the years San Anselmo lost fine truck gardens and vineyards and dairy ranches to development. Might we not at this late date recover some of these amenities on prime A-1 agricultural land before it is removed by hasty buying from purposeful uses and the tax rolls forever?

As a result of the election, heightened public "concern for the environment" has been demonstrated. We have a challenge in San Anselmo. Perhaps we can set an example to other communities in Marin to use zoning tools that have been successfully initiated in other California communities to preserve buffer zones. We hope our courageous councilmen and citizens working together will do that.

Individual Funding Aids Jews For Jesus

I want to thank you for the eminently fair article which appeared on April 21 on "Jews for Jesus." I believe that it will clear up a great deal of misunderstanding and make for better community relations.

I have only one corective to make and that is with regard to our support. We are not funded by any Baptist organization, and while we receive some substantial support from the Beth Sar Shalom Hebrew-Christian Fellowship, for the most part we have been dependent on those in the community who share our beliefs and desire to contribute toward our statement.

Several churches in Marin County have been of help to us, but they are churches of all denominations from Episcopal to Evangelical Free. However, for the most part, we have been funded through individuals who believe in what we are doing and saying.

San Rafael Needs Full-Time Mayor

The results of the recent San Rafael municipal election are very gratifying to those of us who believe in the careful conservation of what is left of our beauty and the willingness to plan our future creatively and responsibly. It was especially good to see that San Rafael voters continue to refuse to allow the expenditure of $15,000 for "promotion" of the city. . .

Two years ago, in running for mayor of San Rafael, I suggested that with the increasing magnitude of problems facing us, and with the growing population, San Rafael could easily use a full-time mayor. It seems obvious that we are no longer a small town, and that with the increase in day-to-day city affairs it would be wise to elect someone full-time who is directly accountable to the people. No matter how good a job Mr. Bettini, or anyone else, is capable of doing, until we elect a full-time mayor the people of San Rafael will be losing the daily battle to save the city. When I made this proposal in 1971 I was told by Mr. Bettini and others that San Rafael could not afford a full-time mayor. It seems that we can afford a lot of other things, like free dinners for councilmen and $15,000 for "promotion" but can't spare anything out of a million-dollar budget for the hiring of a "real" mayor. It is not sufficient that we have a city manager, because he is not directly elected by the voters. . .

Detente With Red Powers Fails To Accomplish Purpose

All of us are now deeply into the Nixon-Kissinger world of "detente," but it isn't producing as fast as expected the one thing Washington hoped most to get out of it. The war in Southeast Asia goes on and the United States still is mired in it.

We are several weeks now from the launching of a White House effort to use the machinery of this new Nixon-Kissinger world to help bring an end to the war, but it isn't working. Mr. Nixon used his new relations with both Russians and Chinese to bring pressure to bear on the North Vietnamese to cease and desist from their various efforts to win the victory which has so far escaped them.

THEIR EFFORTS TO WIN since the cease-fire went into effect in late January have included:

(1) Steady consolidation of their military positions in and around South Vietnam.

(2) An aggressive rather than a passive military posture in Laos.

(3) Continued refusal to do anything about a cease-fire in Cambodia where the local Khmer Rouge have a siegeline around Phnom Penh.

For these three problems Mr. Nixon has tried three answers:

(1) He has bombed.

(2) He has withdrawn his mine removal ships from North Vietnamese waters.

(3) He has sent his messages to Messers Chou En-Lai in Peking and Brezhnev in Moscow seeking their "good offices" in Hanoi.

We have no reason to doubt that Mr. Chou and Mr. Brezhnev both have, as they have done before, given an opinion in Hanoi that it would be best for all concerned if the men of Hanoi would be satisfied, at least for the immediate future, with what they hold now in Indochina.

ALL OF THIS IS TIED in with prospective American trade and economic and technological aid to both China and Russia. Mr. Nixon again is putting pressure on Congress to get on with his trade bill proposals which would allow him to extend credits to Russia for purchase of American goods.

And there still is the prospect, which Washington keeps dangling before Hanoi eyes, of direct American reconstruction aid if only they will rein in their soldiers in the south and stop trying to win the war.

The Paris meetings to discuss this aid now are being suspended by the United States, according to a Reuter's report quoting the North Vietnamese delegation.

And, just perhaps, there is some attention being paid in Hanoi. Latest reports indicate that a division, or perhaps two, of North Vietnam regular forces have been pulled just north of the DMZ of recent days. This could be a matter merely of going into rainy season quarters for rest and recruitment. They could go back as soon as the winter fighting season began.

But other than this tentative instance of withdrawal the North Vietnamese troops and military leadership still seem to be on the attack, or at least keeping up positive pressure. And this in turn means that Mr. Nixon does not yet have the complete extrication of American armed forces from Indochina, which most of his countrymen thought would follow from the cease-fire and which ne needs as a diplomatic success to balance off his inflation and Watergate problems at home.

BUT WHAT IS THE DETENTE worth to Mr. Nixon?

The one thing he wanted most out of it was to get untangled from Vietnam. After all, it was the search for a way out of Vietnam which took him to Peking and set his feet on the road to more trade with the Russians. He always has wanted and expected to get free of Vietnam in the process. And he isn't free.

The lesson may well be that detente does seem to reduce the danger of great power war and it certainly does reduce the awareness of great power tension. But can it settle local issues between such places as North and South Vietnam?

Hanoi always wanted to conquer Saigon for its own reasons, not for Peking or Moscow. The change of view in Peking and Moscow about the matter does not reduce in the slightest the desire of Hanoi to become the master of all of Indochina.

The summer schedule of the great powers calls for all sorts of conferences. It will be a busy season for diplomats.

Mr. Brezhnev will be visiting Bonn, then Washington. There will be a big conference (European Security) in Helsinki. SALT II is ambling along. Towards the autumn there should be talks on "mutual and balanced force reductions" in another conference somewhere in Europe.

But all of this busy traffic among great power diplomats is helpless to get Washington out of Indochina, or to solve the tensions of the Middle East.

STROUT IN WASHINGTON

Shame Of United States: Citizens Who Fail To Vote

By RICHARD L. STROUT

WASHINGTON —For purposes of comparison I have taken the voter turnout at United States presidential elections at approximately 20-year intervals, 1840 to 1900 inclusive, and a similar sampling in the years after 1900. The difference is stunning.

Sample U.S. voter turnout for 60 years prior to 1900 presidential elections:

1840	80.2 percent
1860	81.2 percent
1880	79.4 percent
1900	73.2 percent

1920	49.2 percent
1940	62.9 percent
1960	64 percent
1972	55.6 percent

(Source: Library of Congress)

ONLY ONCE between 1840 and 1900 did voter turnout go below 70 percent, and last year 68 million eligible citizens didn't vote. Are modern Americans less interested in the process of democracy than in the past century? Is it apathy, or something else?

The Senate has been trying to get a chance to vote on a bill setting up a new system of registration — postcard registration. This would provide uniform nationwide registration in federal elections, and it would acknowledge the government's interest in getting voters listed. In the Senate some opponents of the measure, mostly Republicans and southern conservatives, have used delaying tactics to block a vote.

The U.S. virtually is alone among the democracies in accepting a passive role by government in registration. In Canada, for example, the government has an elaborate system of registering voters and conducts a door-to-door canvassing in urban polling subdivisions. It costs approximately 69 cents a voter — or $7.5 million. Canada thinks it's a good investment. Proportional cost in the U.S. — $75 million.

COMPARE THE VOTER percentage in the United States with that of Canada and certain other democracies:

Country	Year	Percent turnout
Australia (1)	1972	97
Canada	1972	74
France (2)	1973	82
W. Germany	1972	91
Italy (1)	1972	93
Netherlands (1)	1972	83
New Zealand (3)	1972	90
Great Britain	1970	71
Ireland	1973	75

(1) Compulsory voting
(2) Assembly elections
(3) Compulsory registration

Some advocates of postcard registration see it as a panacea. This is hardly likely. Millions of American voters in 1972, for example, didn't like the choice between Richard Nixon and George McGovern and simply stayed home. The more exciting the contest, the more people who vote. But the difficulties of local registration also are a big factor. These increased markedly around 1900 when strict new safeguards swept the states, directed largely against immigrants. The fall-off voter turnout after 1900 tells the story.

AN AMERICAN VOTER in some areas may have to fulfill three requirements: Reside in the state for six months to a year; in the county for 30 days to six months, and in the precinct from 10 to 30 days. This is tough on mobile America where the Census Bureau says 20 million people (10 percent of population) move from one state to another every year, and where, on the average, each family moves every four years.

A majority of senators appear to favor the easy-to-register bill, but they have been blocked by the parliamentary tactics of their opponents.

Sinking Of SS Watergate: Skipper On The Stand

WASHINGTON — The Naval Court of Inquiry into the sinking of the SS Watergate was held in executive session here last week.

On the stand was Capt. Richard M. Nixon, who commanded the ship at the time it went down.

Here is a partial transcript of the hearings which do not violate national security:

"CAPTAIN NIXON, the SS Watergate sprang a leak on the morning of June 17, 1972. What did you do about it at the time?"

"I didn't think much of it. I was told by my executive officer that seven men had been fooling around in the shower room and the nozzle broke off."

"Did you order an investigation of the incident?"

"Yes, I did, and it was the most thorough investigation ever held on the high seas. I told my officers I wanted to know if anyone on my staff had anything to do with the leak. They reported back to me categorically that no one in the crew except for the seven men was involved in the incident. I accepted this as fact."

"DID YOU TRY to repair the damage at the time?"

"There was nothing to repair as far as I was concerned. The seven men were court-martialed and that was the end of it."

"But isn't it true that during the court-martial of the seven, there were hints that other people were involved in the leak?"

"It was only hearsay. A captain has many enemies on a ship, and I was not about to put credence in a lot of gossip and rumor."

"Now, Captain Nixon, since the leak was not repaired, the lower compartments of the ship began to flood. Didn't you feel at that time you should take some action?"

"I sent my people down to inspect the damage and they said the ship was completely dry below decks."

"YOU DIDN'T GO down to inspect the damage yourself?"

"I had to stay on the bridge. It is a mistake for a captain to know too much about what is going on in the crew's quarters. Besides, I had great faith in my officers and their ability to judge whether the ship was in jeopardy or not."

"Is it true that your communications officer, Lt. Ronald Ziegler, kept announcing over the loudspeaker that there was nothing wrong with the ship?"

"Yes, he did it on my orders."

"Not to my knowledge. We were getting continual reports from our legal officer, Lt. John Dean III, and he assured us that we were safe and our crew was clean."

"BUT DIDN'T YOU get suspicious when the water rose to the main deck?"

"I didn't like it, but I didn't consider it my problem. I've been in storms before, six to be exact, and I've always been able to weather them. Besides, my staff told me not to pay any attention because the ship was built to withstand any kind of pressure."

"When did you decide that you were really in danger?"

"On March 21, 1973, I received some startling information from my officers that the leak did not come from a shower, but that we had really hit an iceberg."

"Then you decided to take action?"

"Yes, I went on the loudspeaker myself and said that anyone responsible for hitting the iceberg would be immediately removed from the crew."

"AND WHEN DID YOU decide to abandon ship?"

"When the water got up to my hips and I noticed all my officers starting to take to the lifeboats."

"How did you feel about losing so many of your crew?"

"I felt bad about it, but by that time it was every man for himself."

1970 COUNT

Census Misses 5.3 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Census Bureau admitted yesterday it missed counting about 5.3 million Americans in its 1970 population survey, partially because of difficulty in getting census takers to work in high-crime city areas.

"The 1970 census was probably the best ever taken and ... like its predecessors, was imperfect," Robert L. Hagan, acting census director, told reporters.

Hagan said better counting techniques helped lower the error rate to about 2.5 per cent in the 1970 census.

But changing social conditions offset the technical improvements and made census-taking more difficult in 1970, Hagan said.

"These conditions included increased resistance because of changing life styles in the country, more alienation and distrust of authority ... more organized attempts to protest the census."

In addition, Hagan said, "it was more difficult for our census takers, even though they were local residents, to work in cities, particularly inner-cities."

Even though the bureau now thinks it knows how many persons it missed, the official 1970 population total will not be revised since the bureau is legally allowed to report only persons who are actually counted. The 1970 total was 203.4 million U.S. residents. When military personnel and their dependents plus citizens living abroad were included, the total came to 204.6 million.

About two-thirds of those missed in the 1970 census were males and about two-thirds were white, the bureau said. However, the miss-rate for blacks, 7.7 per cent, was much higher than for whites, 1.9 per cent. Blacks compose about 10 per cent of the U.S. population.

Census figures are used to determine how congressional and state legislative districts will be drawn. In addition, they are a key factor in parceling out federal revenue sharing money to state and local governments.

The bureau, however, said it was not feasible to attempt to break down the error rate by states, counties and cities, even though the proportion of uncounted citizens probably was highest in cities with large minority populations.

Hitler Biographer Sounds Alarming Note

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If Nazi Germany had developed an atomic capability during World War II, Adolf Hitler would not have hesistated to drop atom bombs on the allies, his biographer said yesterday.

"Hitler, was extremely intelligent," author Robert Payne said. "But he was intelligent in a cold and cunning way —like a chess player."

Payne wrote "The Life and Death of Adolf Hitler," just published by Praeger Publishers of New York and Washington.

"Hitler was making massacre. He was not making war," Payne said. "His lack of humanity is terrifying."

The wars since World War II have not been so dangerous because there is a "tacit agreement" not to use nuclear weapons, Payne said.

"I don't think anyone has signed any papers saying the atomic bomb would not be used," he said. "But I do believe there is an unwritten agreement not to use them."

"If Hitler had had the atomic bomb he would have dropped it immediately," the biographer said. "And that includes a situation where he knew the other side had the same weapon and was prepared to use it also."

"Hitler was a gambler. We know that he had no compunction about using V-bombs with enormous warheads which would have laid waste the whole of England.

"In fact if the war had not ended when it did, he would have. The kinks were just about out of the system and he was ready to devastate Great Britain," Payne said.

Payne previously wrote biographies of Lenin, Stalin, Mao and Ghandi under a program he laid out for himself to treat the men who had "dominated the world."

"I knew that sooner or later I would have to face doing this monster — Adolf Hitler," he said.

Protection Bill For Journalists

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to limit jail sentences to 30 days for news reporters who refuse to disclose their sources during courtroom proceedings was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park.

Karabian, who earlier introduced a bill designed to protect the rights of reporters, said the latest measure would benefit journalists sent to jail for indefinite periods of time until the talk.

"I think the prime example of what my bill would do concerns the case of Los Angeles Times reporter William Farr," Karabian said.

Farr was sentenced to an indefinite period in jail when he refused to disclose the source of a story he wrote on the Tate-LaBianca murder trial.

"The judge had sentenced Farr to jail until Farr decided to talk. I think this is an unreasonable use off judicial power and my proposed legislation would modify this situation", Karabian said.

"Our free and democratic society is based on freedom of the press and I Sincerely believe that when this most important and precious American right is taken away or threatened, they very foundations of our freedoms become endangered," Karabian said.

Environment Conference Scheduled

A conference on Marin's environment will be held May 19 at College of Marin's Olney Hall, sponsored by a variety of the county's civic groups.

Carol Staley of Corte Madera, chairman of the conference's steering committee, said the session, called "Pro-Total Environment Marin," is an attempt to present a range of viewpoints on the environmental and social aspects of planning and community development.

Groups sponsoring the gathering include Central and Southern Marin Leagues of Women Voters, Marin Alternative, the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, Marin Conservation League, People for Parks and Open Space, the Ecumenical Association for Housing Association, Marin County Housing Authority, and the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All.

The conference begins at 9 a.m., and morning speakers include architect Ellis Kaplan, landscape architect Lawrence Halprin; and a panel discussion on the "practical applications of using density and saving open space." The moderator will be Jack Nixon, chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission. Panelists will be Robert Marquis, architect and planner; Claude Gruen, economist, and Huey D. Johnson, conservationist and director of the Trust for Public Land.

General sessions in the afternoon will be led by Margaret Azevedo, Marin County planning commissioner. The conference ends at 3:30 p.m.

Slope Law Asked In Larkspur

The Larkspur Planning Commission has instructed city planning staff to draft an ordinance controlling construction of residential properties on sloping terrain.

Planning director John Roberto said that at its meeting Tuesday night, the commission described the city's old slope policy ordinance, which only applied to R-1 single family housing construction, as hopelessly obsolete.

The new policy will cover all Larkspur's land which has a more than 10 per cent slope, and require larger lot sizes in relation to grade.

In other action, the commission indicated it wouldn't give planning approval for a veterinary clinic to be included in the Sohner Plaza complex, which is in the administrative and professional zoning. The group heard such a clinic might be suggested.

Roberto said the commission gave Oakley Dexter a variance to allow parking on Rice Lane near his proposed office at 25 East Ward Avenue.

Death Penalty Bill Approved

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — The Oklahoma Senate approved a mandatory death penalty for convicted murderers Wednesday night. An amendment to permit live television coverage of executions was narrowly defeated.

The senate voted 38-4 to execute all persons convicted of premeditated murder.

$30,732 Is Proposed In Fairfax Park Budget

Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe has proposed a parks and recreation budget of $30,732 for 1973-74, down $9,338 from this year's $40,070 spending program.

Proposed by Crowe are a parks allocation of $20,752, down from this year's $21,514 parks budget, and a recreation allocation of $9,980, down from this year's $18,556 recreation budget.

Taking the biggest axing in the recreation budget are proposals for a $5,058 allocation for temporary and part-time employee salaries, down from this year's $10,700 salary allocation, and proposals to cut recreation "outside contracts" and "other expenses" by about $1,000 each over this year.

Allocations proposed by Crowe for the parks department, with this year's allocation in parenthesis, are salary and wages, $13,142 ($14,510); materials and supplies, $7,185 ($6,854) and capital outlay, $425 ($150).

Crowe lists proposed allocations for the parks department as $5,058 in salaries and $4,922 in materials and supplies, down from this year's $7,856 materials allocation.

The parks and recreation commission will consider the budget at 7:30 p.m. May 9 in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Meat Substitute Out Of Peanuts

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — A Clemson University food scientist has developed a peanut flake for use as a meat substitute, it was announced Wednesday.

Dr. Luther P. Anderson, dean of the University Agricultural Sciences College, said the flake was patented last September after six to seven years of research by Dr. J. H. Mitchell Jr.

The flakes are white and bland-tasting with a protein content of 33 per cent. Oil containing polyunsaturated fatty acid makes up 45 per cent of the content, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals constitute 12 per cent and the rest is moisture.

Sinking Of SS Watergate: Skipper On The Stand

WASHINGTON — The Naval Court of Inquiry into the sinking of the SS Watergate was, held in executive session here last week.

On the stand was Capt. Richard M. Nixon, who commanded the ship at the time it went down.

Here is a partial transcript of the hearings which do not violate national security:

"CAPTAIN NIXON, the SS Watergate sprang a leak on the morning of June 17, 1972. What did you do about it at the time?"

"I didn't think much of it. I was told by my executive officer that seven men had been fooling around in the shower room and the nozzle broke off."

"Did you order an investigation of the incident?"

"Yes, I did, and it was the most thorough investigation ever held on the high seas. I told my officers I wanted to know if anyone on my staff had anything to do with the leak. They reported back to me categorically that no one in the crew except for the seven men was involved in the incident. I accepted this as fact."

"DID YOU TRY to repair the damage at the time?"

"There was nothing to repair as far as I was concerned. The seven men were court-martialed and that was the end of it."

"But isn't it true that during the court-martial of the seven, there were hints that other people were involved in the leak?"

"It was only hearsay. A captain has many enemies on a ship, and I was not about to put credence in a lot of gossip and rumor."

"Now, Captain Nixon, since the leak was not repaired, the lower compartments of the ship began to flood. Didn't you feel at that time you should take some action?"

"I sent my people down to inspect the damage and they said the ship was completely dry below decks."

"YOU DIDN'T GO down to inspect the damage yourself?"

"I had to stay on the bridge. It is a mistake for a captain to know too much about what is going on in the crew's quarters. Besides, I had great faith in my officers and their ability to judge whether the ship was in jeopardy or not."

"Is it true that your communications officer, Lt. Ronald Ziegler, kept announcing over the loudspeaker that there was nothing wrong with the ship?"

"Yes, he did it on my orders."

"Then Lieutenant Ziegler hadn't gone below to inspect the damage either?"

"Not to my knowledge. We were getting continual reports from our legal officer, Lt. John Dean III, and he assured us that we were safe and our crew was clean."

"BUT DIDN'T YOU get suspicious when the water rose to the main deck?"

"I didn't like it, but I didn't consider it my problem. I've been in storms before, six to be exact, and I've always been able to weather them. Besides, my staff told me not to pay any attention because the ship was built to withstand any kind of pressure."

"When did you decide that you were really in danger?"

"On March 21, 1973, I received some startling information from my officers that the leak did not come from a shower, but that we had really hit an iceberg."

"Then you decided to take action?"

"Yes, I went on the loudspeaker myself and said that anyone responsible for hitting the iceberg would be immediately removed from the crew."

"AND WHEN DID YOU decide to abandon ship?"

"When the water got up to my hips and I noticed all my officers starting to take to the lifeboats."

"How did you feel about losing so many of your crew?"

"I felt bad about it, but by that time it was every man for himself."

1970 COUNT

Census Misses 5.3 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Census Bureau admitted yesterday it missed counting about 5.3 million Americans in its 1970 population survey, partially because of difficulty in getting census takers to work in high-crime city areas.

"The 1970 census was probably the best ever taken and ... like its predecessors, was imperfect," Robert L. Hagan, acting census director, told reporters.

Hagan said better counting techniques helped lower the error rate to about 2.5 per cent in the 1970 census.

But changing social conditions offset the technical improvements and made census-taking more difficult in 1970, Hagan said.

"These conditions included increased resistance because of changing life styles in the country, more alienation and distrust of authority ... more organized attempts to protest the census."

In addition, Hagan said, "it was more difficult for our census takers, even though they were local residents, to work in cities, particularly inner-cities."

Even though the bureau now thinks it knows how many persons it missed, the official 1970 population total will not be revised since the bureau is legally allowed to report only persons who are actually counted. The 1970 total was 203.4 million U.S. residents. When military personnel and their dependents plus citizens living abroad were included, the total came to 204.6 million.

About two-thirds of those missed in the 1970 census were males and about two-thirds were white, the bureau said. However, the miss-rate for blacks, 7.7 per cent, was much higher than for whites, 1.9 per cent. Blacks compose about 10 per cent of the U.S. population.

Census figures are used to determine how congressional and state legislative districts will be drawn. In addition, they are a key factor in parceling out federal revenue sharing money to state and local governments.

The bureau, however, said it was not feasible to attempt to break down the error rate by states, counties and cities, even though the proportion of uncounted citizens probably was highest in cities with large minority populations.

Hitler Biographer Sounds Alarming Note

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If Nazi Germany had developed an atomic capability during World War II, Adolf Hitler would not have hesistated to drop atom bombs on the allies, his biographer said yesterday.

"Hitler, was extremely intelligent," author Robert Payne said. "But he was intelligent in a cold and cunning way —like a chess player."

Payne wrote "The Life and Death of Adolf Hitler," just published by Praeger Publishers of New York and Washington.

"Hitler was making massacre. He was not making war," Payne said. "His lack of humanity is terrifying."

The wars since World War II have not been so dangerous because there is a "tacit agreement" not to use nuclear weapons, Payne said.

"I don't think anyone has signed any papers saying the atomic bomb would not be used," he said. "But I do believe there is an unwritten agreement not to use them."

"If Hitler had had the atomic bomb he would have dropped it immediately," the biographer said. "And that includes a situation where he knew the other side had the same weapon and was prepared to use it also."

"Hitler was a gambler. We know that he had no compunction about using V-bombs with enormous warheads which would have laid waste the whole of England.

"In fact if the war had not ended when it did, he would have. The kinks were just about out of the system and he was ready to devastate Great Britain," Payne said.

Payne previously wrote biographies of Lenin, Stalin, Mao and Ghandi under a program he laid out for himself to treat the men who had "dominated the world."

"I knew that sooner or later I would have to face doing this monster — Adolf Hitler," he said.

Protection Bill For Journalists

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation to limit jail sentences to 30 days for news reporters who refuse to disclose their sources during courtroom proceedings was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park.

Karabian, who earlier introduced a bill designed to protect the rights of reporters, said the latest measure would benefit journalists sent to jail for indefinite periods of time until the talk.

"I think the prime example of what my bill would do concerns the case of Los Angeles Times reporter William Farr," Karabian said.

Farr was sentenced to an indefinite period in jail when he refused to disclose the source of a story he wrote on the Tate-LaBianca murder trial.

"The judge had sentenced Farr to jail until Farr decided to talk. I think this is an unreasonable use off judicial power and my proposed legislation would modify this situation", Karabian said.

Farr was held 46 days from Nov. 27 until a U.S. Supreme Court order freed him while the court considered his latest appeal.

"Our free and democratic society is based on freedom of the press and I Sincerely believe that when this most important and precious American right is taken away or threatened, they very foundations of our freedoms become endangered," Karabian said.

Guilty Cadets

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Two more cadets at the U.S. Military Academy have been found guilty of cheating in their studies, the academy said Wednesday. That brought to 11 the number of cadets involved in West Point's latest cheating scandal.

Environment Conference Scheduled

A conference on Marin's environment will be held May 19 at College of Marin's Olney Hall, sponsored by a variety of the county's civic groups.

Carol Staley of Corte Madera, chairman of the conference's steering committee, said the session, called "Pro-Total Environment Marin," is an attempt to present a range of viewpoints on the environmental and social aspects of planning and community development.

Groups sponsoring the gathering include Central and Southern Marin Leagues of Women Voters, Marin Alternative, the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, Marin Conservation League, People for Parks and Open Space, the Ecumenical Association for Housing Association, Marin County Housing Authority, and the Committee for Adequate Shelter for All.

The conference begins at 9 a.m., and morning speakers include architect Ellis Kaplan, landscape architect Lawrence Halprin; and a panel discussion on the "practical applications of using density and saving open space." The moderator will be Jack Nixon, chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission. Panelists will be Robert Marquis, architect and planner; Claude Gruen, economist, and Huey D. Johnson, conservationist and director of the Trust for Public Land.

General sessions in the afternoon will be led by Margaret Azevedo, Marin County planning commissioner. The conference ends at 3:30 p.m.

Slope Law Asked In Larkspur

The Larkspur Planning Commission has instructed city planning staff to draft an ordinance controlling construction of residential properties on sloping terrain.

Planning director John Roberto said that at its meeting Tuesday night, the commission described the city's old slope policy ordinance, which only applied to R-1 single family housing construction, as hopelessly obsolete.

The new policy will cover all Larkspur's land which has a more than 10 per cent slope, and require larger lot sizes in relation to grade.

In other action, the commission indicated it wouldn't give planning approval for a veterinary clinic to be included in the Sohner Plaza complex, which is in the administrative and professional zoning. The group heard such a clinic might be suggested.

Roberto said the commission gave Oakley Dexter a variance to allow parking on Rice Lane near his proposed office at 25 East Ward Avenue.

$30,732 Is Proposed In Fairfax Park Budget

Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe has proposed a parks and recreation budget of $30,732 for 1973-74, down $9,338 from this year's $40,070 spending program.

Proposed by Crowe are a parks allocation of $20,752, down from this year's $21,514 parks budget, and a recreation allocation of $9,980, down from this year's $18,556 recreation budget.

Taking the biggest axing in the recreation budget are proposals for a $5,058 allocation for temporary and part-time employee salaries, down from this year's $10,700 salary allocation, and proposals to cut recreation "outside contracts" and "other expenses" by about $1,000 each over this year.

Allocations proposed by Crowe for the parks department, with this year's allocation in parenthesis, are salary and wages, $13,142 ($14,510); materials and supplies, $7,185 ($6,854) and capital outlay, $425 ($150).

Crowe lists proposed allocations for the parks department as $5,058 in salaries and $4,922 in materials and supplies, down from this year's $7,856 materials allocation.

The parks and recreation commission will consider the budget at 7:30 p.m. May 9 in the Fairfax Women's Club.
